Feeder Buyers Congregate.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Sept. 21.—The attendance of the largest body of feeder buyers here last week seen this year, together with strong demand from killers, resulted in an advance of 20 to 35 cents on cattle after Monday. The yards were well cleaned, and the buying side was up to maximum capacity today when receipts amounted to 36,000 head, besides 2,000 calves. The range country is well represented today, and sales were satisfactory to sellers, steady to 15c lower than Friday, but a shade stronger than on Monday last week. A trainload of Wheeler and Lavender steers from Placerville, Cal., bred in Texas, sold to killers at $7.10, around 1,025 pounds average. Other mountain beef steers sold at $6.80@ $6.90. Panhandle yearlings sold up to $7.90; twos at $7.25@7.50, some commonish ones at lower prices; cows, $5.25@6.25; canners, $4.65. Best fed steers today brought $10.90; grass steers from $6.50 to $9.25.

WHOLE STATE IS FORTUNATE

It appears, now that detailed reports have been made, that all of Oregon escaped forest fires with the same good fortune that Union county did this year.

Oregon suffered practically no loss from forest fires this year, according to State Forester Elliott at Salem, despite the fact that the timbered and brush area owned by the government and private individuals and companies comprises approximately 22,000,000 acres. The entire damage from fires, Mr. Elliott says, will be less than $500. Last year the loss on privately-owned timber lands totaled $29,000.

Oregon has 13,125,000 acres within the National forests, of which about 10,000,000 acres is commercial timber land. There are 10,000,000 acres of privately-owned timber land patrolled by the state and timber owners. In addition to this there are approximately 2,000,000 acres of brush land in the Southern part of the state.

One of the reasons for the greater frequency of forest fires in Jackson and Josephine counties than in other counties of the state, is said to be the higher average temperature in those sections during the summer months, Mr. Elliott said.

BOSTON WINS 3RD BALL GAME

Detroit, Sept. 21.—Boston today won the third straight game from Detroit and is now three full games ahead in the sensational American league race.

BROKER SUES FOR ACTRESS

Fiancee's Deportation by Government Is Blocked

New York, Sept. 15.—Through a writ of habeas corpus applied for in the United States District Court recently Goldstein & Goldstein, attorneys, are trying to prevent the immigration authorities from deporting Miss Hilda Rose Cavanaugh, an English actress, whose fiancee is Clarence D. Levey, a real estate broker of Long Branch, N. J.

Several years ago Levey met Miss Cavanaugh when she was filling a theatrical engagement here. The couple became engaged, but Miss Cavanaugh returned to London to resume her stage work there. Several weeks ago she returned here on the Carpathia, expecting to fill another theatrical engagement. In spite of the fact that she traveled first class, the immigration authorities held her up on the ground that she was without funds and likely to become a public charge.

Miss Cavanaugh told the board of special inquiry of her theatrical engagement but the board ordered her deportation and the finding was upheld by the department of labor in Washington. Then Mr. Levey came forward and stated his desire to marry the actress. This is made the basis for the writ of habeas corpus applied for asking for the release of Miss Cavanaugh from Ellis Island.

Forest Fire Near Sparta.

Baker, Sept. 21.—Called by long distance telephone from the lookout station on Sparta butte, Forest Supervisor Barnes and W. E. White of the Minam forestry service motored at top speed beyond Goose creek at 2 o'clock this morning, a distance of more than 27 miles, to find that a fire in the sagebrush had attracted the lookout's attention. The blaze was near the forest boundaries and for a time menaced the timbered area.

SALEM MYSTEY IS NOW CLEAR.

Hotel Clerk, Long Missing, Now Is Known to be Dead.

Salem, Or., Sept. 21.—The skeleton of the body found last Friday in the underbrush of the Willamette, five miles north of the city, is evidently that of Irvin Springer, formerly night clerk of the Marion hotel, according to those who are in a position to know. Irvin Springer, a son of Peter Springer of this city, night clerk of the Marion hotel, disappeared on the night of January 8, 1915, and, notwithstanding the fact that the father had done everything to locate him, no word had been received to indicate whether he was dead or living.

Last Friday a skeleton with part of the clothing clinging to it was found by some of those looking for the body of Leland Hendricks near the banks of the river in Polk county, where it had evidently been washed during the freshet of last February.

In the pockets were found a bunch of keys and, on the suggestion that they might possibly have been those of young Springer, they were brought to the Marion hotel. One proved to be a pass key that was made especially for the locks of the Marion, unlocking the doors into all rooms. This pass key was in the possession of Springer when he disappeared. Other keys were those for the Marion cash register for the cigar room and for the storage room, all of which were in Springers' possession when he disappeared.

FRENCH MAY RE-CONQUER THEIR OWN CITY!

If the allies continue pushing the Germans back on the west front, the next important city to be retaken will be Peronne. The market place of the French city is shown here, the houses shattered by shell and the monument of "The Maiden of Peronne," the city's heroine, at the left. German soldiers are the only people on the street. The Germans took Peronne on their first dash into France.
