Getting along in the World

His Smile Makes Him Money.

If you speak to a friend of J. Leonard Replegle, a young man who has attracted attention by his success as a financier, he will say that Replegle's smile helped him to succeed. In the January American Magazine a writer says:

"In Replegle's struggle to reach the pinnacle of fame and fortune is a story which would rival one of Horatio Alger's thrillers. Twenty-seven years ago a sturdy, bright-eyed, red-cheeked boy of eleven became an errand boy in the big Cambria Steel plant at Johnstown, Pennsylvania. The son of a struggling family of six, the boy had to leave school after the Johnstown flood had cut a large hole in the family purse.

"Young Replegle made good at once. He had a captivating smile which won friends, the same smile that later won the confidence and trust of older and more experienced men. The smile—it is almost a grin—is one of Replegle's biggest assets. It is a money-maker.

"For three years he carried messages, and then became a clerk. The shipping department was his next step forward, and after a year there young Replegle decided he would be a real steel man some day, so entered the mills. At eighteen he was assistant superintendent of the forge and axle department, and three years later advanced to superintendent, being the youngest man ever to hold that position.

"Not content with this success, he sought new fields of conquest. Night and day he studied the steel industry. It was not long before the executives realized they had a future steel magnate, and before Replegle was twenty-five he became assistant to the general manager. Less than five years later he was general superintendent of the order department."

Chamberlain's Tablets.

Chamberlain's Tablets are intended especially for stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation, and have met with much success in the treatment of those diseases. People who have suffered for years with stomach trouble and have been unable to obtain any permanent relief, have been completely cured by the use of these tablets. Chamberlain's Tablets are also of great value for biliousness. Chronic constipation may be permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Tablets and observing the plain printed directions with each bottle. —Adv.

This Fellow Discarded Sham and Deceit

In the January American Magazine a man who had tried to make himself appear more wealthy than he was says:

"I realize sharply that I had bought the cigars because they were cheap. And I also realize that my uncle must certainly have seen that I was trying to explain the fact away with a nice-sounding, easy little lie.

"That and other incidents in the course of my straightforward uncle's visit proved a tonic. I lay awake that night recalling how often I was led into petty and useless lies by this pernicious habit of trying to make myself seem different from what I actually was.

"In the next few days I studied myself and realized even more clearly what a grip the habit had on me. I gradually came to see how much finer it would be to let the fact speak for themselves. In the case of things I could not afford, I reasoned, my friends would see through my bluff if I tried to explain. They would see I was both poor and ashamed of being poor. I resolved not to be ashamed. I would stand boldly before my friends for what I was and had.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This is not only one of the best and most efficient medicine for coughs, colds and croup, but is also pleasant and safe to take, which is important when medicine must be given to children. Many mothers have given it their unqualified endorsement. —Adv.

SOLID COMFORT

Standing, Sitting or Lying Down

When you stop to think that you spend between five and six thousand hours every year in your corset, you must realize how important it is that you have a perfectly comfortable corset. A poorly fitting corset frequently leads to severe nervous and organic troubles which cause years of suffering. In the MODART Corset we have a garment that always gives genuine comfort, sitting, standing or lying down.

wooden leg to the Queen of Italy under the impression that she was a Red Cross nurse, was told here today for the first time.

C. C. Swain, a breezy drummer for an artificial limb maker of Wash., D.C. had been doing his best to place an order with the hospital committee representing the Italian government. Just as he was on the verge of giving the gentlemen up as bad prospects in came a most charming black eyed nurse and Charlie, taking heart, started all over again for her benefit.

"It's all a question of getting used to it," said Swain. "See, I can spin around on mine like a top!" Swain suited the action to the word. For Swain's best sample was his own left leg.

The Red Cross nurse was intensely interested.

Swain unwound every inch of his line of talk. Over the mysterious frowns and restlessness of the committeemen he gave her much unsolicited information. He told her of his climb to the sky-scraping dome of St. Peter's. If she didn't believe it, she could ask the guide who had seen his performance and had received his card.

Afterward, he caught up a chair and danced the "grizzly bear," gliding gradually into a "hesitation." He ended his dancing spree with a bit of the "tango." Apparently amazed and amused at his stunts, the black-eyed nurse made her thanks and disappeared.

The American salesman, thereupon, turned again to the committee. He met a thundering storm of wrath. "Fool! Fool!" roared the chœurs of voices "Didn't you know that was Her Majesty, Elona Queen of Italy!"

"Holy Smokes!" sighed Swain. "To think I had had a golden opportunity and used it like a nickle-plate one!"
