Joseph News

Pay-Up Week Scheduled for February 19-24—First Bank Elects Officers for Coming Year.

Joseph, Ore., Jan. 20.—The Joseph Herald says, Pay-Up week, that's the stuff! Let's everybody pay up.

Pay-Up week occurs from February 19th to the 24th, inclusive. Every merchant in town is enlisted in the move to make the event a success. They are merely following in the footsteps of tradesmen in other communities and they have joined to make the movement, Joseph's first, a complete success. In other centers Pay-Up week has been a factor in arranging time worn accounts. It is a gentle reminder that the business of the world correlates around the wherewith.

A letter received by Bert Knapper from George Parrish who lately went to Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, recites that the mercury hit 51 degrees below zero there the other day with a 30-mile gale blowing. Which makes us feel like we lived in the citrus fruit belt.

A meeting of the stockholders of the First Bank of Joseph was held at the directors' rooms last Thursday. Among the business transacted was the election of officers for 1917. President F. H. Gaulke was re-elected as were Cashier F. F. McCully and Assistant Cashier H. V. Kaddery. Col. H. B. Davidhizer was elected to the position of vice-president. E. W. Rumble and F. D. McCully round out the directorate.

Plans now afoot look to the re-opening of the Joseph Cooperative Creamery company's local plant along about March 1. The machinery will probably be moved from the present location to a more central place and every effort possible made to induce the local creamery patrons to support their home enterprise. This thing of shipping Joseph cream away, and later consuming it in butter after transportation charges are paid both ways is getting to be irksome to local people generally. If there is a profit in the buttermaking process it should be kept at home. Other towns in the valley, of lesser farming country backing than Joseph find it expedient and profitable to operate creameries. Why not Joseph?

F. D. McCully left Sunday for Portland where Mrs. McCully submitted to an operation Monday. Word received in Joseph is to the effect that she rallied from the ordeal and is well on the road to recovery, a fact that will be pleasing to a large circle of friends.

A. J. Richardson purchased the Dr. Gillis residence property on Mill street from Dr. Gillis, now a resident of Milton, the deal being completed this week. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson have occupied the premises for several years. The property is one of the town's choicest residence holdings.

The local W. O. W. camp installed the following officers last Thursday evening: E. H. Boner, past consul commander; Thomas Rich, commander; D. Walker, advisor lieutenant; C. B. Boner, banker; W. L. Walker, clerk; William Platzoeder, escort; Percy Runstadler, watchman; Albert Walker, sentry; Carl Christensen and Henry Fairchild, managers; Dr. A. Mount, physician.

The Herald is in receipt of a card from J. T. McClain, who recently moved to near Caldwell, Idaho, where he and Mrs. McClain are now nicely located on a farm. Mr. McClain says he thinks he can grow all kinds of watermelons and the tenderest vegetables there and is delighted with his new location.

Good Ship Economy Sails Over White Goods Waves

If You Have Money Left, Don't Worry, the January White Sales'll Get You—Not Trimming Sails, But Being Trimmed By Sales Is Idea—Don't Be Surprised If a Streak of Yellow Appears on the Purest Silk Combinations—Or Several Other Things—Women, Beware the Call of the Lorelei.

BY MARGARET MASON (Written for The United Press) With mines and U-Boats acting up. This much consoleth me: Since I can't go to sea to sail, I'll go to sale to see.

New York, Jan. 19.—If you still have a little money left after Xmas and New Years don't worry, you won't have it after the January white sales.

In nautical tactics they speak of trimming the sails but in shopping tactics it is the sales that trim you. Fortunately, however, as you note the set of a washable satin chemise in the privacy of your boudoir mirror you have the consolation of knowing that they trim you in more ways than one.

January white sales have become as established a custom in all the best shops as well as furniture sales in August. I don't quite see how they have the face to call them white sales anymore however. The daring cut of some of the newest lingerie has certainly caused a blushing pinkness to prevail and the alleged white sale is no longer pure white or pure or white.

Things are even beginning to look a bit black for the white sale. What with all the present craze for black Chantilly lingerie, nobody would ever be afraid to go to bed in the dark if it was in one of the exquisite new black Chantilly nighties. They are almost as light as they are dark anyway, if not more so.

A streak of yellow appears often on the purest silk combinations and mauve, cerise and Copenhagen disrupt the pink perfection of many a combination and chemise.

For those that have pink silk yearnings and only pink cotton earnings the pink batiste lingerie this season is really lovely. I saw a bird of a pair of pink wash crepe pajamas dotted all over with blue birds and a pink crepe nightie covered with blue and white butter flies that was a decidedly fly little garment.

The white sales not only offers covering for your back but for your bed and board as well.

The linen sheets hemstitched embrodered, monogrammed and inset with laces are marked down sufficiently to tempt the tightest of tight ends and as for the table linen well no one can resist it.

Either your table linen must be elegantly and elegantly plain or it must be profusely and lavishly ornate. You can see that at the very first glimpse at the white sales.

The war time Penelopes in Belgium and France are busy turning out gossamer laces and embroideries while their lords are away. The results are table cloths, doilies, lunch cloths, napkins and luncheon sets that are fairly like in their fragile beauties. Over colored cloths of gleaming satin these lace and embroidery works of art show to advantage at luncheons, and dinners, carrying out a set color-scheme. Just to carry the dolling up of the festal board a step further, centerpieces of gold or silver gauze heavily embroidered in gold or silver threads are of brand new conceit.

For more conservative and dignified taste the plain damask cloths bordered in a broad satin stripe and monogrammed in two places with a square monogram with plain satin, stripe bordered monogrammed napkins to match cannot be improved upon. Of course an elaborate lace and embroidery piece is used in the center.

A very original and artistic housewife I know dresses her dining table up for breakfasts, home dinners and informal luncheons in natural colored crash cloths hemstitched and marked in Chinese monograms of blue with napkins done the same. With these distinctive cloths she uses a service of the Blue and White Chinese Canton chissa.

Naturally she has them made to order or makes them herself and the white sales are showing wonderful bargains in linen crash and natural linen by the yard.

Certainly with its smashing prices and crash by the yard it is no wonder every female these days hears and heeds the call of the white sale.

When the War Ends England Will Have to Reckon With Union Women

By J. H. WHITEHOUSE, Member British Parliament

AFTER the war England will have to reckon with the union woman. For years the union man has been a tremendously important figure in social and political life. Women have formed unions in some trades, but their numbers and power have been limited.

Today women have taken the place of men in industry to a very large extent, and it is women that are now organizing.

WHEN THE WAR ENDS THEY SHOULD BE IN A POSITION TO DEMAND WHAT THEY THINK IS RIGHT.

I believe that large numbers of Englishwomen who have tasted the joys of economic independence will never give it up. The whole tendency of the times has been thrusting women into the economic field, and the war has merely hastened matters. Women have taken jobs because the men who held them went away to fight, BUT WOMEN WILL NOT GIVE UP THEIR JOBS WHEN THE MEN RETURN.

To Keep Harness In Good Condition. To keep harness in the best possible condition apply oil frequently, advises C. W. McCampbell, associate professor of animal husbandry in the Kansas State Agricultural college. "Oil protects the harness from water and all kinds of weather and makes it more pliable," said Dr. McCampbell. "The farmer puts oil on harness for the same reason that he puts it on his boots. It softens the leather, making it wear longer; prevents water from rotting it and keeps the leather from getting hard and cracking."

Reducing the Apple Tree Borers. The round headed apple tree borer may be greatly reduced in numbers by destroying the common service tree when in proximity to orchards. It has been found that the tree is a favorite food plant of the insect.
