The right sort of dip is one that should destroy all insects or parasites and should have a healing and tonic effect on the skin without any possibility of injury.

UNCLE SAM'S FAMILY GROWS

NUMEROUS RESIDENTS TAKEN INTO CITIZENSHIP.

Patriotic Question Put Before Each Applicant.

Uncle Sam has six more subjects as the consequence of an impressive proceeding at the court house today when a group of citizens, many of whom have lived in La Grande for almost a life time, were admitted as citizens. Until the full citizenship law passed they had the right of vote but since then have been denied it, and that law was largely responsible for bringing several well known businessmen into full citizenship today. A list of stipulated questions was asked concerning non-allegiance of anarchy, assassin gangs, and other law-violating organizations or bodies. Witnesses told of the good character and general activities of the applicants for citizenship during a period of years.

The flag which was recently presented to the court here with inspiring ceremonies by Daughters of the Revolution was used when County Clerk Ed Wright administered the final oath of allegiance to the United States to each.

A portion of the applicants were not finally disposed of until this afternoon.

Among those who have applied for and were today given their right to vote in this state, were:

Two Applicants Denied.
Celeste Noscendini, native of Austria, now lives at Elgin; John and W. D. Mitchell, natives of Canada, living at Cove; John Niederer, native of Switzerland, now living at Elgin; Fred Synhorst, native of Holland, now living at La Grande; Oscar Lund, native of Sweden, now living at Cove.

Fred Hoffman and Christian Hildebrandt didn't take out their first paper prior to seven years' residence in this county after their arrival, and were denied their citizenships. A second reason was the witnesses did not know them well enough.

The case of Fred Johnson was continued until tomorrow.

Brussels Overrun With Spies

Maastricht, June 12.—Russia at its worst or Constantinople under Abdul Hamid never have been so overrun with spies as Brussels is at the present time.

Everlasting espionage has made life a burden for the Belgians and nowhere in the country are conditions so terrible as in the capital, according to reliable information smuggled across the frontier, despite all the vigilance of the kaiser's secret agents.

The spies are declared to be well paid—but only according to results. They do not draw regular salaries, but get their rewards on the strength of their reports' volume and supposed value.

Consequently, if they have no genuine formation to turn in to their superiors, it is charged that they manufacture it. To be accused by them means arrest and much difficulty at the best. It is more likely to mean prolonged imprisonment.

It may mean a firing squad. A reign of terror has resulted. Nobody feels safe, even in the privacy of his own home. The people live in a constant state of nervous dread. A tap on the shoulder, prison and perhaps, death may come at any instant.

In Brussels alone it is declared are 1,500 spies. How busy they are is proved by the extravagant style in which they live.

Whenever funds run short fresh victims must be found.

Women are numerous among the secret agents. They may be found all up and down the social scale, from the relative of Gen. von Bissing, who took advantage of her position to keep an eye on the most fashionable functions in the most exclusive residences, down to the humblest seamstress or domestic servant.

There are officers' and professors' wives, who keep watch in middle class circles.

There are the demimondaines, who send in reports from the theaters, restaurants and boulevards.

There are men formerly prominent in business, of which now, practically there is none, who use their former connections and acquaintance to keep the German authorities posted concerning doings in financial and industrial circles.

Even the most ordinary working man is carefully watched.

A case is reported from the Rue de Plandre in Brussels, where the driver of a brewery wagon and his assistant were arrested because, after they had unloaded a heavy barrel of beer, one of the remarked:

"The kaiser himself could not have done it so neatly."

Woman District Attorney Makes Good

San Francisco, June 12.—Mrs. Annette Adams, whose appointment as assistant United States Attorney caused excitement in officialdom in Washington and San Francisco, has made good. While here on a visit, Federal Judge Bledsoe of Los Angeles went out of his way to pay his respects to the federal prosecutor and tell her he was sorry he had opposed her appointment. "I've got to take off my hat to you," said Judge Bledsoe. "You have made good, and never again will I refuse to endorse a woman in any capacity." During the bomb plot sensation in San Francisco Mrs. Adams worked all night and prevented an important indictment from being quashed on account of technical errors. Mrs. Adams is distinctively feminine, not only in her personal mannerisms and attributes, but in her methods of procedure in the court room. Her personality gives the austere chambers a "homey" atmosphere. She presents her arguments quietly, but with great fidelity to the essentials.

During the absence of District Attorney Preston, Mrs. Adams directed the affairs of the office without a hitch. Her handling of the U. S. neutrality cases especially won admiration.

Ohio G. A. R. Holds Golden Jubilee

Marion, O., June 12.—National and state celebrities of the Civil war were here today for the Golden Jubilee encampment of the Ohio G. A. R.

Elias R. Monfort of Cincinnati, commander-in-chief of the National G. A. R., and S. P. Mount, Cleveland, the Ohio department commander, will deliver the principal address.

It is estimated that 5000 veterans and their families will attend. Public parks and private lawns have been converted into resting places for the veterans.

United States Senator Warren G. Harding, a resident of Marion, and Governor Frank E. Willis will be here.

Eastern Hardwoods in the West.

The Forest Service has recently compiled the results of experiments, made within the National Forests of Oregon and Washington, to determine whether or not it is possible to grow valuable eastern hardwoods in this region. Between 1909 and 1914 about 112,000 trees were planted by the Service and seeding on even a larger scale was tried. The results, which are not especially encouraging from the point of view of commercial growing, are on file in the Portland, Oregon, office.

The high value of some of the eastern hardwoods and the scarcity of hardwood timber in the Coast region, was an incentive to test, in the Northwest, such eastern hardwoods as red

Fordham University To Celebrate Diamond Jubilee

New York, June 12.—The Diamond Jubilee of Fordham University—the seventy-fifth anniversary of the establishment of this Catholic institution of learning—will be celebrated elaborately during the week beginning today.

Founded by Bishop Hughes, in 1841, and in a place that was then far in the country outside of New York, Fordham has grown from a tiny school to one of the biggest and best equipped universities in the land.

Fordham was begun as a result of the "Know Nothing" movement in the '30s, when that party agitated bitterly against Catholicism and insisted upon providing books for the public schools that were anti-Catholic. Bishop Hughes led the opposition to the "Know Nothings."

Originally known as St. John's College, it was formally opened by Bishop Hughes in June, 1841. The Rev. John McCloskey, who later became the first American Cardinal, was the first President, and associated with him were several men who attained distinction.

In 1846 Bishop Hughes learned that a Jesuit college in Kentucky was unable to make any headway. Wishing to place his college in the hands of some regular order devoted to educational work, Bishop Hughes wrote a letter to Kentucky, pointing out that New York was thickly populated and would give the Jesuits larger opportunities than the South afforded. As a result, the priests came to New York and were placed in charge of Fordham College, which has remained under the direction of the Jesuit fathers ever since.

The celebration will be participated in by church dignitaries from all parts of the country, and by distinguished men of all walks of life and all religions. Although primarily a Catholic college, Fordham is not sectarian and many distinguished men of other religions have been graduated here.

In connection with the diamond jubilee, the Fordham University Alumni Association is raising a fund of $75,000 intended still further to make known the merits of the place. Cardinal Farley, himself a graduate, is Chairman.

The campaign will be in charge of Father Joseph A. Mulry, the new president. Before coming to Fordham a month ago, Father Mulry had in Jersey City founded St. Peter's Club and built for it the largest Catholic club house in the country.

The names of the chairmen of leading committees connected with the celebration follow: Morgan J. O'Brien, Arthur J. McAlcennan, Henry Meide, Jr., Gen. James R. O'Beirne, Charles W. Sinnott, Joseph B. Uniacke, Dr. Cornelius F. Orben.

Dern a Calf.

Leon Levy has been undertaking to break a calf to lead in the stock show parade this week, and after vainly endeavoring to teach the animal to come along, has resolved that of all the stubborn brutes, a calf takes the lead. Levy's patience was tried severely and his Christian fortitude strained to the limit, and at the last accounts the calf was ahead.—Union Republican.

HILL LINERS TO HONOLULU

Winter Service of Big Craft to Be Resumed November 7

San Francisco, June 9.—So successful was the entrance into the Hawaiian trade of the liner Great Northern of the Northern Pacific company last year that the excursions of the big express steamer will be resumed again this season, according to an announcement made by the officials of the company this afternoon. The service between San Francisco and Honolulu will be resumed November 7, and sailings from here will follow every 20 days.

According to the officials the steamer for the first several sailings has already been booked almost full. The routing will follow that of last year, the liner going from here to San Pedro and then across to Hilo and Honolulu. From the latter port a direct run will be made on the return to San Francisco.

Instead of maintaining a four and a half day schedule between Diamond Head and the Golden Gate, the Great Northern will cut the time to four days flat.

PARADE ON THE STREETS.

Old Plan to Prevail, by Order of the Association.

It was at first thought that the stock show parade would be held on the grounds this year, but owing to the great amount of stock coming and the indications of a large crowd, the stock show management has thought the latter plan not feasible, and the parade will be held on the streets as formerly, says the Union Republican. This will please a large majority of the people, who will be given a better chance to see the display. Bear in mind that the stock show parade will be held on the streets as usual and in order to see it, it will be necessary to arrive in Union before noon.
