HORSE SCHOOL IS PROPOSED

Eastern Oregon Can Have Such An Institution at Pendleton if Horse Men So Desire.

Pendleton, Dec. 20.—(Special)—If the horsemen of Umatilla county and Eastern Oregon will signify their interest in the proposed horse school here under the direction of the Oregon Agricultural college, Dr. C. W. Lassen has volunteered to provide a place for the school. He is of the opinion that the school will be of benefit to the horsemen and is anxious to have it established. In order to determine that it will have sufficient attendance he has asked that all horsemen in this part of the state write him of their intention to come. "The school will be of particular interest to all horsemen but particularly to those owning and handling stallions," said the doctor. "It will be an opportunity to hear the opinion of experts on the various matters which come up every day in the handling of these animals. The instruction will be given by competent authorities and in such a manner that it will be remembered."

"The lines that will be taken up are anatomy, dissection, artificial impregnation, horse judging, breeding and feeding. The only requirement asked by the college is a place for the meeting and I will undertake to supply this if the horsemen of the section show enough interest to warrant the establishment of the school."

It is expected that the school will be held during the month of February or March, but it is necessary to make preparations at this time in order to establish the date and avoid conflicts.

The Parsees of India.

It was at a point near the ancient city of Surat that the Parsees first landed in India when driven out of Persia by their Mohammedan conquerors eleven centuries ago. Few things are more remarkable than the manner in which this small community has retained its religious and racial characteristics unchanged during that long period. The peculiar style of headdress worn by the Parsees is said to have been made compulsory by the Hindu king of India when the Parsees first obtained refuge in that country, and they have used it ever since. Today the Parsees are the leading commercial nation of India.

Revenge.

"Well, my old girl is to be married tomorrow. Wish I knew how to get revenge on the fellow she's going to wed."

"I tell you what to do."

"What?"

"In about a year from now look him up and laugh in his face."—Florida Times-Union.

Early to Bed.

London, Dec. 18.—Women spies interned in a camp near here have lodged a violent protest against the operation of the Summer Time Act. Under the old order of things, the women went to bed at 9:30. Under the Act, the clock was set ahead an hour but they must still go to bed at the same time. They claim they will refuse to retire before dark.
