Hartridge Whipp Concert. Next Tuesday evening at the Methodist Episcopal church takes place the concert to be given by Hartridge Whipp, the noted baritone, assisted by Leonora Fisher Whipp. He comes heralded by most enthusiastic press reports from throughout the northwest, and there will be a great rush for seats at the concert. La Grande in a way is starved for music, and perhaps has become dulled to the fact partly forgetting the joy and blessing which music can bring, but the glowing accounts of this concert awaken everyone to interest and Hartridge Whipp will be greeted by a large audience. Among the many favorable press notices of his concert is the following from The Dalles Chronicle of November 10, 1916: "It was noticeable that the audience which filled the Empress theater last night to hear Hartridge Whipp, noted baritone, largely represented the audience Mr. Whipp sang to in The Dalles last spring. "Those who heard this sweet voiced singer last year were delighted with the chance of enjoying that pleasure again, which is the highest compliment for any artist. From the manner in which Mr. Whipp was received last night, he has proved himself to be one of the most popular singers ever heard here. He held his audience without a single restless moment from his opening number until the close of the program and at its finale a burst of applause shook the theater that evidenced whole-souled sincere enthusiasm for his splendid work."

New Way to Catch Wolves. Sweet Home, Ore., Jan. 26.—(United Press)—A new way of catching wolves has been discovered by Ulte Piper of this town. He believes that wolves are attracted. They are lured by the odor of musk. So he placed his traps among the trees and smears the trunks with musk. Along come the wolves, breathing deeply of their favorite perfume, wander into a trap and then Bing—five dollars bounty from the county and $20 from the state.

FRUIT GROWERS ATTENTION

Meeting at City Hall, 2 P. M., Saturday, January 27.

There has been a request on the part of a number of fruit growers that a meeting be called with the idea of ordering spray material in quantity. There is no doubt that considerable money may be saved the fruit men by getting their supplies in quantity. Of course the question of distribution, payment, etc., must be considered and this will have to be determined at this meeting. There will probably be prices from several spray companies to consider and a spray company of Payette, Idaho, will probably have a representative to meet with you.

The question of cleaning up orchards and marketing will also receive consideration. If you are a fruit grower be sure and attend.
PAUL H. SPILLMAN,
County Agricultural Agent.
