All Society Is Crashing Into Nurses' Uniforms

A MATEUR NURSES may here find inspiration for a quite correct costume of finest white linen cut short skirt, shirt waist, round collar and bibless apron. The nun's headgear of finest mull red crossed beautifully harmonizes with the insignia worn by Flax, the canine hero of the French front, who saved so many wounded and is now recuperating, after trench life, with Mrs. Wanner of Long Island.

Long handles or short handles, as the kind of parasol demands. Some have crooks—the long ones, of course—and the short, stubby ones are finished with leather straps and a powder puff cleverly concealed in the top of the handle. ANNA MAY.

Garden Parties Are on the Lists Already

A LEGHORN hat is lace brimmed and trimmed with two poppies in oriental red and blue. White net and white net flouncings compose the beautiful gown, which has an apron front of rare lace. Please note the elbow sleeves. It is said that they are coming in again for summer gowns. and are of solid color silk with wide effect will be worn with skirts of black and white check. One of the smartest trimming features is the Pierrot collar of plaited white tulle or muslin, which covers half the cape of the coat. ANNA MAY.

MAE MURRAY WILL APPEAR IN "ON RECORD."

Mae Murray, the beautiful and captivating Lasky star, who recently scored such a success on the Paramount program in "The Plow Girl" will be seen at the Arcade on Monday and Tuesday in the Jesse L. Lasky production "On Record," an unusual drama written by John B. Clymer and Paul West and prepared for the screen by George Dubois Proctor.

Miss Murray has shown that she is one of the most versatile of the younger generation of actresses on the screen. In "The Dream Girl" she scored an emphatic success as a whimsical little waif of the streets, and in "The Plow Girl" she more than doubled her popularity. It is expected that she will score even a greater triumph in "On Record." In this wonderful drama she is seen as a young country girl, ambitious to go into business. She goes to New York but just as she secures a position as private secretary, she is arrested by an over-zealous detective and although not sent to jail, has her identification placed on record. An unscrupulous attorney knows of this fact and when she is about to marry the young inventor whom this attorney seeks to ruin, he induces her sweetheart's mother to accompany him to night court and there shows her son's fiancée's identification mark as a criminal.

How matters are adjusted and the girl exonerated, are brought about in a manner that only John B. Clymer and Paul West can devise.

Tom Forman is seen as Miss Murray's leading man and to prepare himself for the scenes in which he is supposed to make an aeroplane flight, devoted three weeks of his time to study in the military aviation school in San Diego.

The Lasky company has surrounded Miss Murray with a cast of unusual excellence including Charles Ogle, Gertrude Maitland and Henry Burrows.

It was originally planned to make this production in New York City in order to secure eastern atmosphere, but it was finally decided to make it in the west and in order to do this an exact replica of a well known New York street, including the subway kiosk and the portals of a famous restaurant were constructed. The picture was made under the direction of Robert Leonard.

Rheumatic Pains Relieved.

"I have used Chamberlain's Liniment for pains in the chest and lameness of the shoulders due to rheumatism, and am pleased to say that it has never failed to give me prompt relief," writes Mrs. S. N. Finch, Batavia, N. Y.—Adv.
