MARY BAKER EDDY MEMORIAL.

The memorial to Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, erected in Mt. Auburn cemetery, Cambridge, Mass., was today turned over to The Christian Science Board of Directors by Elbert S. Barlow of New York, who had charge of its construction. Over a year and a half has been required to complete it. Christian Scientists throughout the world have contributed, as expressions of sentiment, the entire cost of over $150,000.
The memorial is of Bethel white granite and consists of an open circular colonnade of eight columns fifteen feet in height surmounted by a cornice and cresting. The space inside the colonnade is to be filled with growing flowers. The columns rest on a stylobate of three steps, which also rest, at one side, on a broad platform of Pompton pink granite and, at the other, which is about five feet lower, on a double flight of circular steps. These are flanked on each side by a large pylon. The pylons were exhibited a short time ago at the American Institute of Architecture in New York, and were pronounced by several experts to be the finest pieces of carved granite ever executed. The detail is elaborated to an extent never before attempted in granite; some of the stems and leaves are practically free-standing, so great is the relief.

Interviewed regarding the memorial, the architect, Mr. Egerton Swartwout of New York, said: "The site is singularly pleasing; in fact, I question whether a finer site could anywhere be found. It can be seen from all sides equally well, close at hand from the cemetery road, and from a quarter of a mile away across the lake. Indeed, it is this body of water which forms the chief beauty of the site. There is a drop of approximately 10 feet from the level of the road to the level of the lake, there being a natural terrace on the axis of the plot which lends itself admirably to the architectural development of the memorial. The lake is unusually still, and has a mirror-like quality which reflects admirably the white granite of which the memorial is made.
"As to the memorial I think it can be said without contradiction that, leaving aside entirely any artistic excellence, such perfection and delicacy have never been attained before in this unyielding and enduring material. There is certainly nothing in modern times that can approach it nor, as far as I know, in any of the monuments of antiquity."
Mr. Swartwout designed the new Missouri State capitol and the new Federal Building in Denver, and recently won the competition for the new George Washington memorial.
All that now remains to be done to complete the memorial to Mrs. Eddy is the planting for the landscape, which is to consist chiefly of some evergreen plants that will preserve their form and leaves throughout the year, and some cedars and rhododendrons.

Late Bulletins.

An editor in the far west dropped into church for the first time in many years, says Tit Bits. The minister was in the very heart of the sermon. The editor listened for a while and then rushed to his office.
"Where are you fellows doing? How about the news from the seat of war?"
"Where news?"
"Where about the Egyptian army being drowned in the Red sea. The minister up at the church knows all about it, and you have not a word of it in our latest. Bustle around, you fellows, and get out an extra-special edition."
Haircuts.
A haircut is one of the few indignities that baldheaded men don't have to suffer.
It's a habit, the haircut is, among men with densely populated heads. But it is no ordinary habit. It's a habit a man has to hire another man to practice for him.
There are fashions in haircuts, as in everything else. The old fashioned haircut circled the base of a man's brain and stopped. But today it goes on down the back of his neck to see what his collar bone's doing.

NOW PAISLEY VEILS.
The newest thing in veils is Paisley shades, the design to be worn next the face and hair and not necessarily over the hat. This natty straw turban, so soldierly, really shouldn't be covered, even with veiling.

The Easter Hat.
Though March winds blow and rage around,
And snow lies thick upon the ground;
I do not care a snap for that—
It's time to buy my Easter hat.
I wrap up well in coat of fur,
Like Arctic sea adventurer,
And leave my warm steam heated flat,
To go and buy my Easter hat.
Now up and down from shop to shop,
At each in turn I kindly stop,
Try on their stocks and glibly chat—
But do not buy my Easter hat.
At last I'm weary as can be,
It's growing dusk—and oh, dear me!
I've lost my muff of civet-cat!
Now I can't buy my Easter hat!
But sorry I find my precious muff,
And hurry homeward, tired enough,
Though pleased to find my purse still fat—
I didn't buy my Easter hat.
With April yet some time away,
I'll go again some other day,
And then I'll take my husband, Mat,
To help me buy my Easter hat.
