Stage Door." Both of these players are but recently from the Alcazar Stock company in San Francisco and the sketch is one laugh from start to finish. The musical end of the bill is left to Butler and De Muth and from all reports it is very well taken care of. Butler and De Muth have enough methods of entertaining audiences to supply a whole troupe of band performers. Kitty De Muth is a girl with two voices, both sweet and powerful. Butler is a musical genius and improvises all kinds of freak imitations on the piano, playing banjo, whistling, and playing slide trombone and piano at the same time.

As before, the first show in the evening will begin at 7 o'clock and the second show at about 9 o'clock. The matinees will begin at the same usual hour, 2 o'clock. In addition to these varied acts of vaudeville, Robert Warwick, the great dramatic artist, will be seen in the World-Brady Made feature, "The Heart of a Hero."

empty dishes, but something in the walk suggests to the mind that it is not the same man.
The surmise is correct as the soldiers afterwards find much to their dismay, for the crafty little flower of the South has forced her slave to change clothes with the hero in order that he might make his get-away from the room and ride back to his army which is not far distant.
Miss Hyland plays this role in the sweet natural way which has won her so many friends and one feels that she has really won her place with the foremost stars of the day, although her motion picture career has been very short.

SHERRY'S

GIRL SAVES SOLDIER SWEET-HEART.

Confederate and Slave Change Clothes and Escape Is Made.

The quaint and romantic story of "Rose of the South," Vitagraph's Blue Ribbon Feature starring Peggy Hyland and Antonio Moreno, is the attraction at Sherry's theatre today.

This story tells of the strife between the North and the South in the days of '64 when the women of the country quietly played such important parts in the victories of the armies.

Peggy Hyland plays the role of Mr. Moreno's sweetheart and when he is held captive by the Northern soldiers in her own home, she is frantic for fear that she will not be able to save him.

Gaining permission of the guard in charge of the room to take the captive some food, she enters with her slave carrying the luncheon on a covered tray.

The next scene shows her leaving the room with the man carrying the

"The Heart of a Hero."

"Hale struggles between his duty to his Country and his love for Alice, and at last his duty conquers and he tells her his Country is calling and he must go."

Heartbroken and overcome by his refusal of her plea, Alice tells him she hates him, and thus scorned by the girl he loves, Hale goes forth into the enemy's camp.

This unflinching adherence to the Right was the key-note of the great American patriot's entire ill-fated career. After seeing the picture "The Heart of a Hero," you will forever after associate the name of Robert Warwick with Nathan Hale—so vivid a characterization of the patriot does he draw. You will more thoroughly realize what a wonderful sacrifice it must have been for him to leave his sweetheart who is Gail Kane in the play.

This is one of the very best World Pictures Brady-Made to appear at the Arcade theatre so far and will be shown on Wednesday and Thursday.
