Peculiarity of French Flag.
It is not generally known that the three strips of color that make up the French national flag are not equal in width. When the tricolor was first authorized, 1792, the positions and proportions of the three colors were not stated, and such a variety of flags was seen that two years later the national assembly declared that the national standard should be formed of "the three national colors in equal bands placed vertically, the hoist being blue, the middle white and the fly red."

For years the flag was made in this way; but, though the bands were equal, they never looked equal owing to an optical illusion, the blue appearing wider than the white and the white wider than the red.

At last, after many experiments, it was officially decided that in every hundred parts the blue should be thirty, white thirty-three and red thirty-seven.—Pittsburgh Press.

Essay on the Duck.
A prize essay on "The Duck" was written by a Michigan schoolgirl and printed in the Detroit Journal:
"The duck is a low heavy bird. He is a mighty poor singer, having a coarse voice caused by getting so many frogs in his neck and he likes the water and carries a toy balloon in his stomach to keep from sinking, the duck has only two legs and they are set so far back on his running gears by nature that they come pretty near missing his body some ducks when they get big curls on their tails are called drakes and don't have to set or hatch but just loaf and go swimming and eat everything in sight if I were to be a duck I would rather be a drake they have a wide bill like they use it for a spade they walk like a drunk man they bounce and bump about from side to side if you scare them they will flap their wings and try to make a pass at singing."

Invention of Soda Water.
Soda water is an older beverage than Thackeray would have us believe. After an overdose of punch at Vauxhall Joseph Sedley slakes his morning thirst with beer. "Soda water," says Thackeray, "was not invented yet. Small beer was the only drink with which unhappy gentlemen soothed the fever of their previous night's potations." As a matter of fact, in 1815—the year in which the opening scenes of "Vanity Fair" are laid—soda water had been known for close on fifty years, the exact date of its invention being 1767. The oldest bottle of soda water in the world is one retrieved from the wreck of the Royal George, which foundered off Spithead in 1782. When sold by auction some years ago this bottle realized 25½ guineas.—London Standard.

On Firing Line.
"Have you ever been on the firing line?"
"Sure! Only last week my boss stood us all in line, and I was the first one he fired."
"And were you ever rewarded for bravery?"
"Oh, ya-as."
"Did you get the iron cross?"
"Nope."
"The Victoria cross?"
"Naw. I got the maltese cross."
"How could you get the maltese cross?"
"I stepped on her tail."—Exchange.

Not His Nerves.
"Doctor," said the sick man, "I'm afraid my nerves are in bad condition."
"Oh, no," replied the physician; "that's not what is the matter with you. The fact that you have sent for me after ignoring the statements I've been sending you regularly during the past year and a half indicates that your nerve's all right."—Chicago Herald.

Odd Way to Rest.
There is nothing, says a medical journal, that will rest you so quickly as to sit on a straight back chair and, lifting the feet from the floor, push them out in front of you as far as possible, stretch the arms, put the head back, open the mouth wide and make yourself yawn.

Gave Him a Tip.
"Did they give you a tip?" asked a restaurant proprietor of a new waiter who had just served his first customers.
"Yes, sorr," was the reply. "They told me I had better go and carry a hod!"

Eavesdropping.
Belle—She wouldn't stoop to listening to conversation through the keyhole of a door. Beulah—I know it. A party telephone wire is good enough for her.—Yonkers Statesman.

Inevitable Conclusion.
"My wife is not at all fond of society."
"Oh, she does, does she?"
"Does what?"
"Her own dressmaking."

Victory.
"How happy the bride looks!"
"She has a right to look happy. His friends have been laying odds of 2 to 1 that she wouldn't land him."—Exchange.

She Got It.
Jack—As our engagement is to be a secret, I won't give you an engagement ring at present. Jill—Oh, I could wear it on my right hand!

Portland Banks in Good Shape
Salem, Sept. 29.—Total resources of Portland banks here increase $7,151,292.93 since September 2, 1915, and most of that increase has been within the period between June 30 and September 12 of this year, according to the reports of the state bank superintendent, Sargeant.

Train Robbers Still At Large
Detroit, Sept. 29.—Robbers who held up the train of the Michigan Central are still at large. One of the registered mail pouches was found a hundred yards from the scene of the robbery. The pouch was empty. A dozen robberies and several murders have been committed recently mostly in the vicinity of Detroit and none of the perpetrators have been captured.

RECRUITS READY FOR BORDER

Seventeen of the 60 in Detachment Ready to Move Were Enlisted at the La Grande Recruiting Station.

Seventeen of the 60 recruits to be sent from Clackamas to the border this week, were enlisted in La Grande. Assignments of all recruits accumulated at Clackamas has been made by authorities in charge, and those enlisted at La Grande have been assigned as follows:
Oregon troops at Calexico:
Troop A—Arthur Brill, Hubert J. Bryan, Dudley A. Campbell.
Battery A.—Joseph R. Kane, Archie D. Reynolds.
7th California Infantry at Nogales, Arizona:
Lawrence Smith.
Montana Infantry at Douglas, Arizona:
Harry Fain, Harold Austin, Clifford E. Foster, Cecil W. Kemp.
Utah Cavalry at Nogales, Arizona:
Harry L. Gilbert, Guy Hartsough, Lester E. Worrell, William C. Logue, Roy Hendrickson, Harry M. Race.
The list above doesn't include the recruit sent down Saturday evening, but in any event, the showing made from the La Grande station ranks high in comparison with other recruiting stations.

How to Give Good Advice.
The best way to give good advice is to set a good example. When others see how quickly you get over your cold by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they are likely to follow your example. This remedy has been in use for many years and enjoys an excellent reputation. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.
