CURB BARKERS EXPLOIT WAR FEVER IN N. Y.

New York, June 2.—(United Press)—Manhattan's army of street fakirs has seized upon the patriotic spirit and capitalized it. There are more curb salesmen to the square foot on lower Broadway today than anywhere else, outside a county fair.

Pictures of the kaiser which, when folded, change into pictures of pigs, are going like wildfire. Books telling how to become an American citizen are eagerly gobbled. Copies of Wilson's war message, histories of the war, allied flags, patriotic buttons, war maps, photographs of the allied commissioners, war games, star-spangled banner neckties, paper flags to glue on your windows and ditto to glue on your collar, phonograph records of allied anthems, pictures of our fleet, cigarets for soldiers, Marshal Joffre in vivid hues, miniature statues of Liberty, naval battle puzzles, war manuals, police whistles to be blown "when spies are nabbed" all these and scores of other devices are seized by patriotic New Yorkers until the peddlers' palms are calloused handling cash.

Even the beggars' receipts have jumped since they started playing "America" on their mouth-organs.

On Sunday morning, May 27, 1917, at 8:30, a beautiful and simple ceremony took place at the Presbyterian church, when Hallie Irene Adler became the bride of Samuel Lowell Williamson, Rev. G. L. Clark officiating.

The church was fragrant with apple and cherry blossoms and syringa. Bouquets of carnation and rosebuds helped to carry out a color scheme of pink and white. The solo "Because" was sung by Miss Lena Moss.

The bride was daintily gowned in white crepe de chine with trimmings of silver lace. She wore a veil and carried pink and white carnations. Only relatives witnessed the ceremony and the couple was unattended. The bride and groom left immediately, going as far as Union in an automobile where they took the train for their new home on Dailey Creek in Baker county. The bride is a graduate of the San Jose State Normal and has taught in the La Grande public schools for the past few years.

The groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Williamson. He received his education in the University of Oregon and the Utah Agricultural college. He has very successfully served as county fire warden for the past three years.

The Neighborhood club held its last meeting for the year on Tuesday, May 29. It was strictly a business meeting and annual election of officers. Several important matters were brought up and discussed.

All chairmen of committees made complete reports of their work for the year.

The officers elected for next year's work are as follows:

President, Mrs. O. E. Silverthorn; first vice president, Miss Anson; second vice president, Mrs. Chester Newlin; treasurer, Mrs. Wade; recording secretary, Mrs. C. Eberhard; corresponding secretary, Miss Anderson.

A rising vote of thanks was extended by the club to Mrs. Logan for her efficient work and unceasing efforts to make the year's work of the club so successful.

As retiring president Mrs. Logan gave an enthusiastic talk as to what she aimed to accomplish and the end to which she worked and concluded by reading "A Club Woman's Creed" which had been her slogan for the year.
