Sessue Hayakawa

Lasky-Paramount

AT THE ARCADE THEATRE TODAY AND TOMORROW.

ARCADE

SESSUE HAYAKAWA AT THE ARCADE TODAY AND TOMORROW

Sessue Hayakawa, the noted Japanese actor, will be seen in one of the most unusual photodramatic productions ever presented on the screen, namely a screen adaptation of Robert Louis Stevenson's famous Hawaiian story, "The Bottle Imp," which will be seen at the Arcade today and tomorrow. This thrilling drama was adapted for the screen by Charles Maigne, and produced under the direction of Marshall Neilan.

Mr. Hayakawa has been seen as a Japanese, Chinese and Hindu but this is the first time he has ever appeared as a Hawaiian and in the role of the poor fisherman he plays one of the most unusual and best characterizations of his career.

The story of "The Bottle Imp" has to do with the adventures of a poor fisherman, Lopaka, who seeks a girl of royal blood as his wife. The Bottle grants every wish but yet has a terrible menace. The entire story is filled with unusual and startling incidents. The majority of the scenes were taken in the same localities about which the story was laid, the Lasky company sending the star and his company to Hawaii for that purpose.

Mr. Hayakawa's leading woman, Lehua Waiyahu, is a descendant of Queen Liliuokalani and is one of the most talented amateur actresses on the island. Many of the scenes are filmed on the famous Hawaiian estate.

Mr. Hayakawa had a thrilling battle on the top of a cliff and falls into the water and continues the conflict under its surface, which was easily photographed in the clear Hawaiian waters.

The company secured the volcanic scenes by descending deep into the crater of Kilauea, a volcano, and were nearly overcome by the sulphuric gases.

With the exception of Guy Oliver who plays the role of the drunken sailor, the entire company is composed of either Japanese or Hawaiian players. The story is one of the most unusual the Lasky-Paramount company has ever offered.

Whooping Cough.

In this disease it is important that the cough be kept loose and expectoration easy, which can be done by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. P. H. Martin, Peru, Ind., writes, "My two daughters had whooping cough. I gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it worked like a charm."—Adv.

Fraternal Celebration Held.

Portland, Ore., June 4.—(United Press)—Head Consul I. I. Boak, of the Woodmen of the World, also president of the National Fraternal Congress, was the speaker of the day at a big fraternal and patriotic celebration here yesterday. Baseball, a lunch furnished by the women, addresses, songs and a parade of baseball players filled out the day's program.

Never Neglect a Cold.

A chill after bathing, cooling off suddenly after exercise and drafts, give the cold germs a foot-hold that may lead to something worse. Safety requires early treatment. Keep Dr. King's New Discovery on hand. This pleasant balsam remedy allays inflammation, soothes the cough and repairs the tissues. Better be safe than sorry. Break up the cold with Dr. King's New Discovery before it is too late. At your druggist, 50c. $1.00.—Adv.

CONFEDERATES INVADE

WASHINGTON PLAYING 'DIXIE' Washington, June 4.—(United Press)—Remnants of the armies of Lee and Jackson marched into Washington today, playing "Dixie" and sounding the rebel yell. And the confederate veterans with enthusiasm. Thousands of old soldiers attended the twenty-seventh annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans and its affiliated organizations. The great plaza fronting the Union depot was converted into a tented field, where many of the veterans stopped. This is the first reunion to be held out of Dixie. The real celebration will get under way tomorrow.

Has a Good Opinion of Chamberlain's Tablets.

"Chamberlain's Tablets are a wonder. I never sold anything that beat them," writes F. B. Treassey, Richmond, Ky. When troubled with indigestion or constipation give them a trial.—Adv.

Women Learn to Farm.

Washington, June 4.—(United Press)—Women who want to farm and thus help Uncle Sam feed the world began studying agriculture today at the Maryland Agricultural College here. Acting on the plea of Mrs. Flora Thompson, president of the Housekeeper's Alliance of Washington, President Patterson of the college opened the course to women today. Mrs. Thompson told Dr. Patterson that scarcity of farm labor last summer caused prices to soar here. She asked that women be properly trained for farm work so that when they are called they will be prepared.

This Satisfies Removes Worms.

Worms are a common disease of children and every mother should know their symptoms. Sallow complexion with dark circles under eyes, irregular bowel movement with stomach hard or swollen, grinding teeth or itching may mean that Kickapoo Worm Killer is needed at once. It is a mildly laxative remedy in candy tablet form that children like. Kills and removes the worms and lets the child grow strong and healthy. At druggists, 25c.—Adv.

Elks Meet at New York.

Utica, N. Y., June 4.—Elks from 67 lodges in New York today attended the opening session of the B. P. O. E. annual state convention here. Many delegations brought bands, and the patriotic spirit was "whooped up" with the appropriate melody from the start. After a business meeting, the Elks were entertained by children's exercises at the Masonic Home. The convention lasts three days.

Cholera Morbus.

This is a very painful and dangerous disease. In almost every neighborhood someone has died from it before medicine could be obtained or a physician summoned. The right way is to have a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house so as to be prepared for it. Mrs. Charles Enyeart, Huntington, Ind., writes: "During the summer of 1911 two of my children were taken sick with cholera morbus. I used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and it gave them immediate relief."—Adv.

ALSACE LORRAINE SOLDIERS NOT TRUSTED BY GERMANS

BY HENRY WOOD.

(United Press Correspondent.) With the French Armies, June 2.—German prisoners declare the inhabitants of Alsace and Lorraine who are enrolled by force in the German army are treated with the utmost suspicion and severity, especially on the western front. They are kept under strict surveillance and for the most part employed behind the lines as it is feared they would desert if sent to the front trenches. The Alsatian soldiers as well as those from Lorraine are only granted leaves of absence to visit their homes after a very strict investigation of their sentiments as regards France. As fast as possible these soldiers are being withdrawn from the French front and sent to the Russian front. One German prisoner recently states that while he was at Hildesheim he saw 70 Lorraine soldiers brought in in closed wagons and under armed escorts. They had belonged to the 231st German regiment of Reserves then stationed at Vitry-les-Reims but had been withdrawn as the result of constant desertions amongst their comrades from Alsace and Lorraine.

Sour Stomach.

This is a mild form of indigestion. It is usually brought on by eating too rapidly or too much, or of food not suited to your digestive organs. If you will eat slowly, masticate your food thoroughly, eat but little meat and none at all for supper, you will more than likely avoid the sour stomach without taking any medicine whatever. When you have sour stomach take one of Chamberlain's Tablets to aid digestion.—Adv.

In Jail on Non-Support Charge Pleads Exemption on Support Grounds.

Portland, Ore., June 4.—(United Press)—Although convicted and serving time in the city jail on a charge of non-support today, one young inmate of the city bastille pleaded exemption on the grounds that he had a wife and family to support when the prisoners were registered.

Inspiration Miscellany

"You may be whatever you resolve to be."

That was the motto of "Stonewall" Jackson, who died a lieutenant general at thirty-nine. The meteoric soldier found that sticking everlastingly at it was what put the solve in resolve.

"Stonewall's" maxim means that you can do what you try to do if you try hard enough. M. Favre found that out forty years ago, when against obstacles supreme and penalties of $1,000 a day for failure, he pierced the St. Gothard tunnel through the Alps.

That stupendous work cost eight times the original estimates of $10,000,000, but it was done and done to the everlasting glory of human pluck.

Another case of doing what you resolve to do is "Flagler's folly." This is the only marine railroad on earth, and it joins the mainland of Florida to Key West.

"It will ruin you." "It won't pay." "Only an old man's dream." "It violates all the rules of good railroad-ing."

These are samples of what Henry M. Flagler's engineers told the old Standard Oil millionaire when he announced his intention of building that road.

"Anyhow, I shall build it," was Flagler's final order, and he did build it. Railroaders laughed, and his family saw visions of a wasted fortune. But what is the result?

Why, "Flagler's folly" cannot handle the Cuban business which northern railroads are sending it. That picturesque salt water line is one of the best paying properties this partner of J. D. Rockefeller ever owned.

Moral? Why, you may do whatever you resolve to do.—Girard in Philadelphia Ledger.

The Affections.

Young men and women sometimes assert flippantly that to deceive or play with the feelings of others is fair enough and does no special harm. Whether it vitally injures a person's life to have his or her affections trifled with may be a question. But there is no question whatever as to the effect upon the trifle. "There is no playing fast or loose with truth in any game without growing the worse for it."—Charles Dickens.

ALLOWING FOR SHRINKAGE.

My chum was an apprentice in the pattern shop. Sometimes I ate my lunch with him, and then together we roamed about the shop, studying the new machines as well as the old ones. But one of the things that strongly impressed me was his own set of "shrinkage" rules. I discovered for the first time that every pattern was made larger than the cast was intended to be, as when the pattern was put into the sand, and the mold was cast, the casting came out smaller than the pattern, because of the shrinkage of the cooling metal. For cast iron the rule was made an eighth of an inch larger to the foot; for brass, three-sixteenths, and for steel, a quarter of an inch.

That pattern maker's shrinkage rule taught me that if my life was to square itself with the plans laid out for me by God, so that it would harmonize and fit in with other lives and plans, my ideal as to what I should be and do must be higher and better than the average, for those ideals would suffer grievously when transmuted into practical everyday living. If my ideals were higher than the average perhaps I would make a pretty good, ordinary sort of a fellow.—Christian Herald.

Temper.

A great source of cruelty is temper. When it is considered what a vast sum of misery temper causes in the world, how many homes are darkened and how many hearts are saddened by it; when we remember that its persecutions have not even the purifying consequences of most other calamities, inasmuch as its effects upon its innocent victims are rather cankerous than medicinal; when we call to mind that a bright face and a bright disposition are like sunshine in a house and a gloomy, lowering countenance as depressing as an arctic night, we must acknowledge that temper itself is only another form of cruelty and a very bad form too.

The Real Life.

The mere hope of years is not life. To eat and drink and play and sleep, to be exposed to darkness and to light, to pace round in the mill of habit and to turn thought into an instrument of trade—this is not real life. Knowledge, truth, love, beauty, goodness, alone can give true vitality to the mechanism of existence.

PUSH.

Sometimes we're apt to stand and knock. When a little push instead Would open up a vista new And we would so be led To see things as they really are And change our point of view From one of shallow prejudice And find some work to do. The pushing is what really counts To help us on, my friend, While no amount of knocking here Will help us gain our end.—Philadelphia Ledger.
