The members of the Owassa club tendered a farewell surprise Tuesday evening at the home of Golda Campbell in honor of Mrs. C. H. Carpenter who leaves tonight for Pendleton. While the gathering partook of the usual social features, including a generous spread of refreshments, there was an undertone of regret at the prospective loss of one of the Owassa club's most popular members. For the past two years or more Mrs. Carpentier has been at the head of the accounting department and general information bureau of the Observer and during that time her faithful and courteous attention to the patrons of the office has become widely known and appreciatively recognized. Mrs. Carpenter's departure from La Grande is occasioned by the fact that her husband, who has been associated with the West & Co. mercantile establishment, has accepted a position with the Peoples' Warehouse in Pendleton. Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter leave for Pendleton this evening and the well wishes of their many friends in La Grande go with them to their new place of abode.

Mrs. C. H. Stevens, who with her husband are recent arrivals in La Grande from Walla Walla, succeeds Mrs. Carpenter in the Observer office.

A meeting was held today in the K. P. Hall for the inspection of O. P. Morton W. R. C. No. 37. Cora M. Davis of Union, Past National President, W. R. C., was the inspector. A large attendance was present. At noon a chicken dinner was served. The hall was beautifully decorated in the National colors. Mrs. Violet Morgan of La Grande, president, received many compliments from the visitors as to the excellent showing of the corps.

The following were present from Union and enjoyed the hospitality of the local members:

Cora M. Davis, Hannah Reeves, Esther Pursell, Viola Parker, Myrtle Cline, Martha Stevens, Agnes Padlock, Mary Minnick, Minnie Baird, Elizabeth Phillips, Anna DeVore, Sarah Compton, Mary Brown, Josephine McKenney, Margaret Smith, Catharine Craver, L. P. Derby, S. A. Pursell, John Reeves, M. F. Davis, Clarence Craver, George Baird, W. A. Maxwell.

The Neighborhood club held its first meeting of the club year on Tuesday afternoon, October 3, at the club rooms in the library building. On account of the recent death of Mrs. C. A. Small who had been elected as corresponding secretary for the coming year, the social part of the program was not carried out. New officers were in the chairs at this meeting. Mrs. W. W. Wade, first vice president acting for Mrs. R. W. Logan who was absent on account of the convention at Seaside. After a short business session during which eight new names were added to the growing membership, the club adjourned. On October 17, Child Welfare Day, the year's work will be taken up in earnest.

The program will be in charge of Dr. Margaret Ingle, Mrs. Ida French, Mrs. H. C. Rees and Mrs. John Cymes with a solo by Mrs. C. P. Ferrin.

The dramatic department of the club has now been organized under the leadership of Mrs. Norman Frees, and the program for the year is being arranged. The work, as outlined, will be divided into two parts, the first consisting of a brief review of the development of the early English drama, including the study of "Everyman" and of several typical plays of Shakespeare. The second part will be devoted to the study of the modern drama with illustrative plays which will be read and discussed.

The meetings of the department will be held on alternating Tuesdays beginning October 24, and will be open to only those members of the Neighborhood club who register with Mrs. Frees for the course.

Cora M. Davis, past national commander of the W. R. C., and retiring supreme chief of the Pythian Sisters, came over from Union today to attend the W. R. C. functions. Mrs. Davis has rare distinctions—seldom falling upon one woman; that of holding two national offices. At the recent supreme convention of Pythian Sisters in Portland, at which time the Supreme Convention of Knights of Pythias was in session, Mrs. Davis spoke to the joint assembly, and her address sparkled with wit, judgment and gracious bearing. Her audience of several hundred people cheered her most vociferously, and La Grander who heard her then realized that she is a woman with rare gifts, and that, like the prophet, she is recognized away from home more extensively than in her own community where her inconspicuous demeanor hides her real talents.

At Pendleton Thursday afternoon were married two popular young people who are well known in La Grande, and whose marriage interests a big circle of friends here. The bride was Miss Edna Wissler, born and raised in La Grande but recently living in Pendleton with her mother, Mrs. R. Wissler, and the groom was Gale Sturdivant, a Pendleton man who for the past two years has been employed at N. K. West's and who is prominent socially and fraternally in La Grande. The marriage was a quiet one. Mr. and Mrs. Sturdivant went to Walla Walla and returned here at noon today. They will live at Second and Jefferson, where their many friends will have opportunity to greet them. Of the wedding, the Pendleton Tribune says:

"Robert Gale Sturdivant and Edna L. Wissler were married last evening at the home of the bride, 100 East Ruff street, by Rev. J. E. Snyder of the Presbyterian church. Only relatives of the bride and groom and a few friends witnessed the ceremony. The house was prettily decorated with flowers and a supper was served at the conclusion of the ceremony. The young people went to Walla Walla last night and will go tonight to La Grande where the groom is in business. Miss Wissler is one of the charming Pendleton young women and will be greatly missed in social circles. Mr. Sturdivant has a large circle of friends here where he was raised and made his home until a short time ago."

Once more the Kaffee Klatch takes its place among active social organizations. The first winter-season party was held last evening at the C. P. Newlin home with Mr. and Mrs. Newlin and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newlin hosts. Several special guests were in attendance and all enjoyed the initial party of the year greatly. Asters were profusely applied in the scheme of decorations.

Eight tables were in evidence, and at cards Mrs. John Thiesen, a special guest, scored highest among ladies while George T. Cochran won the gentlemen's high honors.

The first fall and winter afternoon session will be held October 13th with Mrs. Jay Van Buren as hostess.

The P. E. Chapter I met Friday afternoon with Mrs. E. P. Mossman. After an interesting business session Mrs. G. T. Darland read a paper on "The Origin of Early and Modern Drama." She gave also a sketch of the life of Ibsen, who has been an influential figure in development of modern drama. Refreshments were served followed by a social hour.

Ephram R. Dawson and Ida Kunst were married at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage on Monday of this week. Mr. and Mrs. Dawson will live at Vincent this winter but will return to La Grande to live permanently in the Spring.

Prof. E. C. Jacobson and Miss Ethel Perley were married Thursday night, and will leave tomorrow night for Porto Rico where Professor Jacobson has accepted a position to teach in a college.

Mrs. Jay Van Buren will entertain the Thursday Bridge Club at her home next Thursday afternoon.

Irwin McKenzie and Millie Birchfield, both of Union county, were united in marriage by Justice of the Peace Williams, Oct. 2, 1916.

PERSONAL MENTION

W. A. Maxwell and M. F. Davis were among the business visitors from Union today.

Cy H. Pruner of Portland, agency supervisor of the Oregon Life Insurance Co., is in La Grande on business.

Miss Richardson, of Wisconsin, who is visiting her sister Mrs. Palmer left today for Baker to spend a few days.

Mrs. Viola Nelson of Enterprise is a guest of Mrs. Leo Davis at 1426 V avenue.

W. A. Winters, district superintendent of the Methodist church in this district, went to Cove today noon on official business.

Mrs. L. W. Morgan and daughter Betty-May leave tonight for Quebec to be gone about a month visiting Mrs. Morgan's mother.

Prof. McAusland, who is giving the extension lectures on salesmanship, went to Hot Lake today to spend the week-end and Sunday.

Mrs. Coon of the Golden Rule company has been called to Baker by the sudden death of her brother-in-law M. West.

Mrs. Mary White, who has been visiting here daughter in Sumpter, has returned for a short stay with her mother, Mrs. E. J. Lane. On account of the rapid improvement of the latter, Mrs. White will soon return to her home in Athabaska, Canada.

G. M. Taal, aged resident of La Grande, has been in very poor health the past few days. Mrs. Wm. Condit, a daughter, and other members of the family have been constantly with him. Mr. Taal is nearing his ninetieth year and the worst fears regarding him may be realized at any time.

H. Boylen, a prominent sheep man of Pilot Rock, was in La Grande this morning en route to Wallowa county where he expects to load out six cars of ewes for today's stock train. The sheep will be taken to Echo for the winter.

Mrs. I. E. Moore, of Halfway, has been in La Grande the past two days on a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Sam Parker. Mrs. Moore left this morning for Elgin to visit her sons and will perhaps remain in that section the ensuing few months.

Mexican Beans Like Booze.
Pierre, S. D., Oct. 7.—The elimination of the enlivening Mexican Peyota bean from the diet of the South Dakota Reservation Indians is the mission of Earl B. Putt, a chemist, who left for Washington today to obtain anti-bean legislation. The bean is supposedly a substitute for booze, which, as booze is barred from the Indians.

A brew from the bean causes the Indians to grow utterly indifferent to bulldogs and to see pink elephants with wings. Putt doesn't know whether to tackle the job under the Harrison drug law or the Indian anti-firewater regulations.
