(In the Chicago Tribune) It is decidedly an ill wind that blows nobody good. For instance, the devastating expedition of the German U-boat on Sunday put "submarines" in everybody's minds—and last night the Studebaker, housing Universal's realization of Jules Verne's submarine dream, was a sold out house.

It seemed almost a case of the kaiser helping the Germans, for Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal company, carries his home right with him.

The outstanding thing is, of course, the undersea photography. Romance, outfitted in rubber and iron weights and heavy masks, does not trip lightly over the ocean floor, but the water pictures in themselves are interesting enough to command wakefulness. Especially thrilling is the diver's fight with an octopus, and interesting, too, pressure one gets from watching the divers walking in a great inclination, as if facing a heavy gale.

The pictures are remarkably clear, considering the circumstances of their taking, and they have the special virtue of the unusual about them to attract.

Nothing Like It On Earth

The only production of its kind in the world—the only photo-drama actually photographed at the bottom of the ocean, amidst huge charging sharks, the feared tigers of the mighty deep.

The production that required more than two years in the making at a cost exceeding a half million dollars.

The dream of the wildest romancer outdone.

The production that reveals to the people of the earth, the strangest sights of the ocean's depths; sights that for thousands of centuries have been denied to mankind.

Sunday and Monday

An Almost Unbelievable Accomplishment

You will see—The swiftest dramatic action—hair raising battles—thrilling escapes—fearless attacks—all at the very bottom of the ocean.

You will see—Jules Verne's dream surpassed. You will witness sights that up to the present day no man of the earth has ever set eyes upon.

You will see—The death grapple between giant octopus and pearl diver, (the only motion picture of its kind in the world) showing an octopus and a man in ferocious battle on the ocean's bottom.

You will see—The strange funeral procession wending its way to the graveyard of Captain Nemo.

You will see—The daring crew of the submarine Nautilus leave the boat from its underside, to battle with the strange inhabitants of the deep.

You will see—The Nautilus rise from its ocean bed to battle with the U. S. Ship Abraham Lincoln.

You will see—Captain Nemo's magic submarine window, and view with the Captain's guests the amazing panoramas of the deep, more fascinating than anything on the face of the earth.

You will see—Captain Nemo's party exploring the ocean's bed with the new diving apparatus requiring neither air hose nor life line.

You will see—Ned Land, the famous harpooner, attempt to destroy the dreaded monster from the fore-decks of the Abraham Lincoln.

You will see—The hair raising combat between divers and giant sharks.

Receives Censored Card.

Thomas Murphy received a card recently from a former Pendleton boy, Arnold Mims who is at present with the U. S. Navy "somewhere in the Atlantic." The mail has to pass the censor so the following form has been adopted for correspondence of this in service:

I am quite well. I have been admitted to the hospital; have been wounded, sick, and am getting on well, hope to return to duty soon.

I have received your letter dated

Telegram dated

Parcel dated

Letter follows at first opportunity. I have received no letter from you for a long time or lately.

Signature and date are added.

A line drawn through the sentences crosses out those not required. This then passes through the censor and to the receiver. If anything else is added the card is destroyed.

Willamette Boys Receive Books.

The boys of Company M from the Willamette University were each presented with a gift from the board of trustees of that institution yesterday. Nothing could have brought home scenes and memories nearer than a gift of their own year book the "Wallula." In each book was this inscription: "You exchanged the class room for the camp, you yielded your ambition to the nation's plan, in the hour of your country's need."

Buy Sugar and Coffee.

Here's some inside advice for the good housekeeper. Buy your sugar and coffee now. In casting around for something to tax, it is a safe guess that congress will tax sugar and coffee and various cooking compounds. It is the ultimate consumer that will have to pay the tax as the jobbers and commission men will pass it on to the retailer and the retailer will of necessity pass it on to the consumer. This hunch on the market conditions comes from a man who has recently been guessing about 100 per cent right on what was going to happen to the market. He says buy coffee and sugar now.

EMPLOYEES OF THE COMPANY LINED UP FOR SERVICE

The employees of the O. W. R. & N. Co. constitute a factor of importance in the territory in which the lines of the company are operated. How they can best serve the country in the present crisis is a matter which has come up for consideration before the General Committee of the Employees' club, and the plans are to be submitted to the membership at large and their cooperation asked. The transportation lines will have an important part in the affairs of the nation from now until peace is assured. The time is indefinite, and to prepare for emergencies and to be ready to act promptly and to proceed in the right way are matters which demand attention. The situation is serious. Every resident of the nation is affected. Each will be expected to do his part. It is certain that the company employees will rally to the call of duty. There is not a slacker in company employ.—Pacific Semaphore.

If every one of our 20,000,000 households should waste 1-4 of an ounce of butter daily, on the average, it would mean 312,500 pounds a day—114,062,500 pounds a year. To make this butter would take 265,261,500 gallons of milk—or the product of over half a million cows.
