JUNE 5 LEGAL HOLIDAY GOVERNOR DECLARES

GOVERNOR ASKS CITIZENS TO ASSIST IN THE BIG TASK OF REGISTERING.
Portland, Or., May 28.—(Special)—By official proclamation of Governor Withycombe, War Census day June 5, will be a legal holiday throughout the state of Oregon.
In his proclamation the Governor calls upon every patriotic citizen to assist in the big task of registering all men of military age, and to make War Census day an event memorable in the state's history.
The proclamation follows in full:
PROCLAMATION
Whereas, the President of the United States has designated June 5, 1917, as the day upon which our citizens shall register in accordance with the provisions of the selective draft law, and

Whereas, on this day we face a gigantic task new in our national history and one whose proper conduct can only be attained through the united cooperation of every citizen, and
Whereas, it is vitally desirable that the registration be accomplished with thoroughness and dispatch, both as a testimonial to the efficiency of our democracy and as a moral example stimulating to our allies and depressing to our adversaries, and
Whereas, it is especially fitting that this occasion be made one of patriotic festival fittingly celebrating the Nation's unity and the willingness of its citizenship to serve our flag and to make sacrifice, if needs be, in a righteous cause,
Now, therefore, I, James Withycombe, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Governor of the State of Oregon, do proclaim Tuesday, June 5, 1917, as War Census day, and I do further declare it a legal holiday, believing that by so doing the purposes above set forth will best be served. And I call upon the patriotic men and women of Oregon, and their sons and daughters, to make of this day an occasion memorable in the history of our state, marking, as it does, a great forward step in the efficient utilization of our manhood upon the side of democracy and justice in the World War, to the end that world peace may the sooner be restored and permanently assured.
In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the State of Oregon to be hereunto affixed this 26th day of May, 1917.
JAMES WITHYCOMBE, Governor.
Proper Food for Weak Stomachs.
The proper food for one may be all wrong for another. Every one should adopt a diet suited to his age and occupation. Those who have weak stomachs need to be especially careful and should eat slowly and masticate their food thoroughly. It is also important that they keep their bowels regular. When they become constipated or when they feel dull and stupid after eating, they should take Chamberlain's Tablets to strengthen the stomach and move the bowels. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect.—Adv.

UNION NEWS.
Union, Ore., May 28.—(Special)—The concert given here Thursday by Miss Eloise Anita Hall was a decided success. Her voice showed fine training and its sweetness charmed the audience which filled the Methodist church. Miss Hall's range is remarkable and her extremely high tones are unusually clear and sweet. Her trills are beautiful as a bird's. The singer was a former Union girl, and the day was spent among her relatives and childhood friends in the city.
The concert will be remembered by all who heard it as one of the rare treats for Union music lovers.
Prof. E. B. Conklin, of Ontario, formerly superintendent of the Union public schools, was in the city today in the interests of the state's food conservation campaign. An effort is being made through this campaign to unite all of the organizations in the cause of service to country.
Get Rid of Your Rheumatism.
Now is the time to get rid of your rheumatism. You will find Chamberlain's Liniment a great help. The relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost.—Adv made in the winter planting. That is in normal seasons. While there are periods wherein the spring planted area makes as good a harvest showing as the fall-winter stuff, still generally speaking, this is not the case.

Winter wheat also produces best in Washington and Idaho, wherever climatic conditions will allow such planting. Owing to the extreme cold in some sections of Washington, it is too dangerous to plant winter wheat and for that reason the Evergreen state as a rule plants about as much spring cereal as it does the winter variety.
Fall wheat is showing considerable improvement in practically all sections of the Pacific Northwest state. With warmer weather in the Inland Empire the plants are generally showing good growth and color. Spring wheat is making the usual seasonal headway in most sections and while the entire season is delayed and the crop a backward one, still the showing is not below the normal.
Cut worms have done some damage to the crop in portions of Umatilla county, Oregon, and Walla Walla county, Wash., but aside from this and the slight scattered damage inflicted in some of the hilly sections by water, the losses noted during the month have been of nominal nature.
Oats and barley crops promise to break all previous records in the Pacific Northwest states. In both cereals an increased planting is shown as compared with a year ago and the spring crops are showing excellent growth.
Corn planting is also showing an increase, the estimate for the three states being 149,000 acres compared with 137,000 acres a year ago. Warm weather is needed by all the crops but more especially for corn to make a good showing.
The only one of the cereals to show decreased planting this season is rye and this is a nominal crop in the Pacific Northwest.
Surprising increase has been shown in the planting of beans in Oregon, Idaho and Washington this season on account of the extreme prices in effect last season as well as the outlook for values the coming season. Total area planted to beans in the three states is figured at 40,000 acres compared with 10,000 a year ago.
There was a very liberal increase in the planting of sugar beets in Oregon, Idaho and Washington. Detailed figures for the acreage of the three states are now available for the first time; no efforts being made in previous years to secure this data.
The condition of the sugar beet planting is reported at 90 per cent of a full crop which means a rather favorable outlook for the present season. Some damage is reported in Southern Oregon but the crop in general there starts under most favorable conditions.

GRAIN ACREAGE INCREASES DESPITE CONDITIONS
BY HYMAN H. COHEN.
Portland, Ore., May 28.—(Special)—Notwithstanding disappointing weather conditions which made seeding operations in the Pacific Northwest of a hazardous nature this season, there are 5,762,000 acres planted to cereals in the Pacific Northwest states compared with 5,209,000 acres for the season of 1916.
Total wheat acreage in Oregon, Idaho and Washington shows an increase of 475,000 acres despite the showing of a loss of 254,000 acres in the winter planting. The loss was more than made up in the spring wheat sowing.
On the basis of the present showing of the wheat crop condition the three states this season will harvest approximately 57,500,000 bushels compared with the actual cutting of 60,000,000 bushels a year ago. In the face of the showing of an increased area planted to wheat as compared with the 1916 season, this showing may seem rather queer to many but an examination of the condition of the crop will quickly correct this impression.
The great shortage in the winter wheat planting is the most serious blow to the industry. Oregon is first of all a winter wheat state. While it grows considerable spring wheat during certain seasons, far its best showing of production is always
