SHEEPHERDER KILLS A MAN

Durkee Resident Dies Almost Instantly.

Trouble Breaks Early Yesterday Afternoon and Ends in Killing.

Durkee, July 11.—L. J. Eggers, a homesteader living seven miles from here between Durkee and Bye Valley, was shot and almost instantly killed near his home at 1 o'clock this afternoon by Bert Hopkins, a sheep herder in the employ of Amos Roethler. Terrified at his act, which he swears was not intentional, Hopkins immediately came to Durkee, bringing with him his camp outfit to await the coming of the officers from Baker. At the camp he left word with a fellow herder to watch the body until the arrival of the coroner.

According to Hopkins' story, he was herding near the Eggers' homestead, when Eggers appeared and ordered him away, although he declares that the sheep were on government range. He says Eggers seized him but that he wrenched himself free and retreated toward his sheep. Eggers following, pelting him with rocks and cursing him. Without taking aim, Hopkins says, he fired his rifle, intending only to cause Eggers to desist. As the crack of the gun sounded he was horrified to see Eggers stagger and topple to the ground. The bullet from the .35-35 had entered his chest supposedly piercing the heart.

Eggers was about 35 years of age and is survived by a wife and three children. His confessed slayer is but 24 years of age and has been in this vicinity for the last three months. He is apparently on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

Baker, July 11.—Word of the killing was received at the sheriff's office shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon and Deputy Sheriff Robert Nelson, in the absence of Sheriff R. P. Anderson, immediately set out for Durkee, accompanied by Constable John Jeffries and District Attorney C. T. Godwin. Coroner Earl F. West and F. H. Grabner followed late. A number of Baker Knights of Pythias who had planned to make the trip to Richland, to attend the district convention, were compelled to remain in the city, as the car of W. H. Ellis, engaged for the jaunt into Eagle valley, was commandeered by the authorities.

Cow Testing Incorporated

A meeting of the Washington County Cow Testing Association was held on the farm of W. T. Duxton, near Forest Grove, on June 21, for the purpose of considering the question of incorporating. Upon the request of William Schulerich, of Hillsboro, Dr. Hector Macpherson, of the O. A. C. Bureau of Organization and Markets, attended this meeting to assist in the work of making the organization more permanent. Dairymen are fully convinced of the great value of maintaining the cow testing association and believe in putting it into a convenient and permanent form. Hence, the idea of incorporation.

Pepsin Used For Rennet in Cheese Manufacture

A five per cent solution of scale pepsin in water, used at the rate of four ounces of solution to 1000 pounds of milk, has been found by experiments at the Oregon Agricultural College to be a substitute for the use of rennet in cheese making, forming a product that judges are unable to tell from the normal rennet curd.

This is said to be highly important to cheese manufacturers of Oregon. Leading manufacturers of rennet extract have been unable to secure the normal supply from Europe during the war, and the scale pepsin substitute may prove a satisfactory solution of the problem. Oregon cheese men are advised to try out this pepsin as a rennet substitute before the supply of rennet is entirely exhausted. The first pepsin cheese made at the College, May 31, has been sampled both during the makeup and up to the present time. No extensive investigations have been conducted as to the keeping qualities of the pepsin-made cheese.

Soluble pepsin scales were used. These were dissolved in water at the rate of one ounce of pepsin to one and a fourth pounds of water—Armour's U. S. P. scale pepsin, strength 1,200.0. The water must in no case be above 265 degrees F., the enzyme forming the coagulation is weakened and eventually destroyed. The solution must be made up fresh each day a few hours before use.

The solution was added in the same proportion as rennet, that is, 4 ounces of solution to 1000 pounds of milk. Comparing the strength of this solution with that of the rennet, the pepsin coagulated the sample in 47 seconds, the rennet in 50 seconds. The milk was set at 86 degrees F. and at 21 of one per cent acid. It was 24 minutes from the time of setting to cutting. The loss of fat in whey amounted to .26 to .32 of one per cent, the original milk testing 4.8 per cent fat. After setting, the process of handling the curd is exactly the same as when set with rennet extract.

In order to bring the rennet back to normal it is absolutely necessary that cheese makers throughout the country cooperate in every way with rennet manufacturers buying from farmers and local slaughter houses. Some leaders in this movement have gone so far as to suggest that rennet should be supplied only to those factories which in turn supply the manufacturer's rennet for extract making. This is for the good of all parties concerned.

Instructions have been prepared for making the stomachs of calves ready for shipment to rennet manufacturers. These instructions may be had by application to the dairy department of the agricultural college.

BY MARGARET MASON

Oh she is a rain dear
In oilsilk chapeau
And slick coat of oilsilk
From neck to her toe.

New York, July 7.—Ducks aren't the only creatures that love to take a promenade on rainy days. All the dear feminine creatures of the human race are just crazy about summer showers now that the swagger new rainy day sets of oilsilk coat and hat are for sale. No wonder, for they are awfully ducky too.

Each sweetheart, wife and mother finds she is a little rain dear in these slick new outfits, but alas, every husband and father finds the rain a little dear for him also.

He disagrees with the soothsayers who advise you to put a little away for a rainy day. Father finds it wiser to put away a lot against the coming of this 1916 rainy season.

These new transparent raincoats of brilliant hued oilsilk that look like sunglasses we had with us in limited quantities last season, but this summer they have burst forth in profusion and variety and are topped off with the most perky of little slouch hats to match.

These hats come in two models, one fashioned solely of the oilsilk with a stitched brim and a fold and pump bow of the same around the soft crown. The other is a little soft shaped affair of the oilsilk lined throughout with the same shade of taffeta that pulls down snug on the head and allows the floppy brim to turn up or down or every which way to suit your face or your fancy. A narrow band of the taffeta passing through oilsilk straps ties in an adjustable and fetching bow on the left side and thus regulates the headsize.

These desirable rainy day outfits that are as serviceable as they are charming come in all decorative colorings of vivid green, Mediterranean blue, amber, cerise, purple and white as well as sober black and grey—both pearl and Oxford.

When you once glimpse the new umbrellas you'll spend all your time praying for rain. They are chunky and stately and adorable and also dear.

They are called sun umbrellas and can be carried equally well in rain or shine but they really are more rainy looking.

They come in black, purple, green, red and blue and all have stocky little clubby handles with either a loop of braided leather like a cowhide whip to slip over your wrist or else they have stunning white ivory rings for the same purpose.

Those with the white bracelet effects have their little blunt stub ferules tipped with the white and also the ends of their ribs.

Others not quite so stubby but most attractive have handles of amber and tortoise and there are also some with handles of white capped in green or blue and some with handles of black and white stripes.

SHERRY'S

"Guarding Old Glory."
(At Sherry's Today Only)
Sweeps you along with it as the men dash forward into the trenches. It places you in the cooling tower of a submarine, pitching and plunging through the waves. It stands you in the shadow of the great guns of a battleship, wheeling about decks to pour out their volleys. It stirs you with the rush of excitement as a field battery gallops into action. Wonderful intimate touches that show you the soldier himself. It is the consecutive, concrete story of our national defense. All from official motion pictures.

Showing where officers and men for our garrisons and fleets come from. How they are trained. What they do in peace and war. How bombs are dropped from the sky. With what terrific force they explode. How mines are laid. What a broadside looks like fired from a fleet of dreadnaughts. The flash of guns, the glint of steel, the sweep and dash of soldiering.

All this is brought before your eyes in "Guarding Old Glory."
