New Two-Toned Wool Sweaters

Red, yellow, and green, trimmed in white and plain Old Rose. Smart cash finished with tassel. They are beauties.

A Display Extraordinary in Our Apparel Salons

Autumn Suits

show the richest of new colors and materials. Soft, lustrous furs in the shape of deep sailor collars that fasten high and snug about throat and chin are shown in great profusion. Semi-fitted models are trim, tailored and smart—some of these show pockets and others touches of brilliant contrasting color.

$16.50 to $82.50

Lovely New Blouses

in endless array are being displayed. Blouses conceived and made by America's foremost artist designers.

Autumn Coats

are voluminous and elegant. High, rich collars of soft fur, deep pockets and novel buttons add notes of distinctive charm to their loveliness. Bolivia cloth, with its deep, soft surface is in high favor and lends itself particularly well to the new Prunelle tones. Checks and plaids have the swing and dash of a cavalier's coat, while evening wraps are truly elegant in line and color.

$9.50 to $85.00

Elegant Display of Millinery

There are all styles, materials and many sizes represented—Scores of new and "different" models for your pleasure.

ARCADE

Wallace Reid and Clio Ridgley, the clever young Jesse L. Lasky stars, will be seen at the Arcade today and tomorrow in "The Selfish Woman," a thrilling photodrama written especially for them by Hector Turnbull. It is a Paramount Program release.

Tom Morley, a young and energetic civil engineer, is advised by his directors that the funds appropriated for the building of their railroad through the Imperial valley will be exhausted in three months. He confidently assures them that he will complete the work in that time. Thomas Morley, Sr., a wealthy and unscrupulous banker, is determined to make his son's work a failure, and to this end employs McKenzie, a crooked promoter, to assist him.

In answer to a telegram from his father to come home at once on a matter of importance, Tom wires his mother to make up a little week-end party, including his favorites. In compliance, Mrs. Morley invites Alice Hale and her mother. The latter has great social ambitions, and is very anxious to bring about a marriage between Alice and Tom. McKenzie is also in love with Alice, but Mrs. Hale makes it plain to her daughter that she must complete the conquest, almost won, before Tom leaves for the west, otherwise they will soon be in the most embarrassing financial circumstances. Alice so manipulates affairs that Tom persuades her to run away with him, and they are married by the justice of the peace, returning at once for parental forgiveness. Mrs. Hale feigns anxiety, but both she and Morley, Sr., are pleased at the turn of affairs. The latter hands Tom partnership papers, which, if he signs, will give him unlimited wealth. He flatly refuses and is threatened by disinheritance. Morley, Sr., impressed with Alice's disappointment, tells her he will place a million dollars in her own name if she will go west with Tom and make him fail.

Out west, Alice at once picks Jim, the assistant, as a willing tool, and together they nearly succeed, on several occasions, in upsetting Tom's plans. Jim tells Alice the best way to bring the matter to a crisis is to get the men intoxicated, and she furnishes the money. Realizing Tom's wonderful determination and strength, she wires Morley, Sr., to send a competent man to help her. McKenzie persuades the old man to send him, hoping to ruin Tom and win Alice. Alice, feeling each day the force of Tom's noble character, and realizing her own despicable conduct, is beginning to fall in love with her husband. The pay check is delayed. Tom goes to ascertain the cause. The men, impressed with the idea Tom has run off with their money, and crazed with drink, start a riot. Tom arrives on a special train, but is helpless. Alice reaches the scene with the sheriff and posse just at the critical moment. Her joy at finding Tom safe proves her love for him and, happy in his double victory, he takes her tenderly in his arms.

SHERRY'S

These Two Stars Are Fine Partners.

Harry S. Hilliard, "the handsomest man in the movies," is seen again as a co-star in a William Fox featured film in "Caprice of the Mountains." In this photodrama Mr. Hilliard is the opposite of little June Caprice, the movie discovery whom Mr. Fox is presenting as a star in her first attempt at acting. Mr. Hilliard was selected as the co-star not only for his handsomeness, but because he has proven his great ability to act, especially in moving picture drama.

Harry Hilliard is the matinee idol of filmdom, where he is an idol every afternoon instead of at the twice weekly matinees of the stage. He is young, clean cut and masculinely handsome. He comes of a Cincinnati German-American family, his father being a veteran of the Napoleonic wars, in which he fought with Blucher. His mother was an American, being a member of an aristocratic Baltimore family.

Rev. J. V. Milligan Dead.

Marshfield, Or., Sept. 22.—Rev. Dr. J. V. Milligan of Portland, superintendent of Presbyterian Sunday schools of the Synod of Oregon, dropped dead at the Chandler hotel here Tuesday. He had registered and, as he was going to his room with the bell boy, he dropped to the floor and died immediately.

Several doctors were summoned, but the minister was past aid. It is supposed heart disease was the cause of death. A telegram was at once sent to Mrs. Milligan at 975 East Taylor street, Portland, advising her of his death.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This is a medicine that every family should be provided with. Colic and diarrhoea often comes on suddenly and it is of the greatest importance that they be treated promptly. Consider the suffering that must be endured until a physician arrives or medicine can be obtained. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has a reputation second to none for the quick relief which it affords. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv. Constipation the Father of Many Ills. Of the numerous ills that affect humanity a large share start with constipation. Keep your bowels regular and they may be avoided. When a laxative is needed take Chamberlain's Tablets. They not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

The Cold Weather

SHOULD REMIND YOU THAT "the Good Old Summer Time" is about over, and that Jack Frost will soon be here. Time to put up that stove, clean out the furnace, ditch your Summer clothes, and prepare for Zero weather. You will need some of our REAL Coal. Coal prices are higher than in June and July, but you can still save some money, by getting your fuel now. Coal and Wood will be higher this winter than last. Our Coal must be GOOD or we couldn't have sold 20 cars in the last month.

Shoot some of our famous HIAWATHA or ROCK SPRINGS in to that furnace, start her up on high and watch her go. COAL, STOVE WOOD, CHAIN WOOD, FEED, HAY, STORAGE, DRAYAGE.
