PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Ada Roush, a photographer, has returned from a visit with her brother in Madras.

Dan Boyd returned home this morning, after having attended the Supreme court session at Pendleton yesterday.

George Miller of Lower Cove was in town today. Mr. Miller was recently critically ill with pneumonia, and his many friends welcome his return to activity again.

J. A. Eggleston, a Wallowa county rancher, who seeks the joint representation from Union and Wallowa counties on the Democratic ticket, is in La Grande today. He expects to spend the rest of the week in Union county campaigning for the office he seeks.

Mrs. Woods has returned to her home in Eagle Valley after spending two weeks with her daughter Mrs. G. W. Masten on U avenue. Mrs. Woods attended the W. C. T. U. convention in Pendleton as a delegate from Baker county. She is a state and county worker for that body of women.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman and Miss Van Dyke, who rendered a most delightful recital at the Methodist church last evening, left this morning for Pendleton where they give a recital tonight. From there they return to their home in Portland.

Chas. Jester went to Imbler today on Modern Woodman business. He announces that a class of eight will be ready for initiation into the La Grande camp tomorrow evening. Lodge takes up at 7:30 promptly.

Creek Puts Out Fire.

Canyon City, Oct. 31.—(Special)—Had it not been for the cooling and friendly waters of Canyon creek J. D. Combs, of John Day, might have been incinerated Monday. He was driving his car and had proceeded about a mile up the creek. He had trouble with his car. As it had been reported that water had been found in the gasoline, he suspected that that was his trouble. He got under the car to draw off some of the gas in order to test it. His clothes and hands had become saturated with the gasoline. Carelessly he struck a match to light a cigar, after he got from under the car. Instantly he was a flaming torch. In about three jumps he landed into Canyon creek and he never
