BIG GAMES IN A CONFLICT

ARMY-NAVY AND YALE-HARVARD SAME DAY.
Sport Notes of Many Kinds and of General Interest.

New York, Aug. 28.—Apparently someone went wrong when arrangements were being made for the big eastern football games this fall. A glance today at the schedules of Yale and Harvard Universities and the Army and Navy teams is enough to prove this. Ordinarily Yale and Harvard meet in their annual gridiron battle on Saturday preceding Thanksgiving, and Army and Navy do their historic stunt the following Saturday. This year, however, the schedule makers have seen things differently and the two big games will be staged the same day—Yale and Harvard in the Yale bowl at New Haven, and the Army and Navy at New York. The football season this year is going to start just a little ahead of the conventional time. The University of California will usher in the season officially on Sept. 16. Seven days later Harvard, Dartmouth and Georgetown will be seen in action. Also, the season will be a bit longer this year than is the custom, the last game not being scheduled until Dec. 9. Important Thanksgiving day games include Cornell and Pennsylvania in the east; Vanderbilt vs. University of the South and Kentucky vs. Tennessee in the South; Nebraska vs. Notre Dame; California vs. Washington, and Southern California vs. Oregon Aggies in the West.

Fielder Jones' Browns have the best stealing trio in the country to lead off the batting order. Shotton and Sisler are two of the fastest men the game ever has known.

Owner Ebbetts declares if his Dodgers win the National League pennant he will provide 40,000 seats for world's series patrons at Ebbetts Field.

Miss Fannie Durack and Miss Nina Wylie, Australia's foremost lady-fish, are going to visit the United States this fall and try to take home some swimming victories.

Mike Gibbons wants to fight again. In fact, Mike wants to fight so bad he has given out the news that unless Les Darcy comes to the United States he, Mike, will journey to Australia to battle out the World's middleweight argument.

Freddie Welsh has nothing but praise for Benny Leonard since his last meeting with the New York star. He says he has a wholesome respect for Leonard's ability. A page from history reveals the reason. Benny once made the champion look like a novice.

Boxing bugs must shove just $20,000 over the counter at Cedar Point, O., on Labor day if promoters of the Kilbane-Chaney featherweight championship fight are to make any money.

Forest Hills, L. I., Aug. 28.—Unusual interest centers in this year's national lawn tennis championship tournament, which opened today on the courts of the West Side Tennis club at Forest Hills. Ordinarily the race narrows down to two men.

School Matters in Panhandle Probed. Baker, Aug. 26.—After a four-day trip through the Panhandle, where they were occupied chiefly with school matters, District Attorney C. T. Godwin and County School Superintendent J. F. Smith returned to Baker last night. In Langrell they were present at

Ann Penington Who Scores in Famous Players "Susie Snowflake."

Ann Penington, the celebrated little Broadway star, makes her motion picture debut in the Famous Players production, "Susie Snowflake," which is the Paramount attraction at the Arcade theatre today and tomorrow. Known all over the country as dancer and comedienne, Miss Penington has been wisely starred in a photoplay which is a story of musical comedy life, thus giving her the greatest opportunity to display her far-famed talent on the screen.

The Pendleton family consists of three girls and their sedate father. Martha is the eldest, Phoebe the next and Susan the youngest. The dignified family lives in the Quaker-like village of Crescent, where everything is peace and quiet; little Susie, unlike her sisters, is inclined to be merry and cannot bear the atmosphere of the town. She is attractive to a young actor who is playing in the village, and finally consents to elope with him. The family is shocked at Susie's act, and her father's death is the result of her folly. Thus the foundation is laid for the interesting story.

Edmund Breese will also begin work within the next week or so on another production at the Popular Plays and Players studio. He was last seen on the Metro program in "The Spell of the Yukon."

Round-Up Seat Sale Opens September 2.

Pendleton, Or., Aug. 24.—The Round-up seat sale for the 1916 show, September 21 to 23, will open in Pendleton September 2, according to Secretary Charles H. Marsh. Out-of-town reservations are being filled as they are received. The reservations this year are greater than any year since 1913 and indications point to the largest crowd in the history of the Round-Up.

The opening of the sale to Pendleton people is always an interesting affair when residents to get the choicest seats for the exhibition take their beds and camp at the ticket window all night before the morning of the sale. Half the grandstand has been set aside for the out-of-town people and a half for the Umatilla county visitors and Pendleton people.

"Mister 44," a story of the great Canadian woods, is now in the filming at the recently acquired Metro-Yorke studio in Hollywood. The exteriors will be made in the vicinity of Lake Tahoe, California. Harold Lockwood and May Allison are starred in the five-act production. It is a picturization of the novel by E. J. Rath, who is also the author of the book from which the scenario of "The River of Romance," a recent Metro-Yorke release was written. "Mister 44" is under the direction of Henry Otto, and will be the first to be produced in California by the Metro-Yorke corporation.

At Sherry's Tomorrow—Beautiful Bluebird.

The arrival of "The Love Girl" at the Sherry theatre on Tuesday will bring one of the brightest stars of Bluebird Photoplays to interpret the leading role. Ella Hall shared honors with Robert Leonard in an earlier Bluebird, "The Crippled Hand," but in "The Love Girl" she will negotiate the stelar honors to the delight of thousands who have admired her work in previous service.

Master Harry Depp is likewise sure to win admiration for his work, in association with Miss Hall, in the several interesting and exciting scenes in which they jointly participate. These two skillful young players are seen together in a majority of the episodes in the photoplay, and it devolves upon them to turn the entire plot from a beginning of promised distressful sequence to the happiest of outcomes.

There is a novel subject for photoplaying introduced during the progress of "The Love Girl," when Hindu mystics serve to well-nigh upset the calculations of everybody concerned. Just how the Bhuddist faith is misapplied and made the subject of vilification comprises an element that lifts this Bluebird feature out of the ordinary and makes it match the other features in the successful series as a play of unusual merit.

Sensationalism abounds for those who enjoy excitement, but these features by no means predominate. The most vital interest in the feature is likely to accrue from the perfectly human, natural and appealing work of Miss Hall and Master Depp in presenting the role of two splendidly equipped children—healthful, clear minded, playful, and yet just a little bit mischievous kiddies, who do things for the love of doing them, and finally surpass their elders in doing the right thing at the right time.

the board meeting called to investigate the conduct of J. F. Ingle, an instructor. Charges which had been preferred were found to be utterly untrue. At Homestead they advised the school board in regard to the new school building which is to be put up at that place. The Iron Dyke Mining company will furnish the site for the building and the lumber as well. Mr. Godwin also investigated a number of juvenile and non-support cases, which may be taken up later.
