inary plans formulated at Seattle, and this morning Dr. Richardson was in conversation with the Portland secretary over the telephone.

Action Begun Sunday.

It is not likely that in this county the quarantine will be established until after the Saturday meeting in Portland. In the meantime a joint conference is being held here between the city commission, the county court and the health officer with a view of clearing the decks for the quarantine. Stations will be instituted at such depots as named above, and should symptoms of infantile paralysis develop, the patient will be isolated to the most rigid degree. Children under 15, who come to this state either as a stop over proposition or on a visit or as permanent locaters, will, after the plans are shaped, be kept under the strictest sort of inspection to ward against unloading the dreaded epidemic in this state. Last evening the city commission and the health officer held a conference over the matter, it adjourning to meet with County Judge Phy today. The city and county are held responsible to meet the expense.

Health officers will meet every train except the fast mail from the east, and likely 18 which connects with eastern passengers via Spokane. Until the state conference is held in Portland Saturday it is not unlikely that the quarantine will become effective throughout Oregon, but state officials may order its effectiveness earlier than that date.

The first program toward which health officers in this section will work, has been promulgated by the state Board of Health, and the instructions to Dr. Richardson and others of this county include the following provisions:

1. The State Board of Health has ordered that quarantine quarters be established at every railroad depot in which incoming Eastern passengers may arrive.
2. The city and county health officers are ordered by the Board of Health to inspect all incoming passengers under fifteen years of age.
3. To keep a record of the children's names; date and point of departure and destination; all points of stopover and length of time of stopovers.
4. To keep a record of the temperature of each child under fifteen years of age.
5. Any child showing a rise of temperature or symptoms indicative of infantile paralysis to be immediately quarantined in the local quarantine quarters provided for the purpose. 6. To keep suspected children in quarantine until the temperature drops to normal and there is no evidence of infection with the virus of infantile paralysis.

7. To quarantine for thirty days if necessary to establish absolutely that the child is not infected.

8. The finding of any infections of infantile paralysis to be immediately telegraphed or telephoned to the State Board of Health.

Quarters available for quarantine are isolation wards of regularly established hospitals and isolation hospitals, or any quarters which may be rented for that purpose. There need be no particularly heavy expense incurred as convenient quarters may be easily secured such as above named.

May Isolate Northwest

Portland, July 12.—The Pacific coast states will be completely isolated from the rest of the country if it is necessary to prevent a spread of infantile paralysis, declared health officials of five states and British Columbia, who are arranging for a conference in Portland Saturday. Everybody suspected of carrying germs of the disease will be stopped at the eastern borders of Montana, Idaho and California. Health officers of each state and British Columbia have signified their intention of attending. Besides Federal officials will be here.

Millionaire Scions with Militia.

New York, July 12.—The flower of Gotham's aristocracy of wealth and society went to the border in Uncle Sam's khaki. The ranks of regiment after regiment of the New York division of the National Guard is more than liberally sprinkled with the scions of famous New York families. Among these scores of members of the metropolis' leading families are such familiar ones as Brigadier General George L. Dyer, of the First Brigade and a son of an ex-Governor of Rhode Island; Colonel Cornelius Vanderbilt of Company G, Twelfth regiment; Corporal Henry Bartlett Stimson, of Squadron A, son of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Henry A. Stimson and husband of the former Miss Isabella McBriney of Lake Forest, Ill.; Norman P. Ream, private in Squadron A and son of the late Norman B. Ream, from whom he inherited an enormous fortune and social position. There has for many years been the atmosphere of exclusive clubdom such as characterizes the society men's clubs in Manhattan, about Squadron A of Manhattan, Squadron C of Brooklyn, the first armored motor battery and several companies of the Twelfth, Seventh and Seventy-first regiments. Hasty recruiting when Uncle Sam called the militia to the border of course threw wide these exclusive ranks to all physically and mentally fit comers. Rufus J. Trimble, son of the late American Consul General at Milan, James M. Trimble, and prospective husband of Miss Verna Lee Rooney of Houston, Tex., belongs to Troop C, Brooklyn. In Troop B are: Trooper Peter Cooper Bryce, son of General Lloyd M. Bryce and great-grandson of Peter Cooper, Ewing R. Philbin, son of Justice and Mrs. Eugene A. Philbin; William Jay Schieffelin, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jay Schieffelin, great-grandson of the late William H. Vanderbilt; Cornelius Vanderbilt, and Cornelius W. Wickersham, a relative of George W. Wickersham, Troop C, Second Lieutenant Rodman Gilder, who married the daughter of Mr. Louis Tiffany, Troop D, Hugh D. Cotton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Cotton, who are well known artists here and in Paris.

Turner Man Indicted by Grand Jury.

Salem, Ore., July 11.—Two indictments charging Lee Jeans, of Turner, with assault with a dangerous weapon during a pitched battle between members of the band and members of the council of that town several months ago, were returned by the grand jury which completed its work Saturday afternoon. Jeans is charged with having stabbed both Robert Hunsaker and J. Kelly.

THE RETURN OF THE SHAMROCK.

They are poking fun at Patrick, And the place where Shamrocks grow But this is idle prattle, From those who do not know. The Britisher's move slowly, Pat is sure to see the time When there'll be grass for his jackass, In the valley of the Rhine.

They'll all be Irish coppers, On the streets of Old Berlin. And they'll make an awful swagger When they run those Germans in. They'll eat the Kaiser's Souer Kraut, And they'll drink the Kaiser's wine, And they'll raise their precious rock In the valley of the Rhine.

The Passing of the Shamrock. The Kaiser's cows are grazing Where the Shamrock used to grow. How long they'll pasture on the green There's no one seems to know. But if we judge the future by What's happened; don't you know There'll be no grass for Pat's Jack-ass, Where the Shamrock used to grow.

Oh, Johnny Bull, Oh, Johnny Bull, What are you going to do? You said that you would lick the Dutch, But still it's up to you. But unless you get a hustle on, There's one thing you should know They'll be raising plants for Sauer Kraut Where the Shamrock used to grow. —Selected.

Killed by Automobile

North Yakima, Wash., July 10.—William Spangler, aged about 60, a carpenter, was run over on Yakima avenue last evening by an automobile driven by Ernest Fear, president of the Yakima Improvement club, and died in the hospital this morning without regaining consciousness. Men who knew Spangler say he has been very deaf for years. Persons riding with Fear say he tooted his horn several times, and was almost on the man before he realized that Spangler was not going to get out of the way. Spangler was unmarried and his relatives are unknown. Lewis Lawson was severely bruised when thrown from his car last evening when another car, driven by Hiram Crum, ran into him. He was able to go from the hospital to his home this morning. There are no bones broken and there is no indication of serious internal difficulties.

APPEALS FOR AID COME.

State-Wide Assistance for Dependent Soldier Families Sought. La Grande is asked by Governor Withycombe to join the Oregon Patriotic league which has for its purpose the cooperation with local relief bodies in providing assistance for dependent families whose wage earners have answered the call of their country.

Secretary F. B. Currey of the Commercial association this morning received a letter from the governor asking him to urge local social, fraternal, religious and commercial organizations to join in the state-wide movement. He wishes that these societies at once appoint delegates to the league. Secretary Currey will present the matter to the Commercial association at its first meeting.

The governor points out that 1400 Oregon men have already left their homes and gone with the militia to the Mexican border, many of them leaving their families without adequate means of support. He conceives it to be the duty of the citizenship of the state to provide for these dependents and thinks a general organization can best direct the relief work to the end that there be no duplication.

County Seat Boosters at Culver.

Culver, Or., July 11.—The members of the Culver Commercial club held a meeting at the Opal Springs hotel here on Saturday night and discussed the coming fall election and the two initiative petitions which will be on the ballot to change the county seat of Jefferson county from this place to one of the other two railroad towns, Madras or Metolius. County Attorney W. P. Myers says it will take a majority of all votes cast to move the county seat. Plans were laid for an all day barbecue, with baseball games and other entertainment in Culver in about six weeks, at which time Culver's viewpoint will be played before the people.

JOHN DIETZ MAY BE PARDONED

to arrest Dietz, but after several shots were fired the posse retired. Another battle took place on July 25 of that year when John Rogich, a member of the posse, and Dietz's son, Clarence were wounded.

The settler barricaded his home and made it an actual fort following this fight. The walls of his cabin were lined with guns. Every member of the family carried a gun and the smallest child was trained to shoot like an expert marksman.

On Sept. 7, 1910, Dietz visited the village of Winter and quarreled with Bert Horel over an election. Dietz shot Horel.

Renewed attempts were then made by the authorities to capture Dietz and his family. On Oct. 1 Dietz's children Clarence, Leslie and Elmyra were attacked on the road to Winter. Clarence and the girl were wounded and captured but Leslie escaped.

Dietz threatened to go to Winter and take his children away from the authorities, but before he could make good his threat, his cabin was surrounded and on Oct. 7, a battle took place.

The log cabin was riddled by 2,000 bullets, fired by the deputies. Oscar Harp, a member of the sheriff's posse, was killed.

Dietz himself was wounded but refused to give up until it was called to his attention that Mrs. Dietz, who was about to become a mother, might be killed. He then surrendered.

He was found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced to serve life in prison. Two years ago his sentence was commuted to twenty years by Gov. E. McGovern.
