FALL GRAIN LOOKS FINE

IMBLER CROP REPORTS ARE ENCOURAGING

Area of Spring Wheat Limited on Account of High Water and Late Season.

Imbler, June 13.—(Special)—Mrs. Myrtle Larsen and her mother, Mrs. Clark are here from Monument, Ore., where Mrs. Larsen held a position as primary teacher during the last year. They intend spending a month with friends here and in Elgin and then going to Montana. Mrs. Larsen will return to Monument in September as the school board have re-elected her as primary teacher.

Summer is here. Even the hens realize it, a biddy on the A. F. Wilson farm, realizing that hot weather was upon us, selected the refrigerator as a proper place to lay, so as to have the eggs in cold storage.

John Wells has remodeled his ranch home by adding a room and veranda and plumbing the building for hot water, bath, etc. Mr. Wells is also planning to make use of the electric line which passes near his home.

John Wells, Jr., is in Portland for the Rose show. Later he will visit other points in western Oregon, including Monmouth, where his sister Mary is finishing a year's normal work. Miss Wells will teach at Red Pepper, her home school next year.

Carpenter work on the Hull property is nearly finished. Miss Edna Martin left Wednesday for Monmouth, where she will attend the normal during the summer, and probably the next year.

Fishing licenses are being taken out by local fly artists.

The fall wheat is growing rapidly and will soon be heading out. Some spring wheat sowing was delayed by rains and as a result the acreage is smaller. The recent high water flooded many fields in the river bottom section and entirely prevented their cultivation for any summer crops.

Local baseball fans witnessed their first shut-out game of the season when La Grande was defeated in a 15-0 game Sunday afternoon. The game was one-sided except in the second and third, Hendricks striking out three men during the two innings and Bell ditto. As the game proceeded and Imbler kept piling up scores the La Grangers seemed to lose confidence and the local boys pounded out two home runs and five three-baggers. La Grande shifted Hendricks in the seventh and tried out a new pitcher, but Bell had easy work, striking out 16 men, and the La Grande pitcher earning 10 strike outs. La Grande took her defeat good naturedly and throughout the entire game there was very little contention. Glenn umpired the batting and Anderson the bases. A number of errors were made by both teams and there was very little spectacular playing outside of the hits obtained by the Imbler boys. Very few men obtained bases on balls, but several men reached first by being hit by pitched balls, Larsen, of Imbler being knocked down by a ball coming in contact with his head and one La Grande man (Cook) was hit twice.

A local tennis tournament was pulled off on the Dr. Moore court Sunday morning. About fifteen players came out and several sets were played.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. Mr. Went-And-Cut-It -Here's Mr. 'Gets-It'

The New Plan Corn Cure That's as Sure as the Rising Sun.

"Glad to meet you!" says the razor to the corn. "I'll bleed for you!" says the corn to the razor. Razors and corns love each other. Corns love to be cut, picked, gouged, saved, plastered and perked out—they grow faster. Mr. and Mrs. Went-And-Cut-It realize it now—they use "Gets-It". Instead—it's the wonderful, simple corn-cure that never fails. Stops pain. Your apply it in 2 seconds. It dries at once, the corn is doomed. Nothing to stick to the stocking or press on the corn. It means good-night to plasters, salves, diggers, razors and toe-banding. You can wear smaller shoes. Your corns will come right off—clean as a whistle. Never inflames healthy flesh. The world's biggest selling corn cure. "Gets-It" is sold by druggists everywhere. For a bottle or sent direct by H. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in La Grande and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by C. D. Putman.

HUMAN VISION.

Farsight, Nearsight and Method in Testing the Eyes.

Farsight or nearsight—which is better? We must remember that he who has unusually acute vision for objects at a great distance can rarely thread a needle or read small print without glasses, while the person whose near vision is so acute as to serve him almost like a microscope sees distant objects as a blurred mass.

The Medical Record comments on "how little is known as to the extent of vision of the farsighted and still less of the nearsighted." We have two eyes in order that our vision may be stereoscopic, and it is thus that we are able to judge of the relative distances of objects, and it brings a greater field before the retina at one time, but the sight of two eyes is no keener than that of one. "Indeed, if there be required a greater intensity in a given field it is a natural tendency to obscure the vision of one eye." That is why most women close one eye when threading a fine needle and why men in firing a rifle at a target shut one eye.

The Medical Record doubts the value of uniform tests for eyesight, urging that tests be made in relation to definite occupations. For example, a very nearsighted man would be totally incapacitated from work in the field of transportation, yet admirably fitted for such work as engraving. A very farsighted man, on the other hand, who would be utterly useless as a proof-reader or a gem setter, might be a prize as a field surveyor, a forest ranger or even a locomotive engineer.

"Many misfits," says the Medical Record, "can be prevented by determining the kind of occupation the individual will be best fitted for. In the last analysis it should be the aim to educate the vision one has to greater powers by calling to aid all sources of orientation—to educate and train visual perception so that one may perceive more of the objects within the field of one's vision."

HIGHEST DAM IN THE WORLD.

Difficulties Overcome in Building the Arrowrock, in Idaho.

The dam is built in a narrow, precipitous canyon, through which the turbulent Boise river races. Its name is gained from a gigantic rock in that canyon, the Arrowrock, which had won its name from the custom of the roving Indians, who shot arrows into the face of it to tell their comrades which way they had traveled. By the angle of the arrow the late comers knew whether those in advance had gone up stream or down or up one of the many tributaries.

The construction of the dam commenced in 1911, although much preliminary and preparatory work had been done before that, the most important being that of diverting the river from the site of the dam while the building was in progress. This was done by cutting a tunnel through the canyon walls for 500 feet and turning the river through that. This tunnel was large enough to carry the river at its highest flood and was lined with cement. When the dam was finished the tunnel was plugged with solid cement.

In order to reach solid rock on which to anchor the dam foundation it was necessary to go down ninety-one feet below the normal bed of the river. No less than 225,000 cubic yards of soil and gravel were removed to lay bare this bedrock.

The dam as finished is 348 feet high, 240 feet thick at the base, tapering to sixteen feet at the top, where there is a fine driveway, lighted at night with artistic electric lamps. The length of the dam is 1,000 feet, curving gracefully upstream with a radius of 682 feet. In its construction 430,000 cubic yards of cement were used, sufficient to make a column ten feet square and twenty-seven miles high.—J. F. Stratton in St. Nicholas.

Official Ignorance.

One of the best of the many stories of English official ignorance of the colonies is recalled by P. A. Siburn in "The Governance of Empire." Lord Palmerston was forming a new ministry and in a preliminary council was arranging its composition. He had filled up all the portfolios with the exception of the colonial office. First one name and then another was suggested and thrown aside. At last he said to Sir Arthur Helps: "I suppose I must take the thing myself. Come upstairs with me and show me where these places are on the maps."

Where Gannets Swarm.

One of the most remarkable sights in the world is Bird Island, in South Africa, for the reason that during some months of the year it is literally covered with gannets. Not a foot of ground is to be seen anywhere. Day after day thousands of gannets strut around, and they are so close to each other that the whole island seems actually alive. Those who have seen this sight say that it is one which can never be forgotten.

Harboring Pain.

A Japanese proverb says, "When you take poison don't lick the plate." How much happier a place the world would be if that advice were taken! The principal reason the higher animals suffer less than man is that they do not think about their sufferings.—Harper's Weekly.

Frank Shadows.

One of the mountains in Ceylon has a remarkable shadow. Instead of lying on the ground, it appears to rise up like a veil in front of the observer. This is due to mist.

God divided man into men that they might help each other.—Seneca.
