OREGON MINES HOLD FIRM

No changes of moment in the mining situation in Oregon are noted by Charles G. Yale, of the United States Geological Survey, for the first six months of 1916. The bullion receipts of the mint and smelters at San Francisco show that the output of gold has increased $107,000 and that of silver 14,000 ounces in the first five months of 1916 over the output of the corresponding period in 1915. The increase in gold is due entirely to dredging operations. The Powder River Gold Dredging Co., which in the first half of 1915 had but one dredge operating, near Sumpter, Baker County, has been working with two dredges during the first six months of 1916. With the exception of three deep mines, all in Baker County, this is the largest gold-mining enterprise in Oregon.

The properties of the Cougar Mining Co., near Sumpter, have been placed under lease and bond to the United Gold Mining Co. of Spokane, Wash. In addition to the 200-ton mill, tube mills and a cyanide plant are to be installed. The Queen of Bronze copper mine, which ships its ore from Waldo by team to Grants Pass and thence by rail to smelters at Kennett and Tacoma has been sold to men who intend to extend a railroad to Waldo. After years of idleness work has been resumed on the Iron Dyke mine at Copperfield, which is shipping ore to Colorado for reduction. The Black Eagle property, near Grants Pass, has been sold to men who are to erect a 50-ton mill.

There is notable activity in the hydraulic mining industry of the State, particularly in the counties along the northwest border of California. Many old properties have been reopened, and new ones have been put in shape for working.

The most productive deep mines in Oregon continue to be those of the Cornucopia Mines Co. and Baker Mines Co., in the Cornucopia district, Baker County; Commercial Mining Co., in the Mormon Creek district; Columbia Gold Mines Co., in the Cracker Creek district; Homestead Iron Dyke, in the Iron Dyke district; and Humboldt Consolidated Gold Mines, in Malheur county.

The largest producers among the placer mines are the Powder River Dredge Co., in the Cracker Creek district, Baker County; Columbia Mines placer, in the Placer district, Josephine County; Sterling hydraulic, in the Forest Creek district, Josephine county; and Layton, in the Applegate district, Jackson County. Baker continues to be the most productive county in the state, containing nearly all the larger mines.

Kennewick, Wash., July 7.—Steps have been taken by the city council to provide a suitable place for a camp for auto excursionists here. The Kennewick Auto club has asked that a grove near the Columbia river be set aside for the exclusive use of traveling autoists and this has been done. The grove is on the Inland Empire highway and on the Yellowstone trail just west of town. The New Plan Corn Cure That's as Sure as the Rising Sun. "Glad to meet you!" says the razor to the corn. "I'll bleed for you!" says the corn to the razor. Razors and corns love each other. Corns love to be cut, picked, gouged, salved, plastered and jerked out.—they grow faster, grow and Mrs. Went-and-Cut-It realize it now,—they use "Gets-It" instead—it's the wonderful, simple corn-cure that never fails. Stops pain. You apply it in 2 seconds, it dries at once, the corn is doomed. Nothing to stick to the stocking or press on the corn. It means good-night to plasters, salves, diggers, razors and toe-bundling. You can wear smaller shoes. Your corns will come right off. "Clean as a whistle." Never inflames healthy flesh. The world's biggest selling corn cure. "Gets-It" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct, by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill. Court Commissioner Westover committed her to the girls' school maintained at Grand Mound by the state, but the officers at the institution refused to receive her, claiming that they are already overcrowded. The local officials say they have no other recourse than to turn the delinquent loose, and will send no more girls there, as every girl sent from here has been denied admission.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is a sign you have been eating too much meat, which forms uric acid.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.
