Mitchell Lewis, Metro Is "Heap Big Chief"
 Mitchell Lewis, who plays Kahoma, the Indian, in Viola Dana's first Metro production, "The Flower of No Man's Land," can speak the Ute language fluently, and knows some of the Unonastaga language. He has made a specialty of Indian parts, and has lived among the Indians in various parts of the country. He has also played African headsmen, Chinamen, and every-day American types.

He did not realize that she had been deceived. But, alas, they are to leave for America, and no trace of the string of pearls! What would you do to prevent the customs inspectors from disclosing the false jewels to your wife? This is the problem Donald Brian, the popular stage star, faces in the Famous Players farce-comedy, "The Smugglers." Sidney Olcott, who is the director of many notable Famous Players productions, is responsible for the production of this screaming humorous photoplay on the Paramount program. The Arcade will show "The Smugglers" Monday and Tuesday.

His father was Welsh and his mother Bohemian.
 Mr. Lewis was formerly in the United States navy. He was on the Wasp in Cuba and Porto Rico, during the Spanish-American war. Later he went to the flagship New York, and was schoolmaster in the naval training school at Newport. He has medals for bravery in action.

EYES OF ALL NATIONS
 America and Germany are the greatest eyeglass and spectacle wearing nations of the world. Five Americans wear glasses to one of any other nation.
 Deplorable were it not a fact that blindness in America has decreased over 20 per cent since the advent of glasses, while in every other country of the globe there is an actual increase.

J. WARREN KERRIGAN
 Camera Acting in the Mountains.
 When "The Silent Battle" is exhibited at the Sherry theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday in beautiful Bluebird photoplays, the spectators will behold vistas of some of California's scenic glories, plus the friendly actions of nature in sending elements to lend the required realism to several of the scenes.
 The Bluebird photoplayers spent three weeks among the Cuyamac formians snow is almost as great a rarity as false teeth in the mouths of Plymouth Rock chickens. But the Bluebird camera actors climbed to the peaks of the mountains, going up to the snow which refuses to come down to the verdant valleys.

 J. Warren Kerrigan, Lois Wilson, Harry Carter, Maud George, Ray Hanford, and J. F. Connolly will be the principal players in "The Silent Battle."

Mabel Taliaferro in "God's Half Acre"
 Habel Taliaferro, the famous stage and screen favorite, has signed an engagement with Metro-Rolfe to appear in at least eleven more five-part productions. The first of this number "God's Half Acre," is now in production. Edwin Carewe, who has been directing Miss Taliaferro, and who appeared with her in "The Snowbird," her last feature on the Metro program, will direct all the Taliaferro productions.
