

Easter Fashions

As the greatest interest today centers in the Easter apparel of both men and women it seems quite the proper thing that we should discuss them together. It is true that we devote the greater space to apparel for Women, but Easter is more a festival of dress for women than men, who cannot enjoy the bright colors and wide range of attractive materials shown in women's garments.

Union Personals

Union, Ore., March 19.—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Williams of Blackfoot, Idaho, departed for their home Monday after spending several weeks visiting at the home of Cyrus Williams of this city. Miss Eleanor Williams of Union, accompanied them as far as Weiser, Idaho, where she will visit with friends for two weeks. Dr. E. D. McKenney was a Monday business visitor in La Grande. W. J. Townley and W. H. Vogel were Monday business visitors in North Powder. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Perkins returned home from Portland Sunday where Mrs. Perkins has been for the past month recovering from a very serious operation for cancer. The operation has proved a very successful one and Mrs. Perkins is enjoying good health at present. Mrs. Charles Haggerty returned home Monday from Portland where she has been spending the winter.

Observer Ad Brought Models. For the style show which they plan for members Thursday night the Elks' lodge officers wanted 20 models. They placed a want ad in The Observer and 37 responded. All 37 were acceptable and the number of models in the style show Thursday night will be 37 instead of 20.

Lincoln and Washington Popular.

BY LOWELL MELETT (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

London, March 1.—(By Mail)—England has been discovering two great Americans, one the product, in a way, of the other: Abraham Lincoln and Booker T. Washington. Americans in London had no chance to forget the fact of Lincoln's birthday a few days ago. Not only did every provincial newspaper of consequence print Premier Lloyd George's eulogy of the emancipator with his analogy between the fight that Lincoln fought and that England is now fighting, but many of them carried lengthy editorial comment on Lincoln's life—with more of the same analogy. More than one recalled with regret the sorry attitude shown by Great Britain during the period of America's great trial and amplified on the Premier's reminder that even Gladstone had failed to appreciate what it meant to America. As for Booker T. Washington, the occasion for bringing the illustrious negro to the front is the everybody-keep-a-pig campaign. It seems that Washington shortly before his death carried on just such a campaign himself, causing the formation of Pig clubs throughout the south. He promulgated the doctrine that if every negro family would keep one pig, bought at $5 a head, in a few months, with hogs at their then price, $14,000,000 would be added to wealth of the colored race "with which to promote its welfare during the money stringency created by the European war. Give each boy and girl an opportunity to own and grow at least one pig," he concluded. "Admirable advice. Why not in England?" says one editorial commentator. Incidentally the keep-a-pig campaign is attaining great headway in this country. If the supply of corn can be maintained rural England may even supplant Dixie as the abode of that renewed institution Hog and Hominy.

Negroes Increasing; Philadelphia Puzzled

Philadelphia, March 14.—(United Press)—More than 25,000 negroes have settled in Philadelphia in the last six months and the city government doesn't know exactly how to meet the problem of congregation in the section of the city. Small flats are housing as many as five and six families. The influx is said to be due to the fact that the negroes think they will be more readily received here than in other American cities.

Another Big Hip Show Due At The Arcade

Wednesday and Thursday will see another of the favorite Hippodrome vaudeville shows here when the third show that has made this part of the circuit at the Arcade.

For those who are athletic inclined Mr. DeOria will entertain them with his novelty bag punching. Mr. DeOria offers something new along this line as he carries a number of electrical effects and produces some very startling numbers. For the light comedy stuff Oro and Wheelan will entertain in their little skit "The Chink and the Irishman." These two have been the favorites of London and New York for the past five years and have worked up a side splitting comedy skit.

The bill will close with the Superlative Three who have recently scored a great success in the east and south. Two men and a pretty girl who make up the Superlative Three possess a set of voices that one likes to listen to and that one remembers a long time after leaving the theatre. They let somebody else attend to the musical education of the public while they sing strictly popular numbers which range from alluring Hawaiian melodies to the latest love rags.

In addition to the above acts a five reel World Brady-Made feature will be shown starring the world famous comedian Lew Fields.

The first show will start at 7 o'clock on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, the second show will begin at about 9 o'clock. Matinees at the usual time.

COAL LAND OFFERED TO USE OF THE NATION

Buffalo, March 20.—The Medical association of which Dr. Pierce is president has placed at the disposal of President Wilson, $25,000 acres of coal land at Pierceton, Ala., for the duration of the war, if war comes. The coal mine fully equipped with mining machinery, producing very best steam coal and twelve miles of railroad is offered to the U. S. government for its free use in case of war.

ARC A DE

"THE MAN WHO STOOD STILL"

"Kraus' most intimate friend and neighbor is Spiegel, a kindred soul. Both parents have planned for years the ultimate union of their children, and have set their hearts upon this alliance, as usual, taking for granted the concurrence of the parties most vitally interested."

Indirectly, this proposed alliance is the means of bringing sorrow to "The Man Who Stood Still." This picture carries an appeal to every parent. Do not fail to take your children to see it at the Arcade theatre Wednesday and Thursday. You will not soon forget the performance of Lew Fields and Doris Kenyon.

sage while water gradually filled the room was the sensation which Nell Shipman and William Duncan underwent during the filming of "Through the Wall," the Vitagraph feature released by the V-L-S-E entitled, "Through the Wall," which is the headliner at Sherry's theatre today and tomorrow.

George Holt who plays the master criminal keeps his two captives locked in a small subcellar while he nonchalantly turns on the secret switch in his library which will mean the flooding of the room and eventually their death.

Slowly the water creeps toward the ceiling and it is only a moment before it covers their heads that the two players discover the secret latch to the door which leads to still another room. Before they could close the huge wooden door behind them, however, the water has rushed through and it was not long before their predicament was quite as bad as before.

Stumbling about, Mr. Duncan's foot slipped, as the scenario said it should, and the couple fell into a deep well. The film then cuts to a lake in the garden where they finally appear.

Although the weather was warm in sunny California when the Vitagraph players did this scene, Miss Shipman caught a severe cold and was confined to her bed for several days while Mr. Duncan was unable to talk for a week.

Nevertheless the desired effect was obtained and the thrill which every audience will feel more than repays these two stars for their experience.
