A Serious Omission. At a camp meeting where hats were used as collection baskets, the preacher said: "Let us sing while the hats are coming in." The pianist, after some fumbling with the pages turned to him and said: "I can't find it." "Beg pardon," said the preacher, not understanding. "Why," replied the pianist, "I can't find that song 'While the Hats are Coming In,' in my book."—The Christian Herald.

Hartridge Whipp Concert. Next Tuesday evening at the Methodist Episcopal church takes place the concert to be given by Hartridge Whipp, the noted baritone, assisted by Leonora Fisher Whipp.

He comes heralded by most enthusiastic press reports from throughout the northwest, and there will be a great rush for seats at the concert. La Grande in a way is starved for music, and perhaps has become dulled to the fact partly forgetting the joy and blessing which music can bring, but the glowing accounts of this concert awaken everyone to interest and Hartridge Whipp will be greeted by a large audience.

Among the many favorable press notices of his concert is the following from The Dalles Chronicle of November 10, 1916: "It was noticeable that the audience which filled the Empress theater last night to hear Hartridge Whipp, noted baritone, largely represented the audience Mr. Whipp sang to in The Dalles last spring.

"Those who heard this sweet voiced singer last year were delighted with the chance of enjoying that pleasure again, which is the highest compliment in any art. From the manner in which Mr. Whipp was received last night, he has proved himself to be one of the most popular singers ever heard here. He held his audience without a single restless moment from his opening number until the close of the program and at its finale a burst of applause shook the theater that evidenced whole-souled sincere enthusiasm for his splendid work."
