Should Sloan's Liniment Go Along?

Of course it should! For after a strenuous day when your muscles have been exercised to the limit an application of Sloan's Liniment will take the soreness and stiffness away and get you in fine shape for the morrow. You should also use it for a sudden attack of toothache, stiff neck, backache, stings, bites and the many accidents that are incidental to a vacation. "We would as soon leave our baggage as go on a vacation or camp out without Sloan's Liniment." Writes one vacationist: "We use it for everything from cramps to toothache." Put a bottle in your bag, be prepared and have no regrets.—Adv.

Women Navvies Barred from Cruise.

Washington, July 15.—Women are barred from the Naval Militia and Motor Boat Reserve cruise and manoeuvres scheduled to begin today among the naval militia of nineteen states under the direction of the Navy department. The cruise will last until July 29th. The original plan was to have the battleships Maine, New Jersey, Kentucky receive the New York and New Jersey naval militia at New York, cruising to sea and to Block Island Sound and back; while the battleships Kearsarge and Virginia were to go to Boston to receive the militia from Massachusetts, Connecticut, Maine and Rhode Island; while the battleships Alabama, Illinois and Rhode Island at Philadelphia received the militia of Illinois, Maryland, District of Columbia, Michigan, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Minnesota, Missouri and Ohio, and the battleship Louisiana at Hampton Roads received the militia of Virginia, Florida, Louisiana, North Carolina and Texas. But since the Mexican situation has become acute, other ships may be used for the cruise.

Biliousness and Stomach Trouble.
"Two years ago I suffered from frequent attacks of stomach trouble and biliousness," writes Miss Emma Verbruyke, Lima, Ohio. "I could eat very little food that agreed with me and I became so dizzy and sick at my stomach at times that I had to take hold of something to keep from falling. Seeing Chamberlain's Tablets advertised I decided to try them. I improved rapidly." Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

Look Good—Feel Good.
No one can either feel good nor look good while suffering from constipation. Get rid of that tired, draggy, lifeless feeling by a treatment of Dr. King's New Life Pills. Buy a box today, take one or two pills tonight. In the morning that stuffed, dull feeling is gone and you feel better at once. 25c at your druggist.—Adv.

METHODS OF EDUCATION.

A Plea For Fewer Studies and Longer Time Devoted to Them.

The defect of American education is diffuseness. The children are bothered and confused by being dragged across the surfaces of too many studies in a day. All of our schools, both public and private, and all our universities and colleges suffer from this same national vice, which is a vice in the American character, a weakness in our temperament. It ought to be met and corrected in every field of life.

What we need is depth. Depth can be imparted through the teaching of anything. It can be imparted through Latin grammar, through handwriting, through carpenter work, through arithmetic or history. The one element required is time. Depth cannot be imparted quickly or in many subjects at once. Leisure is necessary—a slowing down, a taking of things, not easily, but slowly, determinedly, patiently, as if there were plenty of time and nothing else counted.

This is the road to rapid and brilliant work, and there is no other. The smallest children should be set on this road and guided and governed and helped and slaved over by the best of your masters. One subject understood means the world mastered. My friend Frederick Mather of Yale puts the thing as follows: "If one of our small colleges should, after the manner of the English colleges, devote itself to a few old-fashioned subjects, such as Latin and Greek, and some kind of history and philosophy, and should really teach these things, its graduates would soon be so famous and so eminent that banks and railroads would be clamoring for them at the college doors."

The epigram summarizes the present needs in American education.—John J. Chapman in Atlantic Monthly.

GARRICK'S MOBILE FACE.

Its Varying Expressions Put Gainsborough in a Fit of Temper.

At an entertainment at which Gainsborough and the famous actor David Garrick were present an ardent admirer of the great artist declared, according to "Bibliothek der Unterhaltung und des Wissens," that Gainsborough had never failed to take a person's likeness in a portrait, no matter how difficult the subject might be. Garrick thereupon asserted that Gainsborough could not paint his likeness and begged to be allowed to sit for his portrait. Gainsborough, pleased at the commission and expecting to find it very interesting to paint the actor's expressive countenance, gladly consented. Garrick then made a secret wager with the artist's friends that he could prove to them that there was one face at least that Gainsborough could not paint.

The results of the first sitting were very satisfactory to the complement artist. At the second sitting, however, Gainsborough was made uncomfortable and nervous at finding it necessary to make several alterations in his work. At the third sitting his displeasure became extreme when, on comparing the half completed work with Garrick's face, he saw that the two bore so little resemblance to each other that the portrait had almost to be repainted. When Garrick appeared for the fourth time, with the most innocent expression imaginable, and begged the painter to begin work Gainsborough, thoroughly angry, broke out: "I've no use for you! You can ape thousands of faces and never have one of your own!"

Hunting the Elusive Spark.

To find a dead spark plug I take an ordinary hammer and hold the wooden handle in my hand, says James Atcherson in the Farm and Home. Laying the face on the cylinder head, I bring the claws slowly toward the head of the plug. If the plug is alive the spark will leap across when the right gap is reached. If no spark is made the plug is dead. This method does away with the danger of receiving a shock, as you are holding the wooden handle.

Imprisoned by Her Tongue.

In translating the Bible for the Zulus and for some other aboriginal peoples it is necessary to have two versions, one for the women and one for the men. The Zulu law compels a married woman to cut herself off from her father-in-law and all her husband's male relations. She is not allowed to pronounce their names even mentally. As a result, there is a distinct dialect among Zulu women.—Christian Herald.

Earthquake Regions.

The most shaken countries of the world are Italy, Japan, the Pacific slope of South America, Java, Sicily and Asia Minor. The lands most free from earthquakes are Russia, Canada, Scandinavia and Africa. The United States and Australia are to a large extent unshaken by earthquakes save on the Pacific (in the United States) and in a few localities in the island continent.—New York American.

The Difficulty.

"My wife's mad with me and has gone on a hunger strike." "Then let her go hungry till she comes to her senses. Why should you worry?" "Because I'm the one that's going hungry."—Baltimore American.

Accomplished.

Randall—After twenty-five years of married life she loves her husband as much as ever. Rogers—Yes, and she annoys him in other ways, too.—Life.
