Company M Benefit a Success.

Company M had a fine audience at the Arcade Theatre last night for their military vaudeville show. After the film, the Company M quartet sang several numbers. Two local boys, "fly weights", introduced by Mr. Emahiser as "Biff" and "Swat" put on a boxing match that was a scream and got the laughs. Then Alfred and Zinn did a musical number and dialogue that went over well. This was one of the best numbers on the program. Hendricks and Eckerlin, 185 pound boxers, put on a lively exhibition, boxing three fast rounds to a draw. Pike and Lawson wrestled a clever match, Lawson winning both falls. This was a hard fought, interesting contest. Davis and Rowin boxed three two-minute rounds. Davis showed considerable class; the bout was called a draw. The climax of the evening came when Jack O'Neil, the local champion, wrestled three of the best wrestlers of the company, defeating the three in about fifteen minutes. The proceeds went to the Company M fund; the public got a good show for their money.

Young Men in Navy.

J. L. Cline received a card from his son, Douglas, who joined the navy recently with Vinton Forbes, both of this city, stating they had passed all examinations with a high percentage. These two young men were among the finest yet to be sent out of our city. Vinton Forbes was a member of this year's graduation class in the high school. Douglas Kline was well known among all, having worked in the Putman, Silverthorn drug stores and at one time with the Western Union. It has been said by the recruiting officers that these two boys were among the best specimens of manhood for their ages yet to enlist from this community.

see. The well drilled young men of Company M marching in straight ranks, the local Honor Guard girls in their neat white uniforms and white caps, the newly formed hospital corps of the best of La Grande's young men and last but not least the flower of the community's men, those who registered, and voiced one sentiment that young America was behind President Wilson, ten million strong." Union made a good appearance in the parade yesterday and was well represented by their brass band, stock show boosters and citizens here to view the program of the day. Disbanding at the Fair Grounds the audience was favored by selections by the La Grande Elks' band, and by the Union brass band. The afternoon program began with a patriotic introductory address by Chairman Geo. T. Cochran who with a few well chosen remarks expressed his patriotic sentiment. He then introduced Hon. J. A. Burleigh, prominent attorney of Enterprise, who gave the main address of the day in which the patriotism of the speaker who has two sons in the service of the colors was predominating. In part Mr. Burleigh said:

"This government represents the highest and best in human government and is the product of years of labor and sacrifice.

"Between the government and the citizen there is a solemn compact, the government agreeing to provide protection to the citizen in his personal and property rights, and the citizen promising faithful fealty and loyalty to the government by obedience to law, payment of taxes, to carry out the purpose and efficiency of the government, and to perform military service in behalf of the government and in great crises to the extent of giving his life in service of the nation.

"The present great crisis is proving the test of American citizenship.

"Those of today who are enjoying the benefits and blessings of this government are the heirs and trustees of a great heritage, and are pledged to the performance of the duty and obligation of maintaining the efficiency of the government and giving it to future ages unscathed and uncorrupted by any act or omission on the part of the citizen.

"This present great crisis was forced upon us by the arbitrary and tyrannical acts of the military power of Germany in violation of American rights—driving our commerce from the high seas and murdering our citizens upon the highways of the world.

"In this great conflict and national crisis with the world's greatest military power the men of military age enjoy the highest privilege known to American citizenship—giving their services and lives in support of the sacred principles of liberty, freedom and justice.

"Treason against the United States consists of levying war against them, or adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort.

"The man of military age who neglects or refuses to comply with the law requiring registration for military duty is violating his oath of allegiance and is not keeping his pledge of citizenship; and the man or woman who advises the young men to refuse to submit to the registration law and to perform military duty is a traitor to his government and should receive a traitor's reward.

"The young man who is qualified for military duty and does not enlist; the man or woman who is able to purchase a Liberty Bond and does not do so; the man or woman who does not aid in the Red Cross Work and the Y. M. C. A. work is unfaithful to the duties of citizenship and by neglect and indifference is giving aid and comfort to the enemies of the American government. No one has done his duty in this great conflict until he has done all within his power to bring this war to a speedy and successful termination.

"One may prove untrue to his government by acts of omission as effectively as by acts of commission and he who fails in the performance of a duty or the exercise of privilege and thereby renders inefficient or less effective the fighting force of the nation is rendering assistance to the enemy and proving his infidelity to his government.

"It is the duty of the American people, one hundred million strong, to get under the burden of this great conflict and battle for the right until victory is assured and until the democracy of the United States becomes the democracy of the world, and the flag of freedom, equality and justice be unfurled to the breeze in every land and German militarism be utterly destroyed."

Following Mr. Burleigh's address Captain Neer put the boys of Company M through the spectacular maneuvers consisting of close order drill, guard mount, silent drill and advance of attack. The drills were well executed and the boys won hearty applause and a drape from the spectators.

The maneuvers ended with a thrilling charge with fixed bayonets upon the grandstand.

Following the maneuvers three local boys staged a side car motorcycle race which added to the excitement of the day. The riders were J. F. Priest, "Red" Williams and "Hank" Holmes. The race was won by Red Williams making three miles in 4:45; second, J. F. Priest in 5 minutes.

COURSE IN TESTING AND GRAIN GRADING.

For Farmers, Warehousemen, Elevators, Millers, and Others at O. A. C. June 7-13.

Grain grading, testing and inspection will be given six solid days of lecture and laboratory work at the Oregon Agricultural College, June 7 to 13 inclusive. The work will be of such a character as to familiarize grain men with the variety characteristics of the principal grains of the Pacific Northwest, and with the grain grades requirements of the new grading law. Apparatus will be provided and each student will have an opportunity to make standard weight per bushel determinations, standard moisture tests on wheat, corn and other cereals, hardness test, gluten tests, both wet and dry gluten purity tests, smut tests, and washing tests. The laboratory work will not only familiarize the student with the grade requirements, but will give him actual experience with the manipulation of the apparatus. Lectures will be given on the grades and on the market characteristics of the varieties, handling of grain in bulk, sampling of grain for the making of tests, uses for different kinds of grain, movements of grain, the future of the grain industry, and other phases of the grain trade will be discussed, both from the educational and practical standpoints. Inasmuch as the new official Federal grain standards for what have just been issued, and the grades for corn were issued some time ago, and the Oregon legislature has adopted the Federal grades as far as they apply to State conditions, this course will be of great advantage to all who are interested in the production or marketing of grain. It will also demonstrate the importance of uniform Federal grades for the United States.

Persons desiring to take advantage of the course should write to the Oregon Agricultural College for information so a reservation for a place in the course may be made.—G. R. HYSLOP, Professor of Farm Crops.
