

More Style—More Value—More Quality

You get more for your money in COLLEGIAN Clothes than ever before, with an individuality of style and perfection of tailoring seldom found in garments at the price.

The fabrics are unusually well chosen. Especially is this true of the Cassimeres, plain Grays, dark and light Serges, Worsteds in browns and grays and Cheviots.

ADLER'S Collegian Clothes

Nothing but durable material and expert workmanship are put into COLLEGIAN Clothes, insuring value for which one usually has to pay a pretty good price.

A try-on will convince you and it takes only a few minutes.

FAIR REPORT PROVES GOOD

RECENT ENTERTAINMENT WAS FINANCIALLY A BIG SUCCESS

News Mention and Personal Items from Enterprise—Mr. Piles Well Greeted.

Enterprise, Oregon, Oct. 4.—Special)—Mrs. C. R. Thornton of La Grande who is superintendent of finances for this centre of the Temperance union, including Wallowa and Union counties returned to La Grande Saturday after a week ennobling in Wallowa in behalf of the Temperance movement.

Miss McCauley of Portland is now employed in the office of the Wallowa Law, Land and Abstract company.

Dr. O. M. Heacock of La Grande was a visitor in this valley last week, visiting the fair, assisting in the orchestra of Prof. Henry, and fitting glasses for those who needed such aid.

W. C. Fleener, who for several years past has been in the livery business in Lostine, has purchased an interest in the Enterprise dray line and is now a partner of V. F. Ghormley.

B. W. Hamilton who has been suffering from an attack of stomach trouble and was confined to his home for several days is now convalescing.

Ex-Senator Piles of Washington and an enthusiastic republican arrived in Enterprise Tuesday; he was met at the train by the Enterprise band, and in the evening delivered an instructive lecture in the opera house.

Margaret, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Baker, suffered a broken leg by a fall at school some time ago, is steadily improving under the care of Drs. Hockett and Taylor.

The Wallowa County Fair association reports good results from last week; the attendance was large, the exhibits from town, country and school were acknowledged to be magnificent by all who saw them. The Imbler Riding club added much to the attraction on Friday. Wallowa county certainly has excellent reasons for being proud of the racing stock and riders.

Mesdames McKenzie, Lyman, Weeks, Grant, Tucker and William Holden acted as serving committee.

UNLOCKED SAFE BLOWN UP

Burglar Gets $1,000 in Grocery Store in Albany

Albany, Ore., Sept. 26.—(Special)—Although I. E. Conn, a local groceryman, has been leaving his safe unlocked so that robbers would not blow it open, when he entered the store this morning he found it blown to pieces and about $1,000 in money, notes and valuables missing.

The door was found in the opposite side of the 30-foot room and marks on the ceiling and walls indicate that it had struck the ceiling on the opposite side of the room and then descended through a tier of shelving, demolishing dozens of coffee cans and other merchandise.

Although there are a large number of residences near the store only one man heard the explosion, and after a short investigation decided that it was only a gunshot and returned to bed.

Why He Was Absent.

"Why were you absent from school yesterday, Johnny?" asked the teacher.

"Father was sick and I had to stay home," replied Johnny.

"You mean your father thought he was sick," replied the teacher, who was a Christian Scientist.

Johnny accepted the thought, but was absent from school again. On his return to school his teacher again inquired the cause of his absence, whereupon Johnny replied, "Oh, father thought he died and we buried him yesterday."

CHILD LABOR LAW IS GOOD

New York, Oct. 4.—Criticism of the new federal child labor law are "without any foundation whatsoever, and the persons who are giving them publicity are either insincere or incompetent," says Senator Cummins in a letter received today by Owen R. Lovejoy, general secretary of the National Child Labor committee. "I have just read your letter" says Senator Cummins, "suggesting that certain critics of the recently enacted child labor law claim to have discovered a joker or jokers in the act which reflect upon either the integrity or intelligence of those who are responsible for its passage. If Republicans are making any such charge against the law in order to discredit the administration, the effort is disreputable and must react upon those who are foolish enough to give currency to the charge. If democrats are endeavoring to impeach the good faith of the republicans who helped to compose and pass the bill, they are guilty of a flagrant offense against public morals." Senator Cummins goes on to say that if the Supreme Court is called upon to decide the constitutionality of the law and grants that it is constitutional, "it will end for all time the employment of children under conditions forbidden in the statute. The claim, if it is made, that the prohibition of the statute can be evaded by retaining the output of a mine, quarry, mill, cannery, workshop, factory or manufacturing establishment for thirty days after children have been employed and that then the output may be shipped from the state of production to some other state is too absurd for consideration. rare exceptions these industrial establishments are continuous in their operation and the notion that they can be so organized as to employ children in a prohibited way one month and then dismiss them and run a month without children, after which the output of the previous month will be shipped, and then re-employ children for another month and so on ad infinitum, is supremely ludicrous. I venture the prediction that no industrial concern will ever attempt to evade the law in this respect. An honest examination of the act will convince any person that it is just as effective as it could be made without creating such a disturbance in the commerce of innocent people as would have awakened a sentiment against the measure that would have brought about its speedy overthrow. I have reviewed again the entire subject and I am thoroughly persuaded that the act would effectuate the humane purposes toward which the friends of child labor legislation have for a long time been striving.
