DAYLIGHT SAVING CONVENTION IN SESSION

Five Thousand Delegates Meet in New York City To See If They Can Turn the Clock Back Father Time An Hour a Day in Summer—They Believe They Can Save the Country $100,000,000 a Year.

BY GEORGE MARTIN

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
New York, Jan. 30.—Five thousand delegates to the National Daylight Saving convention came here from all over the country today to see if they can't get Father Time to show if his scythe and walk back sixty minutes the first of May.

It will be explained to the old man that he can run and catch up with the lost hour again September 30. The idea, he will be informed, is to make use of the added hour of daylight we have between those dates. We can get up an hour earlier, go to work an hour earlier, quit an hour earlier and have an extra hour of daylight to have a good time in.

It may be news to a lot of folks to know that in Cleveland and Dayton, Ohio, this daylight saving scheme has been in force for two years. Everybody knows it was used throughout Europe and in Canada last year with good results.

The old man with the scythe will have plenty of evidence presented to convince him. Borough President Marks of this city will introduce each of the speakers, among whom will be Representative William P. Borland of Missouri, whose bill making daylight saving a national law, is now pending in congress.

Then President Marks will introduce representatives of practically every civic organization in this country and delegates from England, Scotland, Russia, Poland, Holland and Canada.

Robert Garland of Pittsburg will speak for the chambers of commerce, ex-Governor John K. Tener for the health experts who want more daylight to fight the white plague; John Mitchel for the industrial commission, Mayor Mitchel, Harriett Stanton Blatch, Arthur Brisbane and others also will speak.

Columbia University's astronomer, Harold Jacoby, will speak scientifically to the venerable gentlemen and J. S. Whitehouse, a member of parliament from London will argue with him. George Ade of the National Lawn Tennis association will speak on the added time for recreation afforded by the plan. S. J. Halle of the Standard Time committee of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce will tell how they like the idea in Ohio.

All the speakers will stress the point that this plan will save the country $100,000,000 in light and power expenses during the summer months. This is expected to knock the old man off his seat.

British Prohibitionists Fight for Bone Dryness

Demand That the Whole Nation Climb on the Waterwagon During the War and for the Demobilization Period.

BY J. W. PEGLER

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
London, Jan. 14.—(By Mail.)—British prohibitionists won't be satisfied until the entire nation boards the waterwagon for the duration of the war and the demobilization period. The gradual paring-down of "open" hours for drinking is not enough; they want absolute prohibition of all liquor and a ban on its manufacture.

Here are some of the striking comparisons advertised by the strength of Britain movement, demanding abolition of drink:

"During the war enough grain has been used in liquor manufacture to make two billion quarters loaves of bread.

"Breweries and distilleries use enough sugar to supply the army.

"Though Germany has sunk 2,300,000 tons of British shipping, the liquor industry uses 1,800,000 measurement tons a year to import raw materials.

"The board of trade withdrew large numbers of skilled men from the army to carry on ship construction, but the liquor traffic could release enough artisans to make 800,000 tons in six months.

"Coal shortage compelled the withdrawal of 11,000 miners from the army to resume mining while liquor manufacture consumes the output of 6000 miners.

"The government passed the workers' customary holidays but loss of time directly traceable to alcohol equals a three-month vacation by the entire nation."

Prohibition people never tire of pointing to Russia as an example of what the waterwagon can do.

They joined in the general outcry against the Asquith cabinet, daily demanding that the ministers resign and place the conduct of the war in more efficient hands and are now preparing to go before the people in the parliamentary elections, if cabinet action does not remove the alleged menace.

In an election the liquor matter would indirectly become a referendum as the people would be asked to elect or defeat candidates according to their advocacy of prohibition or opposition to it.

Library Patrons Neglect Short Stories

The reading public of La Grande is very ungrateful in one respect. Few people appear to care for short stories, except in magazine form. Bound volumes of short stories by a single author are the least popular fiction in the public library. On Saturday night, the only new fiction remaining on the shelves consisted of five volumes of this description. The volumes were: "Russian Comedy of Errors and Other Stories" (George Kennan); "The Real Motive" (Dorothy Canfield); "They of the High Trails" (Hamlin Garland); "Stories" (H. C. Bunner); "Stamboul Night" (H. G. Dwight).

In many libraries, the demand for such books is so great that a special catalogue of short stories is kept, with an index card for each separate story. Except for school use, the librarian of the La Grande library has not had half a dozen requests in four months, to locate a particular tale. Continued novels, filling a whole volume, are much more popular.

Kansas City, Kan., Jan. 30.—(United Press.)—Combat the high cost of living by eating rabbit meat, is the suggestion made by George M. Pfeiffer, secretary of the Associated Charities of this city, to middle westerners. Pfeiffer declared many farmers have asked that hunters be directed to their farms to kill the rabbits.
