ARCADE

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS AT THE ARCADE SUNDAY IN "MANHATTAN MADNESS."

Steve O'Dare Douglas Fairbanks
The Girl Jewel Carmen
The Butler George Beranger
The Maid Ruth Darling
Count Marinoff Eugene Ormonde
The Villain Macey Harlan
Jack Osborne W. P. Richmond
Steve O'Dare, a rich young man, who has lived for some years on his Nevada ranch and has become a full-fledged "buckaroo," returns to New York for a visit. Hopping off the cattle train, on which he has ridden East with a bunch of his cowboys and a load of stock, he jumps into his waiting automobile and speeds to the University club, of which he is a member. There follows a week of New York gaiety with his club companions, but Steve fails to get any thrills out of the pleasures of the Great White Way, and society bores him to extinction. He tells the boys that there isn't a thrill in Manhattan.

One of the men at the table offers to bet him $5,000 that if he will stay in New York a week he will get the thrill of his life. Steve takes the bet. Remembering that he has sold stock to Count Marinoff he wonders whether it might not be possible for him to meet the beautiful ward. The problem is solved when the Count calls Steve up and asks him to come to his home, which he has leased in the suburbs, to talk about further purchases. Steve goes and meets the ward.

Soon a note passed to Steve by the girl's maid tells him that the girl is in great peril and wants him to help her. The Count being called away, the maid directs Steve to go up to the second floor. Ascending the stairs, he drops through a trap door on the landing and is bound and gagged by the Count's butler in a closet under the stairs, but the maid releases him and he gets to a telephone, where he calls up the boys at the club.

After finally knocking the villain cold, Steve searches for the girl but cannot find her.

It is then explained to Steve by his friend with whom he made the bet that he had been given the promised thrill, all the members of the party, except the clubmen, being members of the theatrical profession, especially engaged for the doings. Just then there arrive four of Steve's cowboys, for whom he telephoned at the same time that he telephoned the club. With their aid Steve quickly turns the tables on the jokers.

MARY PICKFORD AT ARCADE MONDAY

As an attraction extraordinary the Arcade theatre, commencing Monday will present Mary Pickford in a new Artercraft picture, "A Romance of the Redwoods," staged under the personal direction of Cecil B. DeMille.

A western subject of full-blooded, dramatic action, the new Pickford vehicle presents "Little Mary" in a role that is entirely different from anything in which she has ever appeared on the screen. The story was written by Mr. De Mille himself in collaboration with Jennie Macpherson and discloses a wealth of typical Pickford incidents of heart appeal. The settings are of the days of '49 during the time of the big gold rush. Mary Pickford, as Jenny Lawrence, a little New England Miss, journeys to the west in search of her only relative, an uncle. Before she is aware of it, she falls in love and as a result, becomes enmeshed in serious complications. Various clever twists to the story afford surprises that add greatly to the general merit of the picture.

"A Romance of the Redwoods" links together the arts of two of the greatest notables in screenland, Mary Pickford and Cecil DeMille. The talents of either one used in connection with the production of a photoplay would mean a subject of unusual merit. The combination of both represents the affiliation of the screen's best artists. Not only is Miss Pickford's wonderful charm included to advantage in her new picture but a dramatic finesse such as she has never before displayed on either stage or screen is also apparent. In addition to this remarkable Pickford characterization there is presented the art of De Mille, creator of "Joan the Woman," the famous screen spectacle, and other cinema triumphs. Staged at the new Lasky studios in California, the production offers various innovations in motion picture technique that are only possible as a result of the novel installments of this model plant, under the supervision of Mr. De Mille. Supporting the star is an exceptional cast including Elliott Dexter, Charles Ogle, Tully Marshall, Raymond Hatton and Winter Hall.

ANNOYING KIDNEY ILLS.

Make Life Miserable for Many La Grande People.

There's nothing more annoying than the kidney weakness or inability to properly control the kidney secretions. Night and day alike, the sufferer is tormented and what with the burning and scalding, the attendant backache, headache and dizziness, life is indeed, a burden. Doan's Kidney Pills have given peace and comfort to many La Grande people. Profit by this La Grande resident's experience. Mrs. E. I. Shepherd, 104 Spruce St., La Grande, says: "I couldn't begin to speak too highly of Doan's Kidney Pills, for I have never found anything their equal whenever I have had occasion to take a kidney medicine. Just as soon as I notice my kidneys are not acting as they should and my back feel weak, I take a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieve the trouble."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Shepherd had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

ALIEN ENEMY LAW EFFECTIVE TODAY

Portland, Ore., June 9.—Alien enemies will be subject to arrest and imprisonment after today if they go within half a mile of a government shipyard, armory, arsenal, fort or other military reservation unless they have special permits. In Portland and many other northwest towns the armories are near the heart of the city, and alien enemies without permits will be violating the president's proclamation and subject to arrest if they go through the business district of the town. This barred zone in Portland includes about 3-4 of the business section.
