POLITICAL ISSUES REVIEWED

BY GEORGE CREEL
(Written For The Democratic National Committee)

New York, Oct. 16.—(United Press)—Because Mr. Hughes and Mr. Roosevelt put their faith in hypocrisy, is that any reason why the American people should become hypocrites? The whole country trembled while the shadow of a railroad strike rested on the land. It meant loss to all and ruin to many. Also a vast suffering beyond estimation. That the strike should be averted was a universal prayer.

Not a suggestion came from Mr. Hughes or Mr. Roosevelt. They hid in storm cellars. No business man or politician came forward with a big idea the whole thing was put up to Woodrow Wilson just as very other problem has been put to him. And as in every other case, he delivered the goods.

The crisis over, however, up popped the Candidate and the Colonel. Great wagging of heads and wringing of hands! The sacred principle of arbitration had been abandoned! President Wilson had yielded to the blackmail of the unions. Business of moaning!

It so happens that all this hypocrisy is not unmixd with falsehood. The brotherhoods made no demand for the passage of an eight hour law. The principle of arbitration was not abandoned. Before requesting the opinion stated flatly that he stood for the eight hour day, and that he did not regard the principle as arbitrable. Time and a half for overtime, asked by the unions, and increased rates, asked by the railroads were arbitrable.

The Adamson law is nothing more than a nine months' test upon which arbitration can be based. At the end of the test the whole matter goes back to Congress for final action. The brotherhoods agreed to this as fair and called off the strike. Franklin Underwood, president of the Eric, has given out a statement voluntarily praising President Wilson for his course. Only Mr. Hughes remains bitter and unconvinced. Only the mean and stupid refuse to see the courage and wisdom of the action that saved the nation from disaster even while paving the way for legislation that will end the menace of industrial war.

BY GEORGE G. HILL
(Written For The Republican National Committee)

New York, Oct. 16.—(United Press)—No policy of the Wilson administration better illustrates its inefficiency and its indifference to the comfort and welfare of the people than that which it has pursued with regard to the National Guard.

No patriotic American can object to the President's calling upon the National Guard to aid the regular army in protecting the territory of the United States when an emergency makes that course necessary. Many people are convinced that had Mr. Wilson faced the facts regarding Mexico, instead of sneering at those who advocated preparedness, in his message to Congress of December 1914, he would have appreciated the necessity of increasing the regular army and thus have avoided the necessity of calling upon the militia this summer, but that is another proposition.

When called upon the National Guard responded loyally and cheerfully and hastened to the border as rapidly as conditions would permit. After a time General Order No. 20 was issued. This provided that the heads of families and those having others dependent upon them should be relieved. The order was proclaimed to the public and many wives, dependent mothers and others hailed it with delight. But there appears to have been another order, privately issued, which effect nullified Order N. 20, for many men whose loved ones were actually in want, or were being supported by the patriotic donations of the communities in which they lived, sought to obtain their discharge under Order No. 20 and were met with the information from their officers that they were forbidden to make such application.

There appears to be no good reason for keeping the guardsmen of the border all this time. A redistribution of the command of General Pershing along the border, the assembling of a greater force of regulars, etc., and sterner, more emphatic methods of dealing with Carranza would doubtless have made possible the release of at least all those who have wives or others dependent upon them for support, if only administration regarded that end of sufficient importance to warrant its attention.

How Catarrh Is Contracted.

Mothers are sometimes so thoughtless as to neglect the cools which their children contract. The inflammation of the mucus membrane, at first acute, becomes chronic and the child has chronic catarrh, a disease that is seldom cured and that may prove a life's burden. Many persons who have this loathsome disease will remember having had frequent colds at the time it was contracted. A little forethought, a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judiciously used, and all this trouble might have been avoided. Obtainable everywhere.

Homeless.
Star, be my candle bright,
Far in the sky;
Moon, watch me from thine height
With thy calm eye;

Snow, take me to thy breast;
There let me cling;
Night, shield my wearied rest
'Neath thy dark wing;

Wind, as thy fingers strong
O'er tree-harps sweep,
Sing me thy wild, sweet song;
Lull me to sleep.
—Irene H. Wilson, in The Christian Herald.

Despondency.
When you feel discouraged and despondent do not give up but take a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets and you are almost certain to feel all right within a day or two. Despondency is very often due to indigestion and biliousness, for which these tablets are especially valuable. Obtainable everywhere.

Western Chips May Cut High Paper Cost.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 16.—Uncle Sam's forest products laboratory has been working to find a solution for the high price of print paper and thinks the solution is, in part, in the use of Western wood chips for Eastern mills. Methods have been devised by which Western wood, good for pulp, can be cut into chips and baled for easy handling and the only question is now that of freight rates. The Wisconsin mills are negotiating for some trainload shipments of these chips and if the freight rates can be made reasonable several trainloads will be used. It is probable that rates can be secured sufficiently low to meet the competitive Canadian wood pulp.

Arbitration
is the twentieth century means of settling disputes.

In time, Arbitration should supplant war in deciding differences between great nations. Acceptance of the principle of Arbitration will render great industrial strikes impossible—and even minor differences will come to be settled by this means. Impartial judges can be counted upon to render fair decisions.

To impartial judges of roofing, we will always be willing to leave decision as to the comparative merits of roofings, confident that intelligent investigation will result in a decision for

Certain-teed Roofing

An investigation into methods of manufacturing would show that only the best quality of roofing felts is used in CERTAIN-TEED roofing. This is thoroughly saturated with a blend of soft asphalt—the formula of the General's Board of Expert Chemists. It is then coated with a blend of harder asphalt, which forms an impervious coating and prevents the inner saturation from drying out.

This explains why CERTAIN-TEED outlives ordinary roofing, and why it is possible to guarantee it for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to ply (1, 2 or 3). The responsibility of the world's largest manufacturer of roofings and building papers is behind this guarantee; which is conservative, as experience proves that CERTAIN-TEED outlives the period of guarantee.

The General makes one third of America's supply of asphalt roll roofing. His facilities are unequalled, and he is able to produce the highest quality roofing at the lowest manufacturing cost.

CERTAIN-TEED is made in rolls; also in a slate-surfaced shingles. There is a type of CERTAIN-TEED for every kind of building, with flat or pitched roofs, from the largest sky-scraper to the smallest residence or out building.

CERTAIN-TEED is sold by responsible dealers all over the world, at reasonable prices. Investigate it before you decide on any type of roof.
