Thrift Maxims.
Nothing waste nothing want. Thrift is an antidote against anxiety for the future. Thrift acquaints itself with true value and keeps tab on expenditures. Neither minute gains nor even small losses are underrated by the thrifty. To postpone to afternoon what can be done in the morning is shiftlessness of management.

Pamphlets Contain Biographies.

Requests are frequently made at the public library for articles on the lives and works of recent authors, who are too new to appear in literary histories. To meet this demand, the large publishing houses send out pamphlets on the authors whose works they publish. Sketches have been received at this library of Maurice Hewlett, Dan Beard, Steward Edward White, Jack London, Joseph Conrad, Rabindranath Tagore, Booth Tarkington, Kathleen Norris, and O. Henry. The booklet on O. Henry contains an index showing in what volumes each of his short stories may be found.

What's the Difference Between a Dozen Eggs and a Quart of Milk?

A six-cent egg at a convention of milk enthusiasts would feel like a bad cent. It would immediately go out and get scrambled. Every time a man is asked to say anything about the value of milk he says it's worth a lot more than eggs.

The report of the tri-state milk committee appointed by the governors of Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland give us this information once more. It says that a quart of milk is equal in food value to eight eggs. And it says that when the consumer pays forty-five cents a dozen for eggs while a quart of milk is worth nine cents he is paying three and three-fourths as much for the same food value. It costs him two and three-fourths times as much for real food when he pays twenty-nine cents a pound for round steak.

What is there about a hen that makes the consumer want to squander his money on her product while he kicks like a steer when the price of milk is advanced a cent? Is it because eggs are solid and milk is liquid? Or is it because the hen makes a noise about her business?

—Country Gentlemen.
