ARCADE

Dustin Farnum in "David Garrick."

The good old days with their happy carefree views of life are admirably shown in the Pallas photoplay "David Garrick" released on the Paramount program and which will be shown at the Arcade on Friday and Saturday.

The big scene in the old Nag's Head tavern is wonderfully staged. In the spacious room are gathered many quaint types.

The poet with his parchment script, the sporting gentry with their gamecocks that soon are in deadly combat, the richly dressed gentleman of title, the prize fight enthusiasts in friendly bout, the gambling tables with the solemn players drinking from the leather drinking mugs, the now obsolete mannerisms, all are of interest as being true-to-life touches of by-gone days. This atmosphere frames a charming love story of the great Garrick.

Considering their utter dissatisfaction with Mr. Wilson's selections for the supreme court, it's a wonder the Republicans would force him to fill another vacancy.—Nashville Southern Lumberman.

Wilson is highly indignant with foreign interference with our choosing of a President. Now he can appreciate how Huerta felt.—Philadelphia North American.

A man in Washington is engaged in making a bust of President Wilson; and Mr. Hughes is getting together a whole organization with the same object in view.—Washington Herald.
