Boys Sell Candy For Belgian Fund

Girls Help, Too, But Lee Wright Suggested Sale and Young Men Were Salesmen.

Three boys of the fifth grade of Greenwood school were waiting on candy customers in Newlin's book store Saturday noon. Three girls of the same grade had been helping but had gone out for a short time.

"We have taken in $9.37," said Lee Wright, whom Claire Gordon said was the originator of the candy sale, "and there is more candy coming. We will have enough candy, which, if sold, will bring in sufficient money to keep a Belgian child one year." Ernest Bush was busy waiting on customers while Claire and Lee were talking. Izana Henderson, Jessie Snow and Irene Glass were the girl classmates who sold candy this morning, but the boys said it was their affair, mainly, though the girls did help out a lot.
