BILLY MISKE HAS ARRIVED

BY H. C. HAMILTON.

(United Press Staff Correspondence.) New York, Jan. 2.—Billy Miske, for years only a mediocre middleweight, has arrived. He's a light heavyweight now and he's spending most of his time wrecking the hopes of others in the same brigade.

A few nights ago Miske fought Jack Dillon, the terrible Hoosier light heavyweight. Miske didn't beat Dillon, but he did make things so interesting that if Dillon hadn't fought back with all the speed and science he possessed Indiana would have mourned a dethroned idol. They're trying now to match the two for a return battle and if it goes through there will be a regular old-fashioned slam-bang tussle, and somebody is pretty certain to get hurt. Miske isn't clever. He's almost clumsy, but he's one of the clumsy boys who gets results. He has a long, sneaky left that stabs in and out, making it decidedly uncomfortable for the men at the other end of the arm. He pestered Dillon with it until Dillon got mad and developed a habit of reaching up and pulling it off his chin, then whipping over one of his own.

Recently Miske fought Battling Levinsky, who has quite a left of his own. But Miske matched lefts with him and proved he was good at it as Levinsky. He plastered Levinsky all over the ring and earned a clean-cut decision.

Miske is being seriously considered as the logical choice to send all the big heavies against in an attempt to get some one to send against Jess Willard.

TERSE TOLD TALES

The race is not always to the swift—even in six day races. Sleep is one of the best spectators.

Ho-ho-ho Hub! They've nominated

Roger Bresnahan as manager of the Red Sox.

Eddie Mahan quit the University of California because they wouldn't let him work, thereby shattering every precedent in athletics.

Bob Folwell went to Pennsylvania to play the "all-American" football team. Well, Bill Clymer challenged the Red Sox for Louisville.

The Cubs changed from Tampa to Pasadena for training grounds, but Tampa must be given credit for standing a lot of punishment.

HOW RED CROSS SEAL IDEA CAME INTO BEING.

Originating in Norway, Method Was Taken Up Here Nine Years Ago.

Over $3,250,000 has been raised by Red Cross Christmas Seals in the last eight years, and yet many people who will buy these holidays stickers at this ninth annual sale do not know how this idea originated.

While Red Cross Seals really date back to the Civil War when "Charity Stamps" were first used, the first campaign to sell holiday stickers for the tuberculosis fight was only nine years ago in Delaware. Miss Emily P. Bissel of Wilmington read an article by Jacob Riis describing stamps used for tuberculosis work in Norway, and she conceived the idea of a similar plan here. Single handed, she launched a sale which resulted in $3,000 clear money. When Miss Bissel tried to convince the American Red Cross that this idea should be made national as a peace activity of that society, she met with opposition but finally persuaded the authorities, with the result that on an investment of a few hundred dollars, $135,000 worth of seals was sold in 1908 and the great national campaign was launched. Since then the sale has gone forward with leaps and bounds, until now the Red Cross Seal is an institution in the United States, and offers to every one the chance to help in the people's fight against the people's disease. Last year over 76,000,000 Seals were sold and this year the American Red Cross and The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis who conduct the sale, are out for a 100,000,000 sale of $1,000,000 for the Tuberculosis War.

The policy on which the sale is conducted is that money, except for the deduction of legitimate expenses, shall remain in the community where the Seals are sold.

Men Are Always Willing to Give Advice

There is an interesting article in the January Woman's Home Companion in which a writer who thinks women give a lot of advice also scores the men and says:

"On the other hand, lest I be accused of being unfair to my sex, I want to say that men are far more active in that offensive form of personality known as giving Unasked Advice—see above—than woman. The speech, 'I'll tell you exactly what to do,' comes over so trippingly to the masculine tongue. They cannot see another human being buying stocks or golf balls or real estate or motors, or engaging in any activity of life, commercial, social or religious, without telling him or her how the thing should be done. Most men, and especially those who have been a little successful in some one line of business feel that they are therefore perfectly competent to advise on art, science, or anything else. Look at all the smart farmers who think they can play the stock markets—and end by mortgaging the farm."

KAMELA CORRESPONDENCE

Kamela, Ore., Jan. 2.—(Special)—Eng. Schubert, wife and two daughters, Bessie and Florence, left Sunday morning for Los Angeles, Cal., where they expect to make a short stay and then go to Sheridan, Wyoming, to visit Mr. Schubert's mother before returning.

Mrs. C. M. Hutcheson and daughter are home from Seattle, spending the holidays with Mr. Hutcheson.

Mrs. Frank Hanlin returned home Friday evening on 18 from Pendleton, where she has been with her mother, who is quite ill.

Mr. Nordine is spending Sunday in Kamela.

Mr. Holesaple and Mr. Kieth have come in from Mentzerville with their families to spend the winter in Kamela. They intend to build tent houses to live in.

Grandma Swanger has been in bed with la grippe since Tuesday, the 26th.

George White has been plowing the roads to make them better as it is almost impossible to haul wood over them in the condition they are in at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Pitcock went to La Grande Monday to spend New Years with Mr. Pitcock's father.

It snowed Monday morning.

IMBLER

Imbler, Ore., Jan. 2.—(Special)—Miss Mabel Tuttle returned to Spokane Sunday, after a week's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Tuttle. A young sister, Miss Blanch, left Friday for Seattle where she is attending the University of Washington.

Mrs. Blanch Dusenberry and her daughters, Charlotte and Lucile, are here from Weiser, Idaho, visiting Mrs. Dusenberry's twin sister, Mrs. E. E. Hurley.

Lyle Wilson is recovering from a severe attack of tonsillitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fox returned to Union Monday, where Mr. Fox will resume his work in the Union high school on January 2.

Miss Mae Bingaman has been ill for a couple of weeks and at first it was feared that the young lady had diphtheria, but happily it proved to be only a severe case of sore throat.

The measles quarantine at the Mrs. E. Johnson home was lifted Friday, only one child having contracted the disease.

Schools in and near Imbler assembled January 2.

Clyde Kiddle has assumed control of the "Co-op" store and remnant stock left from the closing out sale, and is re-stocking. Walter Westfall, instead of farming as recently planned, will remain in the merchandise work, as Mr. Kiddle's employe and will hire help to run his fruit and dairy ranch.

Saturday night's basketball game between Imbler and Summerville was a one-sided affair, the visitors being a newly organized team, while Imbler's players were more experienced, and the score became so uneven that spectators lost enthusiasm. However, with practice, the Summerville boys will become worthy antagonists.

Misses Parilla Keefer and Estella Martin were hostesses to about 25 of their friends at a taffy pulling at the Charley Cleaver home Saturday evening. A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all who attended. The time was spent in pulling taffy and playing games.

I. A. Bingaman, Will Glenn and Jim Woodell will help make up the Union county delegation of farmers who go to Corvallis for the week of lectures and experiments at the O. A. C.

J. B. Kellum will leave for Arkansas this week to join his wife, who went south last autumn. Tom Mar-
