J. W. DICKEY EARLY SETTLER

MEMBER OF DUNKARD FAITH WHEN YOUNG.

Recent Demise Drops Curtain on Useful Life.

J. W. Dickey's last place of residence was Suver, Polk county, Oregon, to which place he removed from Portland two years ago. A year ago in June he had a stroke of paralysis from the effects of which he was a constant sufferer until the silent messenger, Death, came on the 22d of the present month. He was born in Stark county, Ohio, on August 13, 1833. While a child his parents moved to Ashland county in Ohio where he spent his childhood and youth. In 1850 he went to California by way of New York and Panama in search of gold, enduring the hardships consequent on the life in the mines and in farming experiences in California, when San Francisco was but a village. After about two years he returned to Ohio and soon left for the then west—Corydon, Iowa. In April, 1857 he was united in marriage to Malissa Baker, who departed this life three years ago last May.

In 1863 he with his wife and family started "across the plains" coming by horse train to La Grande. The journey was made in three months. How eventful only persons who came across the plains in those days can realize. He helped to build up La Grande from a field of waving grass to the city that is now in evidence.

In 1865 he moved to Albany, Linn county, returning to La Grande in 1866, where he made his home until about 15 years ago. He then went to Baker but afterward made his home successively in Tacoma, Paradise, Cal., and Portland.

In early life he united with the brethren commonly known as the Dunkard church, of which he was a faithful and loyal member throughout his life. He died as he lived a faithful Christian, a loyal and loving friend. In 1907 was observed the golden wedding of himself and wife. Three days before the death of his wife occurred the 56th anniversary of their wedding.

A son and daughter, an adopted son and two grand-daughters mourn the loss of a kind and loving father. He is survived by a brother in Seattle and two brothers and a sister in Ohio.

American Foot Feeling Pinch of War.

Chicago, July 27.—Evidence of how the European war is pinching tender

American toes and pocketbooks was shown here today at the closing session of the Illinois Shoe Retailers association. O. L. Triebel, jr., of Springfield, secretary, declared prices for shoes have jumped 20 to 40 per cent during the last year and it is up to the consumer to pay the price. Demand for leather for shoes for the European armies caused the advance. Triebel said tan calfskin for shoes retailing at $5.00 sold at 30 cents a foot a year ago and now brings 47 cents; men's dull calf leather, formerly 30 cents, now sells for 44 cents; white calf for women's shoes, formerly sold for 28 cents, now sells at 55, and so on down the line. Linings, lacings, eyelets and buttons also have advanced in price.

"Sins of Men"—Novel Photodrama.

The new photodrama, "Sins of Men," in which William Fox presents Stuart Holmes and Dorothy Bernard as co-stars, is based on a new "religion," called "Myself," the doctrine of the big ego, the creed of selfishness. The story of the film works out with remarkable effect.

"Sins of Men," the vital problem picture just released by William Fox, is based on a novel theme, the publication of a book by one of the characters on "Myself," a new philosophy, the creed of selfishness. The author's daughter, a part taken by Dorothy Bernard, one of the stars, is involved with a relative of the publisher of the book, a role acted by Stuart Holmes, who in this film acts as co-star for the first time in Fox pictures, in which he previously has taken villain parts.

The false doctrines of the philosopher's book are spread to all members of the two families involved in its authorship or publication, bringing ruin, disgrace and deep sorrow. Incidental to the plot typical German home life is shown, the author being an old German philosopher of the romantic type, his daughter, through his earnings, becoming a fashionable young woman of city life.

The story is an intense one and movie fans cannot afford to miss it at Sherry's.

There are 592 consumers of tannin in the United States who use annually 625,000 cords of hemlock bark, 290,000 cords of oak bark, and 380,000 cords of chestnut wood.

Experts of the Forest Service estimate that the farm woodlots of the United States contain from 200 to 300 billion board feet of lumber and from one to one and a half billion cords of wood.

MYRTLE STEDMAN, PALLAS-PARAMOUNT STAR.

In "Pasquale at Arcade this Week-end

ARCADE

Beautiful Myrtle Stedman appears more beautiful than ever in her daring and hazardous portrayal of "Mrs. Martinelli" in George Behan's starring vehicle "Pasquale," which is released by the Oliver Morosco Photoplay Co. on the Paramount program and will be shown at the Arcade theatre Friday and Saturday.

It is easy to see why rich young "Bob Fulton" is so madly infatuated with her. The part of the beautiful, misunderstood wife, Miss Stedman plays with finished technique and feeling.

In the great climax of the picture, when after a terrible automobile smash-up she is rescued from underneath the blazing car by her old friend Pasquale, who has returned from the great European war, her experiences were as sensational as the episodes of the heroine in a "movie" serial.

BAKER MAN IN ACCIDENT. Commercial Traveler Has Trouble With Auto.

Baker, July 24—William H. Vandewater, traveling salesman representing Allen & Lewis in Eastern Oregon, is back from a thrilling trip to the interior. As a result of an automobile accident, "Billy" is somewhat peeled up, losing skin from several portions of his anatomy. The car in which he and several other commercial travelers were riding became unmanageable on a heavy grade and plunged 60 feet down a steep embankment, ending up in the bed of a stream. The car turned over twice, but strange to say none of the occupants were fatally hurt.
