The society play is more and more coming into its own. Producers are learning many things, and one of them is the great attraction which this sort of play presents to women. They like to see the hero in chap and sombrero, the heroine in calico or tatters, when the story demands—but they also want to gaze upon heroes and heroines in evening clothes of the latest mode.

To be beautiful in an evening gown requires more than a pretty face. Shapely arms are most necessary. And there is many a pretty girl whose arms are too plump or too thin, whose elbows are prominent or her wrists bony.

A Los Angeles photographer, in a recent display of picture stars in evening gowns, selected four of Triangle's actresses as possessing unusual symmetry of arms and shoulders.

Norma Talmadge, one of the quartette, has been starred in a number of Triangle-Fine Arts features, her latest vehicle being "The Social Secretary." Lucille Young, also of the Fine Arts studios, has appeared in several "siren" characterizations for the Triangle program, and has a prominent role in the new picture starring Sir Herbert Tree, "The Old Folks at Home."

Alice Taafe, of the Triangle-Ince forces, is seventeen years old. She had her first important role in "Not My Sister," with Bessie Barriscale, playing the role of the younger sister. Helen Bray, after finishing her education at a convent school, recently became one of the liveliest members of the Triangle-Keystone family.

Ease and comfort of motion—unconsciousness of any restraint—permit this freedom, this joy and zest which gives true expression to beauty.

It is along these lines—taking health and joy in life as a basis—that

For County Assessor.

I am now serving my first term as County Assessor. During that time I have endeavored to conduct the affairs of the office, as economically as consistent with good service, with the special view of assessing all property on an absolutely fair basis, and believe the records of the office will show good results along the line of equalizing assessments, as well as the placing of these assessments, and extending the different levies of the several taxing districts in the tax rolls, in a neat and businesslike manner.

I respectfully invite the voters to get first hand information, regarding the efficiency of the work accomplished in this office. On this record, I ask for re-election at your hands on Nov. 7th and if elected pledge continuation along these lines.
