should be seen by the German anti-aircraft gunners from below, he would be taken merely for one of the German planes.

For seventy kilometers he kept up the pursuit, concealing himself as much as possible from the German machines by keeping behind the clouds. When the French lines at last appeared below him, he emerged in full view and began to fight. The German machine nearest him chanced to be an observation plane and darting down on it he opened his machine gun fire at an altitude of two miles. He killed the observer with his third bullet and with the tenth the pilot shot from the machine dead and the plane began its whirling course down towards the French lines. Although the machine was the second one Guynemer had brought down that day, he at once started after the other three, but they in the meantime had disappeared toward their own lines.

Without further ado Guynemer started in search of his victim and succeeded in locating the machines in the ravine of Mocoourt. The plane itself shattered into fragments and the bodies of both the pilot and observer lying within a radius of sixty yards. The fight was witnessed by members of the American squadron who are now stationed where they have the advantage of witnessing some of the exploits of most of the crack "aces" of the French aerial service.

loan act is fully as important as the money-lending end, because it creates for the benefit of small and large investors a security backed by pooled first mortgages on farm lands, the proceeds being used to increase the productive power, and enhance the value of these mortgaged lands.

Since the rate of interest to the farmer depends upon the rate of interest at which these bonds will sell, congress went the limit to make these bonds attractive so they would sell at a low interest rate. The bonds are exempt from all forms of taxation. The government will not even collect any income tax upon them. No state or municipality may tax them for any purpose.

In order to make these bonds appeal to investors of all classes they are issued in denominations of from $25 to $1000.

In order to protect them against counterfeiting they are issued by the United States government bureau of engraving and printing and are protected from counterfeiters by the whole force of the United States Secret Service.

Heretofore it has been practically impossible for the small investor to buy real estate securities. A man or woman who wanted to buy $100 worth of farm securities was not able to find a farm mortgage of just that size.

In addition, the investor would not buy such a mortgage without inspecting the security. The cost and the bother were barriers which made it almost impossible for the small investor to get first mortgage securities.

Hereafter it will be possible for any investor who wants to buy farm securities from $25 up merely to apply for a federal farm loan bond of the denomination desired.

The investor will know that this bond represents $2 worth of land appraised under government supervision and that the bond was issued under government regulation.

The rate of interest at which these bonds will be issued has not yet been determined by the federal farm loan board. It is safe to predict that in the beginning it will not be less than four and not more than five per cent. So the benefits of the farm loan act are not limited to farmers who need the use of cheaper capital but they include also those persons who have money to invest and are seeking a long time, readily marketable security of undoubted value.

Editor's Note:—Tomorrow's installment will be devoted to the question of farm tenancy and how the farm loan act will aid the landless to get homes of their own.

When in Portland you will find The Observer on sale at the Oregon Hotel news stand and Imperial Hotel.
