PREPAREDNESS

Have Your Boy Prepared to Be a Soldier.

Have your boy prepared to be a soldier.

Teach him love of God and Country and of Man,

If by chance he's frail and stooped of shoulder,

Make him brave and strong of muscle as you can.

Chorus—
Teach your boy to love his country more than man,
Have him brave and strong and fearless as you can,
Have him stand for what is right, Never be afraid to fight,
Then your boy will be a soldier and a man.

Peace is what we'd like to have forever,
If through it our country suffers no disgrace,
But if by chance the bonds we have to sever,
Have your boy prepared and glad to take his place.

San Francisco Judge Tells How To Avoid Divorces

PLENTY OF KISSING IS GOOD FOR HER, SAYS JUDGE GRAHAM, TWO KISSES A DAY NOT ENOUGH.

The kiss of a husband is a pledge of his love for his wife.

I have advised men to kiss their wives. I have not advised wives to kiss their husbands.

The kiss that a wife gives to her husband does not mean as much to the husband as the kiss that a husband gives to his wife.

To a husband a kiss is only a kiss. Man only wants to be loved; he isn't particular about being perpetually told that he is being loved.

To a wife a kiss is more than the mere meeting of lips. A woman isn't content merely with being loved. She wants to be continually told that she is being loved.

A husband is telling and retelling his wife of his love every time he kisses her. A woman is happy every time she is given a reaffirmation of her husband's love with a kiss. A woman who is conscious of her husband's love will make all necessary sacrifices for her husband, will bear every trial willingly, will strive to avoid every quarrel. A woman is conscious of her husband's love when her husband kisses her frequently.

To many wives a kiss only means "good-bye." To others it is only the equivalent of "hello." But the kisses that are given when the husband is not either going or coming mean much more. They are expressions of love, expressions for which every wife is constantly yearning.

I know of only one variety of kiss—the kiss of a pure man for a pure woman. I care not whether it be planted on the forehead, the cheek or the lips—the kiss of a husband to his wife is the re-pledge, the reaffirmation of his love. If more husbands would kiss their wives more frequently the judges who have to try divorce cases wouldn't be so far behind in their work. And the divorce lawyers would starve to death.

(Note:—Following is Judge Graham's own statement of why and how a plentiful supply of hubby's kisses will keep the family out of the divorce court. Judge Graham has practiced his preaching so effectively in his court work that he has come to be nationally known as "The Great Reconciler." Thousands of unhappy homes made happy by his kiss recipe are to his credit.—Editor.)

BY THOMAS F. GRAHAM
Superior Court Judge of San Francisco (Written for the United Press.)

When your wife and you fall out, Don't strut about and shout. Don't growl at her, or scowl at her, or hiss her; You will find it doesn't pay; Try your luck another way; Just take her in your arms and gently kiss her.

When your wife and you MUST fight, Make her think she's in the right; Don't rush off to your club, where you will miss her; Should a fight with wifey start You will play the big man's part If you take her in your arms and gently kiss her.

Three American Heroes Coming Home Reach London

They Receive $25,000 and Thanks of British Salvage Court As Reward for Courageous Exploit—Stay By Their Ship and Bring It to Port.

BY J. W. PEGLER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, Feb. 4.—(By Mail)—Three American seaheroes are sailing home with $25,000 and the formal thanks of a British salvage court as their reward for one of the most courageous exploits in British maritime history. They are Bob Ferguson, of San Francisco, and Tom Welch and John Smith, of the U. S. A.

By a sudden impulse they pledged themselves to stand by one another and the sea-going tug Vigilant, of New York. Battling one of the fiercest gales the Atlantic has ever known the trio refused all aid and brought their doughty but badly punished little craft safe into Cardiff.

Ferguson told his story to the United Press as he left the salvage court hearing, a man of independent means.

"We ran into a rough patch of weather soon after leaving New York last October 13," he said. "It made us dodge into Halifax for a day but we reached St. John's on the 17th. That very afternoon we sailed again, with Captain Ince and a crew of sixteen. I was second officer.

"We had dirty weather from the start. But as the days passed our coal grew lighter and we rolled more and more. Four days this lasted. Then, 800 miles off the Irish coast Captain Ince wirelessed for help. Queenstown replied that a patrol boat was coming but she never did find us. Meanwhile we put out distress signals and sighted a vessel about two miles off. She never even hesitated.

"On Sunday, the 29th, we ran into the fiercest gale I have ever experienced in all my years of sea-faring. Captain Ince was afraid we would turn turtle so he signalled the Holland-American liner Ryndam for help and gave the order to abandon the ship.

"I didn't want to quit so I went below to get volunteers to save the tug. There I found the crew dressed in their shore clothes, with life preserver under their coats.

"They gave me the big laugh—thought I was kidding. I passed them up and went into the engine room. There was Welch, getting ready to leave.

"I looked him straight in the eye. 'Welch,' I said, 'you told me yesterday you were no bar-room sailor. Now's your chance to prove it.' He didn't say anything just stuck out his hand and we shook. Then we got Smith and the three of us told the captain we were going to stick.

"The Ryndam came tumbling along. Captain Ince and the rest went off in a boat still calling us fools and the last we saw of the liner passengers were at her rails giving us a last cheer.

Keep Your Eye On Palmer Lands

The last five sales have been from residents who reside away from Grande Ronde valley.

It apparently is the same old story: Home people as a rule do not realize the opportunities that are here.

The first settlers of this valley did not appreciate the value of that large fertile tract we now call the Sandridge. It was the very last land in the valley to be occupied.

A few years from now not a few of those who read these lines will state: "I did not know that Palmer valley would ever be the prosperous country it is."

It will be too late then. The opportunity is now. No experiment. Many families have already demonstrated the productiveness of the soil. You know the location, near railroad, near Elgin, adjoining a forest reserve, which means cheap range for stock and free fuel for all time.

Come in and let us reason together.
