THE STORY OF HALIFAX, THE SOLDIER TOWN THAT WAS RECRUITED.

Water Carnival
Halifax Harbor
Old Fortifications
In these days when everybody talks recruiting, from Roosevelt to Billy Sunday, it's interesting to realize that not only are armies and navies and churches filled by discreet advertising, but there was once a town that was supplied with settlers in the same up-to-date way.
The traveller to Liverpool saves a whole day by going to Halifax instead of New York. Therefore the tidy little capital of Nova Scotia is an asset in war time, considering the way the U-boats sing the Hymn of Hate. Considering also that Canada is supplying 500,000 of the very best troops our Allies have.
And Halifax was the town that was recruited.
This is the story. The Earl of Halifax, head of the Lords Commissioners of Trade and Commerce in 1749, received a request from Boston that a fortified settlement be placed somewhere between it and the French at Quebec who had an uncomfortable habit of raiding southward.
The Earl sized up the situation, anticipated by 150 years the method of the Beer that Made Milwaukee Famous and the Car that Saved Hy. Ford from Oblivion—and advertised.
For two months London newspapers carried ads to the effect that any private of any regiment disbanded since the recent French wars, would receive free passage, free grant of land of fifty acres, freedom from taxes for ten years, free arms, agricultural, fishing and building implements and free food for twelve months. To any officer above the rank of captain, the land granted swelled to 600 acres, with additional grants for every member of his aristocratic family that he could induce to follow him.
Two thousand five hundred and seventy-six adventurers signed on. The second contingent of settlers were also ex-soldiers, and, strange as it seems, considering the war news of today, they were Germans—Hessians and Brunswickers from George H.'s mercenaries.
Could Bernstorff have left his boat when the Canadian authorities detained him at Halifax recently he would undoubtedly have looked up some of their descendants—loyal

Put Tom Thumb Nasturtiums in Your Last-Minute Garden.

In the June Woman's Home Companion Grace Tabor says: "Tom Thumb nasturtiums are charming on either side of a long walk, and in addition to their decorative foliage and bright colors provide an abundance of flowers for cutting. The more you cut them, you know, the more freely they bloom."

LA GRANDE DAY AT THE STOCK SHOW

The Commercial Club would like all business houses to close on Thursday noon. That a large delegation from this city may attend the stock show at Union, as this day is set aside as La Grande Day, and the local lodge of Elks is going to put on their flag exercises. Special train has been provided for the occasion. Turn out and make it a big day.

FRED. J. HOLMES, Pres. Commercial Club. BE OPTIMISTIC.

Whenever I have an opportunity to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, I do." Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Couch had. Britishers now. Perhaps he might even have topped off his visit by taking the Dominion Atlantic Railway line to the township of Clements in the beautiful apple blossomed Annapolis Valley, between old Port Royal and Digby, where, at the close of the Revolutionary War, German settlers from the United States were placed on farms in two parallel lines, still known respectively as the Waldeck and the Hessian Line.
