BIRDS ARE NOT VERY NUMEROUS

AT ANY RATE FEW LIMITS REACHED.

Umatilla County Complains of the Same Condition There.

There is no great gobs of birds in these parts, on that a big majority of La Grande nimrods agree. While some scattering lots go out these mornings and get the limit, far more fail, coming back often as not with one or two grouse. For some reason, hunting is not getting off to a very big start just now. Much the same complaint comes from elsewhere.

Pendleton Unlucky Too.

Pendleton, Aug. 17.—Few of the Pendleton hunters who went out to take advantage of the first day of the hunting season managed to get their fill. They found that every one with a gun had the same idea of being first on the scene and that there were not enough birds to go around. The grouse are fairly plentiful but few pheasant were seen. Several deer were reported but the dry weather made it practically impossible to get close enough for a shot.

Irv LaDow, who, although he is discarding in his store, his stock of sporting goods, still keeps a supply on hand for personal use, is out in the mountains near Ukiah with Jack Horton, forest ranger. He has about decided to give up even the personal end of the sporting goods business, however, if his message to the store last night may be taken as an indication. He said that he had seen neither deer nor grouse so far and that he would be in tonight.

Investigate New School System
New York, July 24.—The General Education Board announces that it is about to complete a study of the public school system inaugurated at Gary, Indiana. The purpose is that a full and authoritative account of this interesting experiment in public education may be available for study and use throughout the country.

The Board has employed a staff of educational experts who have already devoted five months to a first-hand study of the purposes, methods and costs of the system at Gary and the results actually achieved there. This work was undertaken at the invitation of the school board of Gary. The results will be embodied in a comprehensive volume to be issued by the Board.

Abraham Flexner of the General Education Board is directing the study assisted by Dr. Frank P. Bachman, formerly Associate Superintendent of schools in Cleveland, Ohio who has been on the ground continuously. Specialists who are dealing with particular fields are:

Prof. C. R. Richards, Director of Cooper Union—vocational and industrial instruction.

Mrs. Eva W. White, Director of the Extended Use of Public Schools of Boston, Mass.—domestic science and arts.

Prof. George D. Strayer, Teachers College, Columbia University—administration, organization and supervision.

S. A. Courtis, Director of Research in the Schools of Detroit, Mich.—classroom testing.

Lee K. Hanmer, Director of the Department of Recreation and Playgrounds of the Russell Sage Foundation—physical training and recreation.

Prof. Otis W. Caldwell, University of Chicago—science.

Ralph Bowman, formerly of the Bureau of Municipal Research—cost accounting.

In addition to the work at Gary and for the purpose of studying the school possibilities of the unusually gifted child; the General Education Board has made an appropriation to Prof. Guy M. Whipple of the University of Illinois. Up to this time much special study has been devoted to improving the education of defective children but comparatively little attention has been devoted to a systematic and thorough study of the talented child.

Prof. Whipple will endeavor to find out how much school time and energy they can economize, as well as how much additional training and mental equipment they can obtain during their school years.

The Board has also authorized a study of the Junior High School, which is being widely experimented with in different sections of the country. As ordinarily conceived, the Junior High School takes over grades seven and eight of the elementary school and the first year of the High School, reorganizing them so as to bridge the gap between elementary and high schools. The Junior High School also endeavors to recognize individual differences more adequately than the elementary school has done. The topic was debated earnestly at this year's meetings of the National Education Association and it is extremely important that a critical study on the ground should be made of the curriculum, methods of teaching, organization and results thus far obtained in the Junior High Schools now in operation at various points. The study will be made by Professor Thomas H. Briggs of Teachers College, Columbia University, who will devote at least six months to visiting these institutions.

Professor Briggs will prepare a volume on the subject which will be published and widely distributed by the General Education Board.

Trust Your Employees

In the September American Magazine the winner of the contest called, "What I would suggest to My Employer"; says if he had a chance to talk to his employer he would say: "You want a strong, well-knit organization. Then above all things, trust your men—and show it. If you feel doubt as to any man's ability conceal it, make that man, and others, too, feel that you are depending on him, that you have confidence in him, backing him up. Keep that attitude consistently until at least you are fully convinced that he will not do. Other things being equal, there will be very few men to fail that support. But when a man does fail, when it is quite clear to you that he is not the man for the job, then by all means shift him or let him go at once. Do not keep him to nag and grumble at, for that will only discourage the rest of your organization. They will feel that their own rights (by better service) to the place are being ignored.

"You have good men. Respect them. Have confidence in their judgment. It is a good thing to consult outside men, to get the outside viewpoint. But after all remember that your own men are far more vitally interested in the success of the company than any outsider can be and that their intimate knowledge of your equipment and needs makes them better fitted to judge as to the effect of any new plans of trade conditions on your business. Value their opinions and judgments, accordingly, even though you do not follow them, and show you value them in every possible way you can."

Pacific Mail Resumes Oriental Service

San Francisco, Aug. 18.—The Pacific Mail Steamship company will resume its Oriental passenger service tomorrow when the oil burning, 10,000 ton steamer "Ecuador" gets under way from here to Honolulu, Yokohama, Kobe, Shanghai, Manila and Hong Kong. The Pacific Mail company quit the trans-Pacific trade when the seamen's law became effective, on the theory that the law imposed too many hardships on the steamship companies for the trade to be a paying proposition. But with freight bringing $20 a ton because of the war shortage of ships the company was soon reorganized. As the new ships are oil burners they do away with the picturesque but uncomfortable process of taking on coal at Oriental ports. Travelers probably will be glad to change the romance of this spectacle for the more prosaic act of taking in oil. Oil is taken in much as water. A long procession of orientals used to load the ships with coal from handbaskets, also loading the passengers' eyes, ears, noses, throats and luggage with a lot of coal dust.

Southern Pacific Employee Picnic

Nearly 100 hundred employees of the Southern Pacific left Eugene to attend the picnic at Salem. They were accompanied by about 100 hundred more from points along the road as far south as Roseburg.
