ARCADE

Warner Does His Own Swimming.
H. B. Warner, who several years ago won high honors on the speaking stage as the star in "Alias Jimmy Valentine," recently achieved another distinction during the production of "The Beggar of Cawnpore," the big Triangle feature in which he is starred and which will be shown at the Arcade Wednesday and Thursday. It was that of being numbered among the most daring of the lace players.

Warner at first was not seriously regarded as an athlete, when he arrived at Inceville. Therefore, when he was handed a script in which the part he was to play called for a long swim, some of the men who make a business of risking their lives in dangerous stunts concluded that one of their number would be picked for the task of "doubling" the star. But Warner decided that no one need "double" him, and told Producer Ince he would play the part.

On the day that the scene was made the air was raw and the Playa Rey lagoon, which had been selected for the location, was still flooded with the cold waters of one of California's record floods. A raft was constructed and Lola May, who plays the chief supporting role, stepped on board. At a word from Charles Swickard, the director, Warner, fully clothed, plunged into the water. Pushing the raft ahead of him, he swam for the opposite shore, a distance of 200 yards. He made the distance in safety and then again proved his nerve had not left him, when he plunged repeatedly into the water for a number of "close-ups." He was in the water or standing on shore in his wet clothing for more than half a day. Afterward, he declared that he had enjoyed the ordeal and was ready to undertake any other aquatic stunt that might be written for him.

SOUTHERNERS ARE LIGHTER.

Four to Six Pounds Difference in Favor of the Northerner.

Washington, Oct. 3.—The average weight of men south of the Mason and Dixon line is from four to six pounds lighter than the average weight of men north of it, say United States Marine Corps recruiting officers operating there, in a report received at Marine Corps headquarters today. These recruiting officers have asked that the minimum weight for recruits in the south be reduced from 124 to 120 pounds, stripped.

"The large raw-boned Southerner" is seldom seen, the recruiting officers aver, and, while the men of the south are as sound and fit as the men of any other section, they are usually small-boned and light in weight. The officers point out in their recommendation that some of the best "hikers" and fighters in the Marine Corps are the lean, wiry men from the south-land.

WHY?

We Consider Your Success Paramount to Our Own

Because our success depends on the development of the communities served by us and the prosperity of their inhabitants.

We have made large investments for your convenience and comfort, in property which cannot be moved to some other locality if our business does not prosper as can yours—Therefore not only from public spiritedness but from business interests we wish to cooperate with you in anything tending to further the welfare of the community.

No proposition is too small to receive our cheerful and thorough consideration and active encouragement.

Prettiest Girls in Photoplays.

L'Abbe Constantin opened the doors of the French Academy to its author, Ludovic Halevy. There are those who maintain that the equally fantastic Vicar of Wakefield will always be coupled in literary chronologies with this later masterpiece of fiction. Going to this source Bluebird Photoplays have evolved a most delightful comedy-drama to be exhibited at the Sherry theatre today and tomorrow under the more illuminating title of "Bettina Loved a Soldier." Louise Lovely will impersonate the role of Bettina and Rupert Julian will be the soldier; but these two players will not monopolize the situations by any means.
