Miners in Box Car Nearly Asphyxiated

W. M. Moore and L. W. Williams, miners from Seattle, were rescued from a refrigerator car at Kamela this morning after being nearly asphyxiated from inhaling carbon monoxide gas generated in the charcoal heating apparatus of the car. The men were on their way from Seattle to Baker where they hoped to obtain work. Dr. J. P. Graham went to Kamela this morning to get them and reports that another half hour in the car would probably have meant their death. The men were brought here this morning and were sufficiently recovered this afternoon to be released.

Oh! If the Sun Will Just Hide Tomorrow

"If Candlemas do see the sun
"If Candlemas do see the sun
There is but half of winter done
If Candlemas be cold and gray
Then endeth winter on that day."
—Old English Song.
So let's all hope the sun won't shine tomorrow.

Tomorrow is Candlemas day, because in the Roman Catholic and some of the Anglican churches the candles used on the altar and in private devotion are blessed for the ensuing year. The day is ecclesiastically known as the Feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin Mary. It commemorates the purification of the virgin 40 days after the birth of her Divine Son and of His presentation in the temple at Jerusalem.

and write a short note.
Members of the legislature were here yesterday and I was on the committee to help receive and guide them. Saw Representative Small from Union county and was around with him quite a little.
Did you read that report in the Oregonian from the committee, supposed to investigate the two colleges? It was certainly a roaster on Oregon's part; and was not founded on facts. One man was here last year about a month before school was out and stayed for a couple of days; during which time he made himself out a "nut" of the first degree.
The greater part of the report was only the opinion of one man who came here with the one idea, and that was to find fault with the university as a whole. This man advised the abolition of the school of commerce, which is a new school and is growing to be one of the most advanced in the United States and one which meets the demands of the higher type of the business world.
