Grill Room Is Nearly Ready for Opening—Dr. and Mrs. Phy Visit Pendleton—Many Guests Visit Sanatorium—Some Fear of Freshet.

Hot Lake, Ore., March 28.—(Special)—The sanatorium register is continuously showing the increase in the number of guests. Additional accommodation is constantly being made to cope with the increase in business.

The grill room is nearly ready for opening. This will be newly made over in handsome style and will be able to seat guests at eight tables with plenty of room for convenience and quick service.

Among the guests recently operated upon and now "doing well" is Mrs. Herbert Mires of La Grande and Senator (Doctor) R. Jackson of Sand Point, Idaho; the latter already having been discharged from the hospital department.

Dr. Phy, the medical superintendent and Mrs. Phy went over to Pendleton Tuesday on a social visit.

The following guests have registered since Tuesday of this week:

H. Motley and Mrs. Dave Anderson, Halfway; Chester Victor, Pomero; Mrs. A. H. Brown and Charles R. Roberts, Union; G. M. Ryder, Baker; Dave Barter, John Sweeney and H. McKinney, Burke, Idaho; H. W. Hicks, O. W. R. W.; Colfax; Glen D. Hart, New York; Mr. and Mrs. J. McKinnic, Imbler; T. H. Hebert, Spokane; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Reynolds, Seattle; J. O. Brien, San Francisco; F. H. LeBaron, Covendish; J. W. Stillwell, Spokane; Mrs. M. McMurray, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McDonald, Joe Palmer, W. D. Grandy, Ethel Bell, Eulah Clark and D. O. Beaumont, La

Grande. Some fear is felt in the valley adjacent to Hot Lake on account of Ladd creek when the snow in the uplands really begins to melt and come down the canyon. There are reports of deeper and heavier snow above the canyon than for many years past and this coupled with the experience of recent years at flood time is making the valley men dread a devastating flood which may hold the land drowned until well on in June.

IT'S FOOLISH TO SUFFER.

When So Many La Grande People Are Pointing the Way Out.

You may be brave enough to stand backache or headache or dizziness. But, if, in addition urination is disordered, look out! If you don't try to fix your sick kidneys, you may fall into the clutches of dangerous disease before you know it. But, if you live more carefully and help your kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills, you can stop the pains you have and avoid future danger as well. Don't experiment—use the remedy La Grande people are publicly endorsing. Read this case:

Mrs. Mary Campbell, 1524 Monroe St., La Grande, says: "I can conscientiously recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, for I know from personal experience they are a good reliable medicine for kidney disorder. Whenever I notice any symptoms of this trouble coming on, a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills overcome it and act as a tonic to my whole system." Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Campbell had.—Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Wearing Trousers Now the Latest Mode, Says Margaret Mason

BY MARGARET MASON.
(Written for the United Press)

The busy housewife pants these days. As she does up the chores, you see she's cast her skirts aside for trouserettes indoors.

New York, March 31.—In a class with the hoary and decrepit mother-in-law joke the one about the advanced female donning the trousers has done equally long and faithful service. But lo and behold the latter wheeze has now ceased to be a joke and in these days of 1917 become a stern reality. Dr. Mary Walker blazed the trail for the wearing of masculine nether garments, I believe, but it took a heap of red tape to keep them on. Mme. Curie more recently gained the permission of her government to wear 'em after a great deal of trouble and time, but now everybody's doing it with the greatest ease and non-chalance. Along with the high cost of living and other evils, of course, this feminine penchant for trousers must be blamed on the poor old war. Only this time it is no evil, but a blessing in disguise—of pants. With the women forced to take over the tasks of males in all the fighting countries, naturally it was meet that they should take over the cut of their clothes as well. One can't very adequately oil engines, plow, drive motors and run elevators all done up in skirts and petticoats. Sitting on the sidelines, Maiden America and Matron America as well, have calmly appropriated, as they do all imported fads and fashions, those bifurcated garments for their own and pant no longer merely with emotion or exertion but with gingham, denim, chambray, silk and satin. By a quaint whimsey of fate it isn't the advanced female of the joke who is now wearing the trouser effects however, but the dear, domestic little wives and mothers, the "queens of the home" and "the housewives of the hearth."

As a first aid to baking, brewing, sweeping and chores of the home in general, nothing could be neater, sweeter or fleetier than one of the new pantelette house dresses. They are made with a blouse waist, with sailor collar and loose, three-quarter sleeves. They have a neat little belt, button down the front and there are two dandy, handy big patch pockets, one on each hip. Thus far they are no different than the little old last year's model house dress. But below the pockets comes the great divide into cunning little trouserettes that clasp the ankles with an elastic headed frill or else hang straight with a stitched band of the material bounding them, like an honest to goodness regular male trouser cuff.

On some of the prettier models this band around the bottom of the pantelettes like the belt, collar, pocket and sleeve cuffs, is of a contrasting shade of material. These sensible and saucy suits come in chambray, gingham, denim, and khaki in pink or blue or white or tan.

Then there are the regulation overalls, the female of the species resembling much the male. These are of course for the more strenuous walks of workaday feminine life.

Skating overalls are cutting some ice these days too, let me tell you. Fair skaters find they can cut a much better figure eight or any old figure at all in the smart new tailored trousers of novelty suiting and tweed cut generously wide with big flap pockets on each hip and cunning suspenders of the same material holding them securely in place.

Milady of elegant leisure is panting to be in a trousered class with her sisters, the sporting girl and the busy housewife. So she affects the straight, black silk trousers of the Chinese woman, topped with a gaily embroidered Chinese coat for her "robe intime" or the full trousers of a Turkish trophy under a flowing coat of silk.

Wearing trousers has indeed become such a fascinating habit that the 1917 female cannot even doff them at night and so she dons, when the shades of night have fallen down and the window shades are down as well, cutey little suits of pajamas with feminine V cut décollete and short sleeved uppers and masculine, straight cut, ankle length lowers.

So you see it keeps lovely woman panting twenty-four hours a day to keep up with these strenuous times.

Found! Tell Others To Lose Some, Too

London, March 31.—(United Press)—The following appeared in the Morning Telegraph: FOUND, outside Officers' Shell Shock Hospital, a lady's pocket handkerchief. If owner will write me I will tell her where she may send any others she, even uncomfortably, can do without. We need at the London Hospital every scrap of old linen we can get and by this time this precious find has been put to better use.—Address parcels Viscount Knutsford, Linen Room, London Hospital.

The Original Macaroni.

Macaroni, which is now being strongly recommended as a cheap and sustaining food, is not at all what its name implies, for maccheroni, as Italians spell it, means mixture, and at first was one, the ingredients being butter, cheese and flour. But today macaroni is the name for the familiar tubes which are compounded of hard Italian wheat and water alone. It was therefore from the original meaning of the word that macaroni poetry, in which Latin is blended with a vernacular, derived its name.—London Chronicle.
