

"WHAT makes the OWL so good?" a smoker asks.

There are several reasons. But first of all comes the million dollar supply of mellowing leaf that is always in reserve for the OWL.

That "surefies" the OWL'S mellow flavor. All the equipment and experience of the OWL factories go to bring out that fine flavor in the best way, in every OWL you buy.

THE FORUM

The Meaning of "Baptism."
La Grande, July 22.—(To the Editor of the Observer)—It was not my intention to engage in a controversy over the word "baptizo." I merely endeavored to point out, that the unqualified assertion that this word never means other than immersion, is not correct. I stand by my former letter, which Mr. Ford has not upset though he quotes extensively to prove something which I never disputed. I still maintain that there are instances in the Bible where "baptizo" implies pouring, and that this word is used in a general technical sense to include all ceremonial lustrations whether by immersion, pouring or sprinkling. As to early Christian testimony, outside of scripture, I mentioned "The Teaching of the Twelve Apostles," which is the earliest of all Christian manuscripts extant. Its date being generally assigned to A. D. 120. This gives pouring as a permissible mode of baptism, if immersion is not practicable. We do not know its author, but he sets down what is the teaching

Jiffy-Jell
The Supreme Dessert

Mint Flavor
For Lamb and All Cold Meats

A flavor made from mint leaves, and sealed in a separate vial. Simply add boiling water to the Jiffy-Jell powder, then add the mint flavor from the vial. Thus you make in a moment this delightful garnish jell.

Lime Flavor
For Salad Jell—For Relishes

This lime-juice flavor, sealed in a vial, is made direct from the lime fruit. It is tart and zesty and green. Use as a garnish or a relish. Or mix your salads into the Jiffy-Jell, when partly cool, and let the combination form a jell.

Jiffy Mint Sauce
For Lamb and Other Roasts

Dissolve one package of Mint Jiffy-Jell in one cup of boiling water. Add the mint flavor from the vial, then a cup of strained liquid from the pan in which roast is cooked. Serve hot.

Pineapple—The Favorite Fruit Flavor

True pineapple flavor, made from pineapple juice, was never before possible in a quick gelatine dessert. You will find it in Jiffy-Jell, sealed in a vial. Add it when the jell has partly cooled, and you will get the natural fruit flavor.

of the Apostles concerning certain matters, not his own opinions. As the apostolic tradition was still fresh at that date, it is not likely he would try to foist something which had not apostolic authority. I notice that my Baptist brethren try to meet his testimony by the method known in court as abusing the opposing counsel. They discredit the writer and his work.

As to infant baptism, I still maintain that it was practised from the very beginning when whole households were baptized. It is most likely that if I thought of baptism as Bro. Ford probably does, I would not see any necessity for children to be baptized. But according to the teaching I have received, baptism as a life giving sacrament, is as necessary to the child as to the adult. I do not wish to discuss the theological aspect of this sacrament in a newspaper. I will only say that if I had not been baptized as an infant and thus made "a member of Christ, the child of God and an inheritor of the kingdom of heaven," I would not be where I am today, but long ago have been submerged in the mire of sensuality and vice.

I have read the objections of those opposed to infant baptism and they are all to my mind excessively superficial or else their view of baptism is a very limited one.

As to how the requirements of faith and repentance are fulfilled in the case of infants, it would take too long to show. But they are fulfilled and that in accordance with recognized principles governing a contract or covenant with minors. And let me add, that if this can not be done for infants then there can be no vicarious atonement for adults. The principle which justifies the latter being effective for an adult, justifies the vicarious pledge of repentance and faith for an infant in baptism.

I am off to the east. This is my last word.

Picked Up By The Stroller

I strolled into Arch Bacon's and bought a cigar and the boys told me he had all his front teeth pulled out. I asked him about it and he didn't answer me. Maybe he thought it was none of my business. Come to think about it, I believe he was right at that.

I strolled into the Observer office and asked the petite bookkeeper if the "wild Animal Editor" was in. She looked at Mr. Leiter and he said: "Speak up, tell the gentleman that you are she."

"I absolutely refuse to be the wild Animal Editor," she said. "You be her yourself, you're wilder than I am." And she grabbed a ledger as if to throw it at him or me.

"I'm wild enough at time to be put in the cage with the lions," he said. "Anyway I'm the friend of the boys and girls, and I'm thinking seriously of going to the circus Tuesday afternoon with the kids."

"No, you're not," said the aforesaid petite bookkeeper. "I'm the wildest and I'm going to be the wild Animal Editor and take Tuesday afternoon off myself and take the kids to the circus and buy 'em pink lemonade and peanuts, see the elephants and sich. You can stay here and get out the paper, and receive the kicks, and answer the 'phone and take in cordwood for subscriptions."

So the momentous question was finally settled.

As I strolled out, the wild Animal Editor looked very peaceful behind the bars of her cage, and she smiled at me and said: "Maybe, if you'll buy the peanuts and lemonade and pay for your own ticket, you can go along."

Sour Stomach.

This is a mild form of indigestion. It is usually brought on by eating too rapidly or too much, or of food not suited to your digestive organs. If you will eat slowly, masticate your food thoroughly, eat but little meat and none at all for supper, you will more than likely avoid the sour stomach without taking any medicine whatever. When you have sour stomach take one of Chamberlain's Tablets to aid digestion.—Adv.
