Society News

Last night at Sherry's theatre the Elks band benefit entertainment was very well attended, and those present were pleased with the evening's program. The curtain arose on four of La Grande's popular young ladies—Misses Leona and Mary Newlin, Blanch Black and Marie Love—singing the songs that mother used to sing. Such old favorites as Annie Laurie and Old Kentucky Home brought forth loud applause and the girls were forced to respond to a vigorous encore. The reed quartet by Haines, Graves, Snapp and Rehwinke was well received, and the Percy Lambert xylophone solo proved to be very popular with the audience. In the sketch "Honest Hearts," Adna Rogers tightened his grip on the fun loving public as did Mrs. Tom Williamson, while V. H. Pabst and Jack Champion and Grace Richmond, the out of town players, each won a place in the praise for the act. Charles Harding after rendering "Memories" in a very able manner responded to an encore with "Wake Up America" and captured the house. His whole heart went into the song and when the chorus was reached the quartet of young ladies, who opened the evening's program, joined him and with waving flags brought the song home to the heart of everyone in the theatre. Continued applause caused repetition of the chorus a number of times. The Elks' orchestra in the comic opera selection, "The Little Millionaire," showed the constant practice and work that organization is engaged in to give the public an orchestra of merit. The closing number was a sketch, "Down East Folks" in which H. E. Dixon took the part of the villain Robert Morrison, N. A. Desilet handled the juvenile lead part of Percy Fitzallen to a great success and Nora Arbuckle delighted everyone in the part of Dolly Miller, a girl raised on the farm who went to the city and made good. Mr. Champion played the part of Josiah Foster, the old rancher, and Grace Richmond appeared as Jessie Foster, his daughter. The entire sketch had plenty of life, good acting and smacked of the days of old legitimate drama.

The Eastern Star Social club will meet with Mrs. Robt. Pattison on Oak street on Tuesday.

Mrs. Lee Warnick and Miss Mary Warnick were hostesses Wednesday in an informal reception in honor of the Sommer sisters, which includes Misses Fanny and Mary Sommer and Mrs. Rosa Rosenthal and the latter's daughter, Miss Carolyn. Another former La Grande girl, Mrs. Anna Baker, of Portland, was also a guest. The affair was designated as "An Old Town Picnic for Old Town Visitors," the idea being to entertain a number of the former residents of La Grande of the years gone by who are now here on a visit. Several others were present as guests, including former neighbors and friends of the honor guests. A fine visit, with a plentiful supply of refreshments, was enjoyed by all.

With the aid of Riverside park, the members of the Nut club were delightful hosts to about 50 couples Thursday night at an enjoyable dancing party. The club flower, the Shasta daisy, ("Cause Daisies Won't Tell") was used as decoration for the punch table where "Billy" Houghan presided. Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Ingle and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer I. Stoddard were patrons and patronesses for the evening. This jolly club, whose parties are eagerly looked forward to by the younger set, consists of Lawrence Prescott, Lester Stoddard, Elmer McManus, Willard Carpy, Francis Clark, Chas. Bingner, Leo Miller and Rex Green.

The Junior Priscilla club, a group of little girls under the leadership of Mrs. Horstman, Thursday afternoon "hiked" up Mill canyon. Games were played by the girls and a jolly good time was enjoyed by all, after which a picnic supper was spread. Those who enjoyed the afternoon were: Verdia Rae Smith, Nellie and Doris Jackson, Audrey Nash, Velma Switzer, Rita Suydam, Irene Glass, Bertha and Florence Nelson, Constance Coleman and Mrs. Horstman.

On account of so many members being out of town, at the coast, mountains and various places, the Thursday Bridge club did not meet this week as was planned and there will be no more meetings during this month.

Due to the many families, who are sojourning in the mountains and at the different beaches, society is almost at a standstill. The Grande Ronde river, with its good fishing has a good share of La Grande people every Sunday and on last Sunday about 200 cars were counted on the canyon road while Catherine creek claimed 150 cars. DEGENERACY IS CHARGED

Charley Smith, at least that is what he says his name is, was tightly jailed this morning when Judge Phy sitting as Justice in the absence of Justice Williams, placed a bond too high for Smith to reach when he was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of degeneracy. Smith has worked some in the logging camps but has never been considered quite well balanced. The present case grows out of improper offers to small boys along the river, and when the evidence was in it took only one short breath for the Judge to bond him to a point where it was certain he would remain in jail until a grand jury can dispose of him.

Carranza Will Be Good, He Says

Washington, Aug. 5.—A message coming in a confidential manner from Mexico City says Carranza is willing to enter into a general discussion of the problems affecting the Mexican economic situation. This puts an end to the fear that Carranza might refuse to discuss anything except military matters. The American government wont appoint a conference commission until it is assured the conferees can broadly discuss an improvement of conditions in Mexico.
