PAULINE FREDERICK TONIGHT IN "SAPHO."

Given Pauline Frederick as the famous "Sapho," Thomas Meighan as her student-lover, Gaussin, and others in the cast of such excellence as Frank Losee, John Sainpolis, Pedro de Cordoba—and Hugh Ford as director, and the result will be what might be expected, a typical Famous Players-Paramount picture, full of "heart interest" as well as touches of pathos and humor, and best of all, Pauline Frederick at her brilliant best. "Sapho" is the featured attraction at the Arcade tonight and tomorrow.

WHAT FRENCH HAVE DONE IN ONE WEEK OF DRIVE

In just one week the French in their great attack on the front from Solissons to Auberville, nearly fifty miles, did these things:
* Took more than 100 guns, some of large caliber.
* Took approximately 20,000 prisoners.
* Occupied twenty good sized villages, not including hamlets.
* Reconquered about fifty square miles of French soil.
* Put out of action in killed, wounded and prisoners, on a conservative estimate, at least 100,000 German soldiers, the equivalent of seven divisions.
* Forced the German high command to throw in twenty divisions from their last reserves, their "strategic reserves" whom they were saving for a great offensive campaign, to save their whole front in France from disaster. And the battle only begun!

Boston Braves' Great Infielder
The smallest and most graceful fielder in big league ball, that is the way fans speak of Walter J. Maranville, shortstop of the Boston National league team. Sometimes he is called "Rabbit," a tribute to his speed. Maranville is a native of Springfield, Mass., and began his ball playing career with the New Bedford team. He joined the Braves in the fall of 1912 and since then has helped make baseball history. "Rabbit" is a wonderful shortstop, his specialty being to throw runners out from short left field. His batting average is not especially high, but he is a dangerous man in a pinch. His batting average last season was .235.

Clubs Carry Too Many Men.
Hugh Jennings, manager of the Detroit Tigers, says that eighteen players are enough for any major league club to carry during the championship season. He declares that the magnates waste $50,000 a year on superfluous talent.
"The ball team that wins the pennant usually has the smallest number of men," remarked Jennings the other day. "I believe that the clubs should carry eighteen players or perhaps twenty. Not more than six first class pitchers are needed to maintain a winning position."
"Two catchers can do all the work and five outfielders are sufficient. Four infielders and a general utility man can take care of the rest."

Joe Wood's Comeback.
The success or failure of Joe Wood's attempted comeback will be one of the interesting side features of the coming campaign in the American league. Wood at his best was one of the greatest boxmen in the game.

Economy of Keeping a Small Poultry Flock
The actual economy secured by the keeping of a small flock of chickens depends primarily upon their egg production, and this in turn is largely a matter of care. Under favorable conditions, however, it is estimated that 150 eggs the first year and 120 the second is a fair return from the ordinary hen. On the other hand, at least from 25 to 50 cents a year must be expended for grain and other feeds, the exact amount depending upon the quantity of table scraps and green and insect food available. Where all the feed must be purchased from $1 to $1.25 is allowed. Even in the most thrifty household, however, there is always a large quantity of table scraps, vegetable parings and other "leftovers" for the hens, so that a considerable portion of their feed consists of what otherwise would be carried off the place by the garbage man.
Although of less importance than the eggs, the supply of poultry for the table furnished by the home flock is an item that cannot be overlooked. In a flock of twenty-five which the owner is perpetuating there will be approximately twelve or thirteen cockers, almost all of which can be used best for food. Half of the hens must go each year also, so that, allowing for losses and for birds reserved for breeding, there still will be enough appreciably to affect the butcher's bill.

FREEDOM.
Our political creed, without a dissenting voice that can be heard, is that the will of the people is the source and the happiness of the people is the end of all legitimate government upon earth; that the best security for benevolence and the best guarantee against the abuse of power consists in the freedom, the purity and the frequency of popular elections.—John Quincy Adams.
