

How to Select Your Corset

DECIDE first that your figure is individual—that you need a corset designed for you. Then look at the 9 Ideal Figure Types and choose yours.

Next, come to us and let us show you the many Gossards we have in stock in your size, designed for your ideal figure type.

Then your selection is reduced to the amount you want to pay, from $25.00 down to $2.50.

This is the Thirty-first Announcement and Proclamation of Gossard Corset Styles for Fall and Winter, 1916-17

In addition to comfort, wearing service and great value, you obtain authentic style in Gossards. Gossards wear longer because of their materials. They are in style longer because of the advanced style information of their designers, which is reflected in the corsets.

Selecting your Gossard here insures intelligent service. Be fitted today. A model for every figure at a price any woman can well afford. An expert corsetiere will be pleased to fit you without obligation.

GOSSARD CORSETS

SCENE FROM "THE EVIL WOMEN DO."

At Sherry's because a well bred and beautiful girl objected to her father marrying, as his second wife, a Parisian adventuress, she paid dearly. The senile old Count Handry was obdurate, married the woman and in the end lost his fortune. That was not all, for the adventuress so demeaned herself, with others of her kind, that the foolish old man nearly made matters worse by taking his own life. Meanwhile his daughter, driven to desperation by the domination of the sinful wife, had left home and came close to being wrecked on the rocks of adversity. How all things were set right even to the visitation of retribution upon the iniquitous woman, will be made clear at the Sherry theatre today and tomorrow when "The Evil Women Do" will be displayed in Bluebird Photo-plays with Elsie Jane Wilson playing the adventuress; France La Billington the grievously distressed heroine, and Rupert Julian impersonating the foolish old man who was overcome by woman's wiles. Hobart Henley, lately prominent in the "Graft" serial shown in photoplays; Sianey Dean, Douglas Gerrard, Tom Lockhart and C. N. Hammond will be the supporting company. Based upon Emil Gabotiau's famous detective story, "The Circus of Gold," the entertaining qualities of "The Evil Women Do" will be developed in its stirring situations, gripping episodes and faithful portrayals of characters in Parisian life.

ARCADE

Bessie Barriscale and William, Desmond at Arcade Wednesday.

Beatrice, (Bessie Barriscale) is a nun, known to the rest of her sisterhood as the "Lily" because of her great goodness and purity, hears for the first time in her life of the real wickedness of the world without the convent walls, when the Prince Candoni brings his ward, the Contessa Angelica de Vecchio, to the place for refusing to give up her low-born lover, Carlo Parodi. The contessa dies, pining for her lover. And Parodi is released from prison where he has been kept because of his marriage.

Beatrice steals away from the convent one night and meets Parodi just as he is being released. She tells him of the sad death of the contessa; and his heart filled with the desire for revenge, he takes Beatrice with him to a meeting of workmen led by Guido Barli, an atheist. These workmen are laying plans for the overthrow of the tyrant Prince Candoni. Beatrice calls Guido to task for his atheism, and they fall in love. She converts him to religion.

Then, when Guido is consoling the wife of a comrade who has met with misfortune, Beatrice sees him holding the woman in his arms, concludes that he is faithless and leaves him. Finding her gone, Guido becomes bitter and returns to his old beliefs. He goes to his eager band and bids them storm the palace of the prince.

Beatrice hears of their intention and warns the prince that they are coming. He at once summons the soldiers and a bloody battle takes place in which most of the workmen are killed.

The future has but one solution for the dying Guido and the remorseful Beatrice; and how it works out is the finish of the film.
