"THE REWARD OF PATIENCE"

Reviewed by Genevieve Harris in Motography.

Patience was rewarded, after the sorrows which come to her throughout the five reels of this picture, by a final union with the man she loved from the first scene. Louise Huff, in the title role of this Paramount picture that shows at the Arcade today and tomorrow plays the little Quaker maid with a wistful gentleness which is appealing.

While the story of the play is not unusual in any way, and the principal situations have been used many times before, the marriage for money, the estrangement of husband and wife because of the former's devotion to work, the death of the wife and her lover, leaving the husband free to marry the girl he really loves, still it is presented in a fashion so pleasing and with so many human touches that it will have slight trouble "getting by."

The beginning scenes in the little Quaker town start the play out well, especially those containing the children, the Sunday school episode, and others. These, and the pleasing exterior scenes, are enjoyable. Then the story shifts to the city, and the little Quaker girl plays a prominent part as a secretary in the home of the hero during his short and unhappy married career.

John Bowers is well chosen as the hero, Robert Penfield, Lottie Pickford, who reappears after a long absence from the screen, has the role of Edith, who married Robert for his money, a bargain both regret. Adolph Menjou plays Paul Dunstan, with whom Edith elopes. Kate Lester appears as Robert's mother. The story is by Shannon Fife.

The Story: Robert Penfield, a civil engineer, comes to the Quaker village of Amity Center to supervise the building of a bridge. He and Patience, a Quaker girl, become good friends, and when the father of Patience dies, Robert recommends the girl as a companion for his mother. Patience has fallen in love with Robert and is deeply wounded when she learns, at his mother's home, that he is to marry a girl of his own class. This girl, Edith, is in love with Paul Dunstan, but marries the wealthier Robert.

After the marriage, Robert's mother goes abroad but Patience remains as secretary to Edith. She manages Edith's affairs and, after a baby is born, supervises its care while its mother resumes her flirtation with Dunstan. Robert, absorbed in his work, does not realize the situation. Edith is jealous of Patience and of Robert's interest in her welfare, and discharges her. A little later, when Dunstan inherits a fortune, she plans to elope with him. The two are killed on the runaway trip, and Robert is free to go in search of Patience, who had returned to her native village and was entertaining thoughts of suicide.

New Pickford Films To Be Here.

An announcement of interest to lovers of high class photo-plays is that the new Mary Pickford pictures that have been taking the country by storm will be shown in La Grande in the near future. The Arcade theatre closed a contract for these pictures yesterday when Guy Navarre, assistant manager for the Seattle office, was in the city. These pictures came high but the management considers that nothing is too good for their patrons and are always striving to secure the best in the film world for them. It is not known just at this time the date for the showing of the first picture but it is thought it will be along about the middle of December.

SHERRY'S

Theda Bara Is Star in Tale of Poor Girl.

The story of a woman who deliberately takes the place of another she believes dead, and is called to account after she has fallen in love with the man who befriended her, makes Theda Bara's new photoplay for William Fox one of exceptionally gripping heart-interest. In "Her Double Life," Miss Bara plays the part of Mary Doone, who begins life at a disadvantage, as a child of the slums. She works her way to a high position in London society—then comes the discovery, and all is over.

Mrs. P. O. Stuchell Tells How She Cured Her Son of a Cold.

"When my son Ellis was sick with a cold last winter I gave him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It helped him at once and quickly broke up his cold," writes Mrs. P. O. Stuchell, Homer City, Pa. This remedy has been in use for many years. Its good qualities have been fully proven by many thousands of people. It is pleasant and safe to take.—Adv.

Cost Of Living Rises.

New York, November 24.—(Special.)—The people of America are not the only ones who are suffering from the increased cost of living. We are apt to believe when difficulties beset us that we are the only ones who have to face the problem and who deserve sympathy. In the necessities and comforts to which we are reasonably entitled, however, the advance that has been made in their price, has not been peculiar to this country, but is apparently general throughout the world.

One of the largest banking institutions in New York has been receiving world-wide reports, and has made up a statement, that is most instructive on this subject. It finds among other things that the advanced cost for the necessities of life is not confined to those countries that are even remotely affected by the war. Increase in cost has come apparently because it is possible rather than from any justification. The people of Jamaica have advanced the price for their log wood to three times what it was a couple of years ago. The indigo growers of India have made their prices ten times what they were before the beginning of the war. Chinese and Japanese silks have doubled in price in the last two years. So on it goes down the list. Even those commodities where there is the least possible reason for increase have gone up tremendously. The high price for eggs is by no means confined to this country, nor to those where war prevails. Macaroni, cocoa, mackerel and cheese are universally high, and the important point is that the increased figures are quoted for them at the place where they are grown or manufactured and the advance in freight rates and ocean carrying is only incidental to the burdens placed upon the consumer.

Come In And Let Me Tell You About My New Farm Loan

A 20 Year Amortized Rural Credit Loan
No Commission No Renewals

TO UNION COUNTY FARMERS:-

For several years I have been working and planning for easier money to loan on good old Grand Ronde farm lands.

Finally I have arranged with one of the largest loaning companies (a company that has $85,000,000 loaned to the farmers of the West) for a real Rural Credit loan based on a 20-year amortized plan. 20 equal payments of but little more than current interest pays off your entire debt.

You pay no commissions, choose your own date of payment and pay at your own bank. You can pay any amount of your loan at any time. This plan figures you a saving of nearly 3 per cent over the usual farm loan made heretofore in this county. If interested call and let me explain fully.
