Doney Bush, Tiger Shortstop

Among the shortstops of the American league none has a better record for reaching first base than Owen (Doney) Bush of the Detroit team. Although not a heavy batter—none of the smart shortstops of the American league are Never Too Late to Start Treatment for Infantile Paralysis.

In the June Woman's Home Companion Dr. Roger H. Dennett has an excellent article on infantile paralysis, the scourge that so many physicians fear will return with the warm weather. Among other things Doctor Dennett says:

"It is impossible to tell, when the child is first taken with the disease, what the eventual outcome is to be. Even those who are most completely paralyzed at the start occasionally become entirely well; whereas, paralysis that is very slight in the beginning may show no later improvement, even with the most faithful treatment. It is never too late, however, to start some sort of treatment, even for the little ones who have had their infantile paralysis for a long while, and who have not had the advantage of any special treatment afterward. One never knows how much can be done until one has tried, and it is only fair, at any stage of the paralysis, to give the child the benefit of science, no matter how discouraging the outlook may seem."

TODAY'S WAR RECIPE.

(From Britain's official win-the-war cook-book.)

Bacon Soup—One onion, two table-spoonfuls of maize rice or barley flour, three quarters of a teacupful of rice, half a pint of milk, two carrots, table-spoonful margarine or dripping, pint and a half of water in which bacon has been boiled. Fry the onion (chopped small) in the fat, stir in the flour smoothly, and add gradually enough cold milk to form a smooth paste. Add the rest of the milk and a pint of the bacon water. Wash the rice. Scrape the carrots and cut them into long, thin shreds. Boil the rice and carrots in the remaining bacon water, adding more water if necessary. When these are done, do not strain off the water in which they have been boiled, but add the entire contents of the saucepan to the rest of the soup. Simmer for ten minutes or longer, stirring occasionally.

so considered—Bush is a marvel in getting on the initial sack. Jennings, disgruntled over the poor showing of his Tigers, displaced Bush from the top of the batting order, which he had held since joining the team. Hughey, however, soon changed his mind, and Bush is again lead off man. If the rest of the Detroit team was playing as well as Bush the Detroitists would be higher up in the standing of the clubs.

Jack Murray Released.

Outfielder Jack Murray has been unconditionally released by the New York Giants under the "ten years' service" rule, which says that a major league player of ten years' experience cannot be sent to the minor leagues without his consent. This is the second time that Murray has been released by the Giants under the same rule. After he got his first release from New York Murray signed with the Cubs. Later he was released to Toronto of the International league, where he played brilliant ball. Murray secured his unconditional release from Toronto last winter, presumably to accept the management of a minor league club, but later signed with the Giants.

Brainard a Slugger.

Fred Brainard, who was tried out at third base by McGraw last season, bids fair to be the leading long distance hitter of the International league this season. Brainard now is a member of the Montreal club, playing at second base.

Agriographs

A good form of home garden is the home garden.

Plowing an acre of land in four minutes seems like a dream, but it has been done with three tractors hitched to fifty-four plows.

Consuming 3,500 plant lice in forty minutes may not be a record performance for a bird, but the yellow warbler that did it is worth protecting.

"The home garden coupled with the smoke house will beat a grocery store when it comes to furnishing a good farm meal," says the Mississippi A. and M. college.

In checking up the wastes remember the poultry parasites. Lice and mites keep many a pound of meat and many an egg out of production. Put crude oil in the poultry house crevices and around the roosts and whitewash the whole place.

LITTLENES OF MAN.

To the minnow every cranny and pebble and quality and accident of its little native creek may have become familiar, but does the minnow understand the ocean tides and periodic currents, the trade winds, monsoons and moon's eclipses, by all of which the condition of its little creek is regulated and may from time to time, unmiraculously enough, be quite upset and reversed? Such a minnow is man—his creek this planet earth, his ocean the immeasurable all, his monsoons and periodic currents the mysterious course of providence through aeons of aeons.—Carlyle.

MUSIC.

When I hear music I fear no danger, I am invulnerable, I see no foe, I am related to the earliest times and to the latest.—Thoreau.

Just as gymnastic exercise is necessary to keep the body healthy, so is musical exercise necessary to keep the soul healthy. The proper nourishment of the intellect and passions can no more take place without music than the proper functions of the stomach and the blood without exercise.—Plato.

Suggestions on Care Of Eyebrows and Teeth

To Make Eyebrows Grow.—There is nothing better than pure white vaseline for promoting the growth of the eyelashes and eyebrows, says the Farm and Fireside. Apply it with a small brush, being careful not to get it into the eyes, and brush the eyebrows vigorously every day to promote circulation and stimulate the growth of hair. It is best to apply the vaseline at night and wash it off in the morning.

Care of the Teeth.—Once a day is not often enough to brush your teeth. It must be done three times a day to keep the teeth in good condition. However, no matter how often one brushes the teeth or how clean they appear to be, it is well to visit a dentist once or twice a year and have them thoroughly cleaned.

Treatment For Blackheads.—For blackheads wash the face thoroughly every night, using first hot then cold water. The hot water will soften the black part, which is nothing more than an accumulation of dust which has settled on the tops of the little pores of the skin. These pores have become choked with perspiration, and you must massage your face when washing so that this accumulation is loosened, and blood from underneath the surface will force it out with your assistance from the outside. Twice a week apply a good cold cream.

To Abolish Pimples.—Pimples are usually the result of improper eating and not enough exercise and sleep. Eat simple food, lots of milk and eggs, fruit and fresh vegetables, see that you are not constipated, get eight hours of sleep daily and take exercise frequently in the open air.

To Wash Blankets.

Put a pint of household ammonia and a pint of warm water in a tub, lay the blanket in and pour a little warm water over it—just enough to wet the top folds. Cover closely and allow the blanket to stand for a few moments, that the fumes arising from the ammonia may loosen the dirt, then wash and dry it in the ordinary way in water of the same temperature as the first used. Pass the blanket lightly through the wringer and hang it out to dry.—Farm Journal.

KEEP CLIMBING.

Although your chance in life seems small, Rough the path and dark. Don't worry that you're going to fall. But get a firmer start.

Slowly trudge on toward the goal, Keep headed the right way, Remember that you can never win Life's battle in a day.

Like climbing up a ladder, Ascending step by step, Keep your aim the highest, Lest your mission you forget.

When at last the top is gained Thank God the task is done; Look back upon the steps you've climbed, The battle nobly won.—James Alwyn Lathrop in Milwaukee Sentinel.

Keep Your Eye on the Present.

Finish every day and be done with it. You have done what you could. Some blunders and absurdities, no doubt, crept in. Forget them as soon as you can. Tomorrow is a new day, begin it well and serenely and with too high a spirit to be cumbered with your old nonsense. Today all is good and fair. It is too dear with its hopes and invitations to waste a moment on the yesterdays.—Emerson.

Cheerfulness.

Cultivate a cheerful disposition. If a person determines early in life that a cheerful disposition is worth having and strives to obtain it and does so that person is a success in a fine sense of the word. Of course comparatively few men and women ever stop to think about success in this form, but if they will acquire the habit I will guarantee a larger measure of satisfaction than they may have met with before.—Leigh Mitchell Hodges.

Use Your Own Energy

Most people waste a large amount of power through misapplying their own energy. Perhaps more power is lost through lack of direction, through lax, negative habits of thought and action, which lead to a life of general drifting than in any other way. Then power leaks out through worry, fear, envy and mental friction. You cannot conserve power and have plenty for all legitimate purposes if you are constantly fighting something. The over-indulgence of the emotions will more quickly dissipate power than anything else.

To allow the thought to dwell continuously on action which is inexpedient, or which for any reason one's judgment condemns is also the source of a great deal of power waste. Do not let your thoughts and your acts run contrary to each other. Put your will on the side of what you decide to do.—Nautilus.

Don't Mope.

Do you allow yourself to become absentminded, wrapped up in a brown study? Look about you. Speak to those you have been in the habit of ignoring. Make friends with every one. Strive to touch life everywhere you can. You will accomplish your tasks better by so doing than by going forward blindly absorbed in meditation or engrossed by internal musings.

LA GRANDE ASTONISHED BY MERCHANT'S STORY.

A merchant relates the following: "For years I could not sleep without turning every hour. Whatever I ate caused gas and sourness. Also had stomach catarrh. One spoonful buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka relieved me instantly." Because Adler-i-ka flushes the entire alimentary tract it relieves any case constipation, sour stomach or gas and prevents appendicitis. It has quickest action of anything we ever sold.—Putnam Drug Store.—Adv
